

Examples

Tony Berber Sardinha
Pontifical Catholic University of São Paulo (PUCSP)

Leticia Gregorio
Pontifical Catholic University of São Paulo (PUCSP)

Version of August 7, 2026 3:46pm -03:00

Contents

1 POS Dim 1	1
2 NEG Dim 1	10
3 POS Dim 2	26
4 NEG Dim 2	42
5 POS Dim 3	51
6 NEG Dim 3	64
7 POS Dim 4	73
8 NEG Dim 4	83
9 POS Dim 5	93
10 NEG Dim 5	103
11 POS Dim 6	113
12 NEG Dim 6	123

1 POS Dim 1

Text Sample 1: POS Dim 1 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t001523_human.txt
so in the end they finally came because it was I reported it within the first week but because huh by the time they actually got round to collecting it it was outside of the first week they had to collect it and then issue a brand new one it was such it took so long but now it works but um things like the Bluetooth setting and stuff don't work for some reason and apparently I 've got it on the wrong setting but I 've got no idea what the right setting is so

Text Sample 2: POS Dim 1 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t001498_human.txt
I know ironic um but yeah I dunno it 's what what I mean the m the main thing is that I think it massively stresses out and I 'm not sure he actually wants to do it or gets much enjoyment from it and I think it 's ruining his life so I figure he shouldn't do it and yeah I think cos he feels it 's a more worthy hobby than or as he doesn't see it as a hobby he sees it as something worthy rather than um being in the orchestra or rowing can you turn it down a tiny bit? I 'm struggling

Text Sample 3: POS Dim 1 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000974_human.txt
the the fact that a teacher a as a teacher you need to be able to lay the foundations of a good class by planning it well and making sure that your resources are quality resources that are going to aid the learning process em and then once you 've got that in place you can then focus on your teaching to help lea um students learn um that what is in front of them or what task that they have been asked to do so you can kind of free up your own time

Text Sample 4: POS Dim 1 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000322_human.txt
and she refused to give up her seat to a white person and I don't think she was abused but I think you know she was certainly shouted at and that was the start when people would then sort of get involved and start having you know um sta started rioting and started protest movements and that was nineteen fifty-nine so that was really late and it wasn't until um JFK um abolished segregation and brought in the Civil Rights Act that um that that sort of thing was sort of made illegal but that wasn't until nineteen sixty-five

Text Sample 5: POS Dim 1 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000348_human.txt
yeah oh I know ridiculous for the greenhouse yeah beetroot 's b I tell you uh you get good ideas going round um garden centres round the um the kitchen gardens you get lots of tips then cos you can see that you can grow beetroots and then in between them you can put a carrot uh you can put something in between them that doesn't need as much space you get loads of good ideas by going round those um the Women 's Institute often do a garden and you get uh you can get ideas for growing all sorts of things

Text Sample 6: POS Dim 1 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000569_human.txt
it could be a game c Or could run off backwards But er there 's some you could probably do something like that um you could do um say talking about sort of fr foe um friend how many people can we get into an area or into a tab onto a table but not up here like low down so could we get everybody standing on a table this size? Well yes could we get everybody standing on the the shorter tables? Possibly not could we get everyone standing in a very small area of masking tape? So you can have in the

Text Sample 7: POS Dim 1 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000020_human.txt

and like we were walking down the street and she 's like okay so now we 're gonna get all of the like the people who are gonna come with us or something and like then I dunno what happened but then all these like girls started coming out of these houses and they were all had like bags and stuff and then we got on this coach and um and then um she w then we were like oh we 're going to New York and we 're gonna stay in this really good place and then my boss was saying like oh should we tell them now about the plan? And I was saying well I think we should I think we should tell them because I think I would wanna know what w what 's gonna happen And the next thing I was like getting off the bus but like the wall was really high it was like a bus that had loads of steps to get off you know?

Text Sample 8: POS Dim 1 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000350_human.txt
it 'd be good yeah yes there are and the the apple trees that gr and the fruit trees that grow along the wall um they 're a very good idea because I mean we 've got these apple trees and they 're very intermittent in what they produce um most of our apples this year are from um were from the tree that 's on the right which is golden delicious but um the quality for for a golden delicious apple it 's not the quality wasn't very good uh but there were hardly any on the um the James Grieves which are good qual when you get those those are superb quality very big um it 's a matter of timing the picking before um before the birds and the s grubs get in it uh and before it falls off but allowing them to ripen I mean we had a superb um crop of apples last year cooking apples last year and we gave loads of them away and uh you had a lot didn't you? Um but um but this year we had hardly any from that tree

Text Sample 9: POS Dim 1 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000007_human.txt
to literally er I mean er I know it 's a little bit hit but it was like almost solsolid coming out and I went to the doctor after so many months and sort of said er s and she went oh yeah so they started doing loads of tests to see what they thought it was and this is when it turned out it was the fibroids but that wasn't what was doing the stomach erm swelling she sai and she thought it was just IBS and it may well 've been just with the stress

Text Sample 10: POS Dim 1 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000001_human.txt
well he 's simply told I need a photo of this so he 'll carry out whatever research he needs to to understand how he 's going to do that with support of a logistics team and contact with scientists erm to get out there erm get the shot get what 's important for the magazine somebody else is writing a story about it they could be working with him they could be independent they could be operating out of a library they could be at a university talking to scientists I don't know erm but it would kind of make sense that somehow the people he 's working with and people who are writing the story

Text Sample 11: POS Dim 1 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000003_human.txt
and also being very efficient and fast and you know managing everything until she came along so she 's taken a real burden of hi of work from him you know

cos she does all of the organisational things for the retreat and she 's really good at dealing with the students like she 's very erm she 's a very compassionate woman but she 's also not worried to discipline people she was a policewoman after all so you know and sometimes that needs to happen and it 's quite delicate inside that environment you know you don't want to create any discordance within people between people and it 's not really appropriate to do so but you do people do have to follow certain rules and stuff so that it works for everyone

Text Sample 12: POS Dim 1 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000037_human.txt
I was thinking about this the other day though like I don't I don't remember the last time me and had a picture taken together or like we haven't had like a lot of times together recently at all like cos she doesn't come out that often with the girls and stuff and then like she doesn't really invite us out or anything with her it 's just so I haven't really done a lot with her recently I think she keeps saying to me that she wants to change this year and like we 're gonna spend more time together and all this kind of stuff so we 'll see we 'll see what happens

Text Sample 13: POS Dim 1 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000036_human.txt
I always find I always find like new jobs or or I wonder if do you wanna do this? or well or I was thinking about this and 's just like stop it and I 'm thinking I 've not like it like since we 've moved in I 've not finished a room so I 've like been kind of like doing like little odd bits here and there and then I 'll start something else and I look around and I think oh yeah I know what I want there but I can't buy that because I 've started on this other room or I wanna do that in there

Text Sample 14: POS Dim 1 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000035_human.txt
it 's also it 's it 's like the silliest little things as well like you know like sometimes you know when you 're in a bad mood? sometimes you just wanna be in a bad mood and when you 're in front of somebody else 's family you can't just be in a shit mood like sometimes I I come home from work and I 'm not necessarily a bitch to but I literally just think I a I just wanna be in a bad mood like just let me be in a bad mood and let me just stew let me just

Text Sample 15: POS Dim 1 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000030_human.txt
no I said to her a few weeks ago me and me and her went to see and and I was like oh erm since you 're not here for my birthday I was thinking maybe we just do like a joint thing together like some time in between our birthday so like I don't know do you fancy doing something like the first weekend in March? and she was like oh I 'm actually not free until my birthday weekend and I was like oh what are you doing? and she 's like oh well obviously we 're away your birthday weekend and we 're actually away the weekend after like same thing like we don't get back till the Sunday I was like oh right okay she was like yeah and and and 's taking us to see his gone his godmother the first weekend in March and I was like oh right and she 's like yeah I was bit annoyed about that like just he just went and booked it and I was like oh right okay so she was like yeah so I 'm only free on my birthday it 's like

Text Sample 16: POS Dim 1 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000026_human.txt
and I think you need to do that for a whole weekend like you can't plan like forty-eight fifty-eight odd hours ' worth of entertainment it 's stupid you might as well say like oh so this morning like erm you can do whatever you like here 's a couple of things you could do in the local area or you can just do whatever you want but like what they 've done is they 've picked the cottage because it 's pretty and they 've not really looked at the location so what they 've done is booked the place and then looked at the location and thought oh

Text Sample 17: POS Dim 1 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000041_human.txt
not at all like the guy I obviously test drove both cars like the whole time we were chatting and we weren't he wasn't he wasn't selling the car to me at all he was literally just like chatting to me and just sort of saying like like you know how do you feel? like what do you like? what do you not like? blah-blah-blah erm and then as we walked in he was like do you have a preference? and I 'm like well I actually think the the Clio 's nicer inside like cos the other one was a five-door as well I was like the three-door actually feels like roomier in front and I 'm not likely to have people in the back very often so like I almost feel like it 's better to have more room for me and like my one passenger than I am likely to have

Text Sample 18: POS Dim 1 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000046_human.txt
erm yeah I think it could be quite good because even though what you are saying is that it is not necessarily I 'm coming to you and with a problem and I need people to crowd to solve it together it could be I am coming here with an experience which I would like to further by sharing my story and people can add to my story by the very nature that they are social that they are social beings and that they will have input to what I am saying at some point

Text Sample 19: POS Dim 1 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000047_human.txt
tur well it turns out a film was done quite a long time ago erm using er it was an Arthur hang on a Sherlock Holmes an Arthur Conan Doyle story erm which featured the Loch Ness monster so there was a sort of robotic model of the Lock Ness monster which they used on in the Loch Ness and then it sank so that 's what they have discovered but they have found so far sunken boats oh and there was a man that tried to do the fastest journey across water and then crashed I think he was killed erm and so they found the thing that he was using on there

Text Sample 20: POS Dim 1 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000053_human.txt
yes erm but so I just don't know we 'll s oh I sort of left it as well the other thing was he said I could fly to Rome but Perugia is nearer only of course that 's a small airport and there are flights from Stansted well I don't want the you know Ryanair of something I don't want to drive down to Stansted in order to fly to Perugia but otherwise he would drive to Rome to pick me up and it 's a something like a hundred and fifty kilometres well I don't really want to land him with doing that now so in er I didn't say much but at the time I was thinking oh that 's making me feel awkward

Text Sample 21: POS Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001703_gpt.txt

Well, in the past, when we 've had shows at the school, I 've taken some of my art along and put it on display. It wasn't really the sort of event where you 'd sell anything, more just an exhibition, so I never made any sales out of it. With this new show they 're planning for next year, I think it 'd be a good idea if you quietly had a word and pushed for them to include things for the women to do as well. If they involve the women properly, you 'll get a lot more support overall, and it 'll make the whole thing work better.

Text Sample 22: POS Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001683_gpt.txt

No, I really don't fancy another ten years of it. It 's actually quite hard being the oldest person in the office, especially when you know there are people there who 'd really like the older ones to pack it in and go. I don't want to hang on until it all feels like a grind. I 'd rather stop when it starts to feel like a trial, when every day 's just the same and I 'm struggling to come up with new ideas, instead of dragging it out just for the sake of it.

Text Sample 23: POS Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001677_gpt.txt

so the idea is that we 'd start by putting out something small and free, like a little mini product, and make that the hook. People can only get it by signing up on the website, so that gives them a reason to go there first. Once that 's going and we 've got a few people on the list, then we put out a couple of YouTube videos. In the videos we 'd link straight back to the site, so anyone watching who 's curious has an easy path to click through. That way you 've got this loop happening : website to free mini product, to videos, then back to the site again, and more people signing up.

Text Sample 24: POS Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001671_gpt.txt

You used to be able to do something called a reverse charge call. You 'd pick up the phone and ring the operator first, and you 'd say that you wanted to reverse the charges. Then the operator would call the person you actually wanted to speak to. They 'd explain that you were on the line and ask if that person was willing to accept the cost of the call. If they agreed, the charges went onto their bill instead of yours, so you could still call even if you 'd run out of money.

Text Sample 25: POS Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001642_gpt.txt

If you think about all the things Mum has to do, you should actually feel really happy that you can help her out with some of it. When you hear the whole list of chores, you might think, " That 's a lot, she 's got loads on her plate, " and that can make you want to step in and do a bit so it 's not all on her. You 're totally capable, and if you can do whatever you can for her, that 's something to feel proud of.

Text Sample 26: POS Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001645_gpt.txt

I just feel that after all these years of supposed sexual liberation and better sex education, young women are still being short-changed. They're missing out on what should be an important and joyful part of life. It seems tied up with a lack of understanding about what healthy sex actually is, and not really knowing their own bodies or what they might want. In that sense, it feels as if sex education has more or less collapsed ; it's not giving girls the tools or confidence they need.

Text Sample 27: POS Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001651_gpt.txt

well over that eighteen months I was back and forth to the doctor, really quite a lot, because this spotting just went on and on and I was also putting on weight. They picked up that I had an underactive thyroid and high blood pressure, so I was diagnosed and treated for those. But all the way through I kept saying, " I'm still bleeding, this spotting is still happening, " and the doctor kept sort of folding it into the thyroid diagnosis, as if that explained it and that was that. So I was going back, saying, " I'm still bleeding, " and they were adjusting the thyroid medication and dealing with the blood pressure, but the bleeding never really stopped. It was persistent, and I kept reporting it. It wasn't like I mentioned it once and then went away ; it was a repeated thing over a long stretch of time, and still it was kind of put down to the thyroid problem. Eventually, after about eighteen months of this, I did finally get referred to a gynaecologist. Once I saw the gynaecologist, they did a very simple procedure - just a scrape of the lining of the womb. It's not some huge, elaborate thing ; it's actually very straightforward and cheap to do. They took that sample and sent me off home. Then, that same day, the hospital rang me back and said I needed to come in. That's when they told me it was endometrial cancer. So after all that time of going to the GP with this persistent spotting and being treated for other things, it was this one simple uterine lining scrape, once I finally got to a specialist, that gave the answer and led to the diagnosis.

Text Sample 28: POS Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001654_gpt.txt

I think my grandmother probably had endometrial cancer, or possibly ovarian cancer, way back, but I'd never really joined the dots. My mother was always saying, " there's no cancer in our family, " and I just absorbed that. So it never occurred to me that I might get cancer myself. On some subliminal level I must have believed I simply wasn't prone to it. That fed into this whole sense of security I had about my own risk. I kind of accepted this apparently logical idea that if there was no family history, then there couldn't be any sort of genetic component. Things like the BRCA gene, all of that, I just assumed didn't apply to me, because I'd been told, over and over, that cancer wasn't " in " our family.

Text Sample 29: POS Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001667_gpt.txt

So he went into the building society and was like, " Yeah, I know I was late with that mortgage payment, " and explained it was because he'd had to redo that place on Lane, which is also mortgaged with them. They were all, " No, it's fine, don't worry about the late one. " But then they turned round and said, "

However, you still owe a payment from March. " And he was completely gob-smacked, because he 'd been in hospital then and thought Mum was dealing with it, she 's got loads of money, and it turns out she 'd actually missed it.

Text Sample 30: POS Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000932_gpt.txt
yeah so what I 'm thinking is that this is actually a really good thing for us, because it gives younger people - or people who might not seem that believable on their own - a kind of built-in credibility. If we structure it so that Monday connects to Tuesday, Tuesday to Wednesday, and so on, then the trust doesn't have to come just from one person 's reputation. It comes from the chain of relationships, where each person knows the next and can talk about their work in a grounded, specific way.

Text Sample 31: POS Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000310_gpt.txt
I feel really settled now, especially in my house. I like just coming home, relaxing, not having to go out or get dressed up. That 's kind of my comfort zone at the moment. But recently I 've had a few things on where I 've had to really dress up, and I 've realised how much I don't like it. I don't really know how to do it anymore, or what I 'm supposed to wear. I suppose if I did it more often I might get used to it, but right now it just feels uncomfortable.

Text Sample 32: POS Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000309_gpt.txt
so I calmed myself down in the end and just thought, this is ridiculous, it 's causing me way too much stress, I 'm just not going. I texted Nicky and said, really sorry, I 'm having a bit of a weird time, I 'll catch up with you next week instead. Then I messaged the birthday girl and said I was feeling a bit blue, just not quite right, and that I was really sorry but I couldn't make it. I said the whole thing felt a bit strange and I couldn't really explain it properly, it just didn't feel right to go out.

Text Sample 33: POS Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000361_gpt.txt
Yeah, they are really nice like this, all salty, aren't they? If you ever want to do jacket potatoes quickly but still get the skin crispy, there 's a trick I use. Do them in the microwave first to save time, just until the inside 's cooked. Then coat the potato in olive oil and salt, wrap it in a paper towel, and pop it in the oven for about five minutes. That way the skin crisps up instead of staying all soft. It 's a really good tip.

Text Sample 34: POS Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000370_gpt.txt
it is quite dangerous though because there 's just this constant stream of cakes and biscuits at work. jo 's birthday was yesterday, and she 's the biscuit goddess, so she 'll probably bring in cake tomorrow as well. then there 's another girl whose birthday is on sunday, and she 's going to bring in cake on thursday before she flies off to new york, and that 's just before our team away day on friday. so it 's basically going to be cake after cake after cake, which is really hard to resist when it 's all just sitting there in the office. I keep thinking I might just about get away with it if I manage to get to the gym three times this week, then maybe it 'll balance out a bit.

Text Sample 35: POS Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000371_gpt.txt

In interviews when they ask why you want to work for them, you just sort of come out with the usual stuff, don't you. I normally say I 've researched the company, and then pick something off their website that sounds vaguely worthy or interesting. Quite often it 'll be something like their employee volunteering scheme, or some initiative they 've got going on, and I 'll act like that 's really what drew me in. It 's all a bit generic and made up on the day, really, just to have an answer.

Text Sample 36: POS Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000373_gpt.txt

I did actually go to that Wednesday morning lecture every single week, but every week she 'd still send this email out saying the lecture hall was practically empty, like there were only about ten people there. It really wound me up. I just don't get why you 'd put a lecture at ten a.m. the morning after student night. Yeah, we 're there to learn, obviously, but people are still going to go out drinking. It 's like they don't think about what students are actually going to do.

Text Sample 37: POS Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000269_gpt.txt

I finally sat down earlier to wrap everything and it was like going shopping all over again, I 'd forgotten half the stuff I 'd bought. For my brother I 've made this silly little " hamper of joy " with random bits in it - a fart whistle, fun snaps, a Lego digger, a bouncy frog, bouncing balls, edible floss and some socks. And for my sister I secretly bought Busted reunion tour tickets for the two of us months ago. It 's getting so hard not to tell her now, especially when she keeps asking what she 's got and I 'm pretending I haven't bought it yet.

Text Sample 38: POS Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000271_gpt.txt

Ray was the one who really helped me with the bell-ringing, but he had no close family round here. He was never married, a bachelor, and in the end he moved down to Winchester, where his nearest relatives are, and of course there 's the cathedral there as well. Another chap who helped me was a fireman, but he 's got three jobs on the go, so he 's often busy and can't always be around. The third one 's a doctor, and he 's actually connected to a retired colleague from our maths department, who comes out walking with us now. I was saying to him I wanted to do something really different in retirement, not just sit in the pub or watch things.

Text Sample 39: POS Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000274_gpt.txt

With a new top set of first years, that first week I wouldn't bother with maths at all. I 'd tell them straight, " You 're not doing maths this week, we 're doing behaviour. " I made it clear I was only interested in how they behaved in my lessons. What they did elsewhere, that was between them and whoever was teaching them, but in my room it was my rules. I 'd get them talking, saying, " You know how to behave, don't you? And you know how to muck about as well. " And they 'd admit it, of course. Once they 'd said it themselves, I 'd push them : " Right then, if you know the difference, you don't play up for me, agreed? " And they 'd agree, because they 'd more or less talked themselves into it. Doing that in the first week set the pattern. I used to say to them, " If we get this sorted now, this is how it 'll be for the next five years. " And it generally was.

Text Sample 40: POS Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t001692_gpt.txt

I was only an apprentice at the time, but I came up with this little shortcut jig, a special tool for doing the bearing housings. Instead of doing them the long, standard way, I could turn them out ever so quick. Because of that jig I was producing loads of parts, and the bonus money just rolled in. My basic was about six and six an hour - thirty-odd pence - but the bonus was half a crown an hour on top, so it bumped it up no end. In the end I was on about ten bob an hour plus the half-crown bonus. I had to hide the tool every night so no one else would pinch the idea. Me and my cousin were making so much we 'd stash the extra work, then go off fishing while the foreman clocked us in and out.

2 NEG Dim 1

Text Sample 41: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -11.00 - profiled_gpt/t000434_gpt.txt

No, what gets me is it only has to snow about half an inch now and everyone seizes on it as an excuse not to go to work. Any little dusting and suddenly it 's " oh, can't possibly get in, roads are treacherous ", and they just give up and abandon their cars. You see them all over the place, just left there at the slightest sign of trouble. I mean, I remember one time when it really did snow properly, not this token stuff. I had to get to the office, it was miles away, and I still got in. Drove all that way in genuinely bad conditions, taking it slow, being careful, doing what you have to do. And when I finally arrived, the people who actually lived nearby hadn't even bothered to turn up. They were right on the doorstep, practically walking distance compared to my journey, and they 'd just decided " nah, can't make it, too much snow ". That really annoyed me because I 'd put the effort in, done the long, hard drive, and then the local lot hadn't even tried. And then there was that time years back with the really severe snow, when the roads just weren't gritted at all. They knew it was coming, it wasn't like it crept up on anyone. The forecasts were all saying it was going to be bad, but nothing was done. I remember the M11 in particular - people were stuck there for hours and hours. Some of them were out there for twenty-four hours, just sitting in their cars, completely stranded. No grit, no proper preparation, nothing moving. That was the thing that really stuck with me : they had plenty of warning, and still the authorities didn't bother to get the gritters out or organise anything properly. It wasn't as if they didn't have time. They just seemed to hope it would all somehow be fine, and then when it hit, the whole system ground to a halt. You had lorries jack-knifed, cars all over the place, and absolutely no sign that anyone had taken it seriously beforehand. So on the one hand you 've got people using the tiniest bit of snow as an excuse to stay at home and abandon their cars, and on the other hand you 've got this example where there really was a proper snowfall and the roads were a complete mess because no one had prepared. It just shows how badly it can go wrong when they don't grit the roads and don't plan ahead, especially when they 've been told the bad weather 's on its way and still don't do anything about it.

Text Sample 42: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -10.00 - profiled_gpt/t000685_gpt.txt

yeah so we were out this one night, me and my mate, and we ended up bumping into this group of lads. It was really weird ' cause they were way more like " alright, alright " with me when I was with her, like proper making a fuss, whereas normally they 're not that bothered. You could just tell the dynamic changed ' cause I was stood with her. Then at one point, this one lad just suddenly grabbed my face and tried to kiss me. I turned my head so he only got my cheek, like made it into a sort of cheek kiss instead, ' cause I wasn't having that. Another bloke clocked the whole thing, saw exactly what happened. Later on, that same lad came back over to me and he was being really tactile - touching my face, leaning in and whispering in my ear, putting his hand on my waist and all that. And then, out of nowhere, he starts going on about this other girl, you know, saying he " knows what she 's like " in this really pointed way. It was so obvious he was basically saying he 'd slept with her, like he wanted everyone to know. It was like he was wearing it as a badge of honour or something, bragging about it rather than just quietly saying, " oh by the way, I 've been with your girlfriend " or whatever. It wasn't even subtle, it was just really blatant and made the whole thing feel even more awkward.

Text Sample 43: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -10.00 - profiled_gpt/t001187_gpt.txt

So there we are, absolutely soaked, mud everywhere, and we don't know a soul. I 'm just trying to get this Year Nine lad registered for his cross-country. I keep going up to different people with clipboards, asking where I 'm supposed to sign him in. Every time they 're checking their lists, and his name 's not there, his school 's not there, nothing. Properly awkward. Eventually one of them says, " Oh yes, it 's fine, he 's in the one o'clock race, just come back about quarter past two, " so I think, right, at least we 're sorted. Because it 's chucking it down and the mud is ridiculous, we decide not to bother walking the course like everyone else seems to be doing. Instead I go back, move the car a bit closer so we don't have to trek miles in that weather. We head back to the tents later on to collect his race bib, expecting it all to be straightforward now. I give them his details again and they look down the list and say, " No, his school 's not on here. " And I 'm thinking, we 've already done this, we 've already been told he 's in the race. Then it turns out we 're at the wrong team 's tent altogether. We 've been standing there, in the rain, talking to the wrong people. So all that faffing about, all that trudging through the mud, and we 're not even in the right place. At that point I 'm just trying to get him to the correct tent and sorted, but it 's all a bit of a farce, really.

Text Sample 44: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -9.00 - profiled_gpt/t000657_gpt.txt

yeah so when I did go back on the server after that break I 'd had this idea in my head for ages about doing this absolutely massive tower, like really ambitious, just shooting up into the sky. But then I started thinking it 'd be a bit boring if it was just me doing my own big solo thing again, so instead I started setting these little challenges for people, smaller projects that everyone could get involved in. we were working on one of those and we 'd got quite a lot of the structure done when this bloke who reckons he 's an expert with TNT decided he was going to " help " with the digging. he blew out the walls a bit too enthusiastically and basically managed to flood the whole area we were working in. water everywhere, completely ruined what we 'd already built. so after that disaster I just said, look, can we go into creative mode for this bit so we can fix it properly and carry on. they switched creative on and we repaired all the damage and finished what we were doing. and then, because they kind of forgot to turn creative off for me afterwards, I 've just kept using it since. with creative mode still on I started putting together these little puzzle challenges, like self-contained things people can try and solve. I 've been taking screenshots and videos and sticking them up on Facebook, showing people what I 've built and inviting them to come on and have a go. it 's turned into this way of using Minecraft less as just a game I play on my own and more as a way of bringing people together, getting friends involved in these creative projects and seeing what they come up with as well.

Text Sample 45: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -8.00 - profiled_gpt/t001050_gpt.txt
 yeah it 's either nothing or everything with them, isn't it. When I was working at Disneyland Paris I saw exactly that sort of thing. We were having this big Fourth of July party in the university residence, loads of American students there, music blaring, everyone really drunk and loud. People kept saying, " Oh the police will turn up in a minute, " but nothing happened at all for ages. No sirens, no normal patrols, absolutely nothing, so everyone just carried on drinking and getting rowdier. Then about an hour later this CRS riot squad suddenly turned up, full gear, shields, helmets, the lot. They didn't come storming in or say anything, they just took up positions and stood there watching us, which was really unnerving. Nobody stopped the party, they just sort of carried on as if it was normal, drinking and shouting with this line of riot police just waiting and not doing anything.

Text Sample 46: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -8.00 - profiled_gpt/t000980_gpt.txt
 our keeper right he looks terrifying like properly scary, covered in tattoos, big bloke, you 'd look at him and think no one 's getting near his goal. Ball comes in and he just completely misses it, like goes to get it and somehow doesn't, and they score again. And it 's the same sort of goal over and over, just balls in behind, our defence is that bad they just keep doing it and it keeps working. What makes it worse is me and one of the lads in midfield actually had good games. We 'd gone with a proper five-man midfield, really solid, keeping the ball, doing what we 're meant to do, but if every time they go forward they look like they 're gonna score it doesn't matter. We lost four one in the end and we had to take every single chance we got, and we didn't. There 's this one lad in our team who would be the perfect centre back, like exactly what we need, strong, can read the game, everything. But they won't stick him there because he 's " too good going forward " so they want him up the pitch. And I 'm just stood there thinking what 's the point? However well I play, or we play in midfield, we 're always gonna lose if the back lot are that bad. It 's just this horrible feeling of knowing before you even start that you 're probably gonna lose no matter what you do. Proper frustrating and you just feel helpless with it. At least we 've got a two-week break now before the next game, so maybe everyone 'll calm down a bit and we can figure something out.

Text Sample 47: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -8.00 - profiled_gpt/t000583_gpt.txt
yeah it was actually a bit dangerous, to be honest, and I was already really wound up from that first typhoon. Then the following week, my first proper day at the new school, another one hits - Typhoon Tembin this time. I remember just thinking, this has got to be some kind of joke. I tried to get a taxi because the weather was just insane again, but there were none at all, nothing running. So I had to walk it, about half an hour in that really heavy wind and rain, just getting absolutely battered the whole way. I didn't even properly know where I was going, so I kept having to stop random people in the street, asking for directions, shouting over the wind. By the time I finally got to the school I was completely drenched, like soaked right through everything. I was kind of hoping they 'd take one look at me and be like, " Right, let 's get you some dry clothes or something, " you know, just a bit of help after that walk.

Text Sample 48: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -8.00 - profiled_gpt/t001308_gpt.txt
so while we were in Mexico he was like massively stressed out the whole time because of this guy he used to work with. they 'd basically decided ages ago that this bloke was completely useless, like a total liability in the business, so they fired him. but then after getting fired he suddenly starts trying to sue for a chunk of the business, or demanding to be bought out or something along those lines. and even though he 'd been sacked he kept turning up to work anyway, acting like nothing had happened, still giving everyone these instructions that nobody was listening to, and just doing loads of stupid shit around the place, making everything worse.

Text Sample 49: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -7.00 - profiled_gpt/t000284_gpt.txt
well he had this idea all mapped out at one point, you know, a proper little business. People would bring their old computers in and actually stand there and watch while he smashed the hard drives up, so they were absolutely useless. He was going to make quite a thing of it, have all the graphics done for a website and everything, show how it was all destroyed so no one could get anything off it. But in the end he just couldn't be bothered to carry on with it, and I don't think it would 've been worth it really.

Text Sample 50: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -7.00 - profiled_gpt/t000833_gpt.txt
so yeah it was such a faff, like, I only realised it was gone when I got out the taxi and I was just like, where 's my phone, checked all my pockets and my bag and everything and it just wasn't there. I rang the taxi firm straightaway and the driver actually came back and we both proper searched the taxi, like under all the seats and everything, but there was just nothing, it had totally vanished. I rang my mum and told her what 'd happened, and we tried ringing my phone loads of times, but it just went straight to voicemail every time, even though I knew it still had battery on it, so that was a bit dodgy. I got my SIM blocked so no one could use it, and then I went on Find My iPhone and put that lost-phone message on it with my number and that, but I hadn't got the tracking turned on before, so I couldn't actually see where it was. No one's tried to contact me off it or anything, which makes me think whoever's got it's just ignoring the message. I checked with Apple as well, and they said they can't get into it or anything without doing a full factory reset, so all my stuff on it should be safe, it's just the phone that's gone. Now I'm just waiting around for the insurance people to ring me back and sort it out, 'cause I can't really do anything else till they decide what they're doing. I've done everything I can, like blocking the SIM and that lost mode thing, so it's just a case of seeing if they'll pay out and then I can actually get a replacement sorted.

Text Sample 51: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -7.00 - profiled_gpt/t000413_gpt.txt

They make themselves inaccessible before the students even walk into the lecture theatre, and that just kills it. You can see the students switch off. They might be absolutely brilliant, but if they're not actually reaching anyone, what's the point? That's when you see them all on Facebook, because nothing's really getting through. But the thing is, the moment someone stands up and talks in a genuinely interesting way, you literally see the phones and laptops go away. They do want to listen. They don't come to university thinking, "Oh good, three years of boredom." They arrive expecting to be excited and engaged, and when they are, they respond straightaway.

Text Sample 52: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -7.00 - profiled_gpt/t000357_gpt.txt

we were all just sat there at the top of this field, right, and it's like proper familiar, cos on one side you've got the primary school that everyone in the village went to, and then further down there's the pub and that big old mansion near it. We're just hanging about, not even that drunk or owt, and then we all see this thing. it were like this white light, but shaped like a person, like you could tell it were sort of human-sized, about five foot nine or summat, and it just went dead fast across the field. it shot from where we were over towards that bit near the pub and the mansion. it weren't like a person running, it were more like a shooting star but on the ground, there one second and gone the next. we were all just looking at each other like, did you see that as well? and cos it were right by that mansion it made us think of that story you always hear about the bloke who owns it. people in the village always said his son had this really weird thing happen. apparently he'd been talking to his mum in the house, just normal like, and then later on they told him his mum had already died by then. so everyone says he must've been talking to her ghost or summat. I dunno how true it is, like, it's just one of those local stories that gets passed round, but when you've heard that and then you see this mad white figure of light leg it across the field towards that same place, it proper does your head in a bit. we were all trying to act normal but you can't help thinking about that lad and his mum and whether there's actually something going on round there or if it's just people exaggerating. I'm still not sure what to make of it.

Text Sample 53: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -7.00 - profiled_gpt/t001191_gpt.txt

well the luggage labels have arrived and they 're quite smart really, they say " outward bound " on one side, so that 's all straightforward enough. there wasn't any letter in with them at all though, no confirmation about the cabin upgrade, and certainly nothing about any extra cost, which is rather interesting. I can't see that they 've charged us anything more for it. as far as I can tell, there 's been no paperwork about it beyond these labels and the tickets. I was saying to him that it actually makes sense from their point of view. they upgrade us, and then they can resell our old cabin to somebody else, so they get the benefit of selling that twice over in effect. it 's no skin off their nose to move us up a grade if they can shift the original one again. but it is slightly odd not to have any kind of letter explaining what they 've done, you 'd think they 'd want it all in writing. anyway, the journey up to London was very good, much better than I 'd expected. the roads were really very clear, and the weather improved as we went along. it started off not so promising, but it got better and better on the way, so by the time we were getting in it was actually quite decent. there were crowds around Parliament and Downing Street, lots of people milling about there, so that bit was a bit busy, but otherwise it was fine, nothing problematic at all. so what I want you to do is just put the labels on the suitcase now, get that done, and then I 'll fill in the cabin number later on once we 're absolutely sure what it is and everything 's settled. no point in guessing and then having to redo it. just stick them on so they 're ready, and we can add the details when we 've got them properly. oh, and I popped into Lidl and did a small shop, just a few bits and pieces, nothing major, but enough to keep us going. so that 's all sorted as well.

Text Sample 54: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -7.00 - profiled_gpt/t001018_gpt.txt

I sprang awake with this horrible burning sensation and, for a second, I couldn't work out what was going on. Then I realised it was my hair that was actually on fire. Instead of anyone helping, they were all just laughing at me, like it was some big joke, which made it even more frightening. I completely panicked and bolted out into the street, trying desperately to put the flames out as I went, not really thinking straight at all. I just kept running, heading towards home, half trying to beat the fire and half trying to get somewhere safe. In absolute hysterics, I rang my mum, convinced that someone had deliberately set me alight, and she just came back at me, totally baffled, swearing and not understanding what on earth I was talking about.

Text Sample 55: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -7.00 - profiled_gpt/t001266_gpt.txt

yeah I already knew his brother, so it wasn't like I was meeting him for the first time or anything. I 'd actually wanted to go later, like just turn up for drinks at seven, but she made me go on time, so we got there dead early. The house was basically empty, just them as hosts, and it felt a bit awkward. Eventually a few more people turned up so it wasn't awful, but they 'd invited loads and hardly anyone actually came, which was a bit sad really. Then his brother arrived, and he was clearly trying to show off. Him and his brother just kept drinking and drinking, like way too much. By about half nine they were completely drunk, throwing up and totally out of it, and I was just sat there thinking, what the hell is going on?

Text Sample 56: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -7.00 - profiled_gpt/t000490_gpt.txt
 so she suddenly sort of lifted what I thought was her hand up into the air, with her other hand, and I just absolutely jumped. I actually said out loud, " oh my God, I thought that was your hand, " you know, like her real hand, and then I realised it was this prosthetic hand and there was just her arm, like a stump, that it was attached to. And I felt so awful, because she then had to explain to me that it wasn't her real hand and why she 'd taken it off, and I was just standing there, totally shocked. I went completely speechless, I didn't know what to say after that.

Text Sample 57: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -7.00 - profiled_gpt/t000134_gpt.txt
 well I only ended up going on my own because the girl I 'd gone out there with had gone off to meet some of her friends, they were doing a road trip or something, so I suddenly had this random free night before my tour actually started. I was just sat there thinking, I really don't want to be stuck in some New York hotel room on a Friday night, like what a waste, so I thought sod it, I 'll find something to do. I saw there were cheap tickets for a Yankees game and just bought one without really thinking it through, it was more like, oh that 'll be cool, rather than actually planning it properly. It was only afterwards that it hit me I 'd have to get myself up to the Bronx on my own, on the subway, and then walk from this really rough-looking station to the stadium. On the way there I was already a bit on edge, and then this really salacious bloke stopped me and started being creepy, which just made me feel even more exposed. By the time I was heading back I was honestly really scared, like properly aware of how stupid it was, just me on my own in that area at that time of night, all because I hadn't wanted to be bored in my room.

Text Sample 58: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -7.00 - profiled_gpt/t000394_gpt.txt
 whether it 's " me " or " us ", I don't think there 's any point trying to pin blame on either of us. You haven't done anything wrong, and I really don't want you sitting there feeling guilty or beating yourself up about it, because that 's just not what this is about. What 's happened between us hasn't been about you doing some specific bad thing, or me doing some specific bad thing. It 's the way our characters have interacted over the last two years, the way we fit - or don't fit - together. That 's what 's led us here, not some single action you should feel ashamed of or held responsible for. I know you might not see it that way, but from my side I 've been absolutely eaten up by guilt about ending it. I 've gone over and over it in my head, feeling awful about hurting you and about not being able to make it work. So if anyone 's been drowning in guilt, it 's me. And that 's exactly why I 'm saying this : the whole guilt thing, for both of us, it just doesn't help. It keeps us stuck. If you 're going to move on - and if I 'm going to move on - we both have to drop this idea that someone has to be " at fault ". There doesn't have to be a villain here. It 's just the way things have turned out between two people over time, and the only way either of us gets any peace is by letting go of the guilt and that way of thinking.

Text Sample 59: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -7.00 - profiled_gpt/t000318_gpt.txt
 I keep coming back to how much of this traces back to Thatcher and Reagan, you know - that whole wave of neoliberal capitalism they kicked off. It feels like they really set this thing in motion that 's just rolled on and on and done so much damage to the world. But then I catch myself wondering if, in a strange way, you need that kind of extreme selfishness and greed to push things to a breaking point, to force a proper reaction on a global scale. You can see little signs of that in people like Corbyn in the UK and that fella in the States - Bill Sanders - who are basically standing up and saying, look, you 've got to take responsibility, you 've got to fight the corruption, you can't just sit back and let this carry on. It feels like they 're trying to wake people up, to get them to see that the system as it stands is rotten. It reminds me a bit of the late eighties, when communism just suddenly collapsed. For years it looked solid and immovable, and then almost overnight it just crumbled. I can't help thinking we might be at a similar kind of turning point now with this particular form of capitalism. Maybe these systems really do have to get as bad as they possibly can before they finally give way and fall apart. There 's something about that pattern - reaching the absolute limit and then suddenly everything shifts - that feels very familiar when you look at what 's happening now.

Text Sample 60: NEG Dim 1 - profiled_gpt - Score -7.00 - profiled_gpt/t000258_gpt.txt
 so on Saturday morning before we actually met him, she put him on the phone to me for a minute, just to say hi. She 'd said beforehand that he was really shy and nervous about meeting her parents and me, so I was just really friendly and chatty, trying to put him at ease a bit. It was literally just a brief, nice conversation because I knew he was worried about it. But afterwards he completely flipped at her about it. He had a proper go, saying she shouldn't be telling people he was shy, like she 'd been talking about him behind his back. He made out like she 'd betrayed him, even though it was just that one thing she 'd mentioned to me. He was saying he didn't even know why he was bothering to come, and acting like we were all laughing at him or something. It was really harsh considering she 'd only told me he was nervous so I could be a bit kinder and more understanding when I met him.

Text Sample 61: NEG Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -13.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000434_gpt.txt
 No, what gets me is that now it feels like the tiniest bit of snow is just an excuse for people not to go to work. Any little flurry and suddenly everything grinds to a halt and everyone 's got a reason they " can't possibly " get in. It 's like the default reaction is, " Oh well, that 's it then, can't be expected to do anything, " rather than even trying. I mean, I remember one time when it was really bad - proper snow, not just a dusting. I actually got in the car and drove all the way from here up to the office. It was a long drive, took ages, roads were awful, but I thought, you know, you make the effort, you get there. And when I finally arrived, hardly anyone who actually lived near the office had bothered to turn up. They were all at home, even though they were just down the road. I 'd come miles in the snow, and the people who could practically walk it just didn't. That really annoyed me - I 'd done the slog, and they just used the weather as a get-out. And that wasn't even the worst I 've seen. Years before that, there was this time when the roads just weren't gritted at all. Nothing. They knew the snow was coming, everyone did, but they didn't prepare properly. So when it hit, everything just collapsed. I remember the M11 being completely jammed - people stuck there for hours and hours, some of them up to twenty-four hours. Literally a whole day on the motorway, going nowhere, because it hadn't been gritted and everything seized up. That 's the thing :

it wasn't as if the bad weather came out of nowhere. They had warning, they knew it was on the way, and still they didn't get the roads sorted in time. No grit down, no proper preparation, and then you 've got all these people stranded. It was a complete failure to plan for something they could see coming. So on the one hand you 've got people who 'll grab any bit of snow as a reason to stay home, and on the other hand you 've got the authorities who don't seem to take it seriously until it 's too late. When it 's genuinely bad, like those times I 'm talking about, fair enough - it really does disrupt everything. But that 's exactly when you need the roads treated properly and some effort from everyone, not this combination of " can't be bothered " and " didn't prepare. "

Text Sample 62: NEG Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -11.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001119_gpt.txt
so I took him along right, and he was proper like " nah it 's all bullshit " before we went, totally not into it at all. We 're sat there and at first she 's not really saying anything, just sort of quiet, and I 'm thinking yeah this is going nowhere. Then all of a sudden she comes out with this thing about there being an old man stood between us. She 's really specific, like describing him there, right in the middle. And then she starts talking about this cricket bat, saying it 's brand new, still in its wrapper and everything. I 'm sat there like, that means absolutely nothing to me, I 've got no idea what she 's on about, I don't even connect it to anyone. But I can see him next to me and it 's clearly hitting him, like it 's really making sense to him. Afterwards he 's telling me it 's exactly his grandad, and that cricket bat thing is dead on, it 's this really specific memory he 's got. All the details she gave, they just matched up perfectly with stuff about his grandad that I didn't know at all. It wasn't vague either, it was really particular, down to that bat being new and wrapped. So yeah, for me, I 'm just sat there thinking, how? Like, how would she know that? None of it fit me, but it was spot on for him, and he 'd gone in thinking it was all rubbish. That 's the bit that stuck with me, that she came out with something so weirdly exact that only he could understand.

Text Sample 63: NEG Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -10.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000414_gpt.txt
I just think universities have got it totally the wrong way round. They tend to shove the weakest, most limited lecturers in front of first-year students, when actually that 's when you need the very best people. Those first encounters should be with really excellent, broad-minded lecturers who can communicate to anyone, whether it 's ten people or two hundred. For me, a good lecturer should be able to stand there and just give, regardless of how many students are in the room. It 's a bit like a DJ : a proper DJ doesn't go, " Oh, there are only fifteen people here, I won't bother. " They still put everything into it, they still try to create something exciting and generous for whoever 's turned up. But a lot of lecturers just don't seem able to be generous with what they know. It 's as if something in them is blocked. Their knowledge stays locked inside their heads rather than flowing outwards. And that 's such a waste, because students arrive at university expecting to be excited, and they 're met with people who can't or won't really share what they 've got.

Text Sample 64: NEG Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -9.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000556_gpt.txt
so yeah like as far as I was concerned we were still friends and everything, nothing had actually kicked off between us, but then all these girls just suddenly start calling me a slag and all this crap. They 're ringing my doorbell over and over, banging on my door, and I 'm just stood there watching them through the peephole, literally recording them because it was that ridiculous. After a bit I 'd had enough, so I opened the door and confronted them, like, what the fuck do you want, why are you ringing my doorbell, why are you even here? I still tried to handle it properly afterwards though, so I sent this really polite message, just saying I didn't want anyone unnecessary being let into our flat. I mentioned especially because of my mate - you know, the lad with the really bad eyesight - he 'd got confused about this blonde girl in a black dress being in the flat, and it had all got a bit awkward. So I was just like, can we please not have random people wandering in, given everything that 's gone on and his vision and that, and I thought that was more than reasonable.

Text Sample 65: NEG Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -8.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000833_gpt.txt
right so basically what happened was I was in this taxi and I must 've left my phone in there, ' cause when I got out and realised it was gone I rang the taxi company straightaway. the driver actually came back round and we both proper searched the taxi, like down the seats and everything, but there was just nothing there. after that I told my mum what 'd happened, and we tried ringing my phone and it just went straight to voicemail every time, even though I know it had battery on it. so then I got my SIM blocked, ' cause I didn't want anyone using my number, and I went on Find My iPhone. I put one of those lost-phone messages on it so if anyone switched it on they 'd see it and could ring me, but I didn't have the tracking turned on so I couldn't see where it was or anything like that. I 've not had any calls or texts or anything from anyone about it since, nobody 's tried to get in touch. I rang Apple as well, just to check what someone could actually do with it, and they said you can't get into it without doing a full factory reset on it. so basically whoever 's got it can't get to my stuff unless they wipe the whole thing. so now it 's just a case of me waiting for this call from the insurance people, ' cause they 're supposed to be sorting it all out, and I 'm just kind of stuck until they finally ring me back about it.

Text Sample 66: NEG Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -8.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001266_gpt.txt
yeah I knew him already, that 's why I was kind of dreading it a bit. I 'd actually wanted to go later, like just turn up about seven when everyone was meant to be there for drinks, but no, I got forced to go on time. So we turn up bang on and the place is basically dead, just them in the house, and I 'm sitting there thinking this is awkward. Eventually a few more people did come so it wasn't completely awful, but they 'd invited loads and hardly anyone showed, which was a bit sad but whatever. Then his brother finally arrived and he was clearly trying to show off. Him and his brother just started necking drinks and by half nine they were completely gone, throwing up and everything, totally out of it, and I was just like, what the hell is this?

Text Sample 67: NEG Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -8.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000774_gpt.txt
he was just absolutely impossible to deal with, like really badly behaved and totally uncooperative. He was this huge kid compared to all the others, much bigger than them, and that just made everything harder. In the mornings we 'd go in and try to get him out of bed, over and over, and he just would not do it. You 'd wake him up, tell him it was time to get up, and he 'd kind of half-respond and then just crawl straight back under the covers again. There was nothing you could do to actually make him comply. It wasn't like with the smaller kids where you could sort of shepherd them along or scoop them up and get them moving. With him, he was so big and stubborn that you were stuck. You 'd stand there trying to insist, but he 'd just burrow back into the bed and that was that. All the adults were basically defeated by him every single morning, because there was just no way to physically move him or get him to cooperate.

Text Sample 68: NEG Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -8.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001210_gpt.txt
it was one of those moments where you suddenly realise just how close you 've come to something absolutely horrific you know in nepal being only about twelve vehicles back from that landslide and just standing there looking at where the whole side of the mountain had just gone and there were just roofs sticking out and you knew there had been a village there and now there just wasn't and you 're sort of counting the time in your head thinking if we 'd left a bit earlier or gone a bit faster we could have been right in it and then there was that other time in nepal when we drove straight into this area that had just been flooded and we didn't even realise at first it had turned into a refugee camp with all these aid tents everywhere dead buffalo floating in the water and the roads were just awful it took us something like twelve hours to get through all of that it was just grim

Text Sample 69: NEG Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -8.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001017_gpt.txt
so then I get this ridiculously long message from him, right, and he 's going on about how he popped next door, and they 've got this totally legal herbal weed, and he thinks, oh yeah, why not, I 'll have a bit. And then he starts describing this absolutely horrible trip - says he suddenly can't stand up, can't talk, just stuck there while everyone 's basically watching him fall apart. Then, apparently, he somehow stumbles back home, throws up everywhere, has this massive freak-out, and then texts me saying how sorry he is and how angry he is with himself for doing it. And I 'm reading this thinking, well, where the hell was this text when it was actually happening? Like, you 're next door, you know I 'm ready, and instead of just sending a quick message or coming over, you sit there melting into the sofa with your neighbours. Then after all that, he 's acting like I 'm his girlfriend or his wife or something, like I 'm supposed to be sitting around waiting for him, making him dinner while he has his little adventure next door. It really annoys me, being treated like that, when he couldn't even be bothered to text me at the time.

Text Sample 70: NEG Dim 1 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -8.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001191_gpt.txt
oh yes, he rang just then - it was about those luggage labels. They 've sent us ones that say " outward bound " on one side, you know, the proper Saga ones, so I was talking him through what to do with them. I said there was no letter in with them at all about the cabin upgrade - nothing confirming it, nothing about any extra cost or anything like that. Just the labels and the tickets, no explanation. I was saying to him it actually makes sense for them, doesn't it?

They upgrade us, stick us in a better cabin, and then they can resell our old one to someone else. So they 're not really losing out by giving us the upgrade, they 're making a bit more money on the side. But it would 've been nice to have it in writing, just to know exactly what 's what, especially about whether we 're meant to be paying anything extra. Anyway, I told him the journey down to London was really good. The roads were very good all the way, and the weather actually improved as we went along - started off not so great, then brightened up nicely. By the time we got near London it was pretty decent. It was busy round Parliament and Downing Street, lots of people about, crowds everywhere in that bit, but apart from that it was fine. No real problems on the road at all. I said to him, just put the labels on the suitcase now, and we 'll fill in the cabin number later once we 're absolutely sure what it is. No point fussing when they haven't even bothered to put a proper letter in. The labels can go on, and we can sort the details when we 've got them. Oh, and I mentioned we 'd done a little shop in Lidl - just a small one, picked up a few bits while we were out. So that 's all sorted as well.

Text Sample 71: NEG Dim 1 - human - Score -10.00 - human/t000434_human.txt

yeah but unfortunately these days any bit of snow is just used as an excuse now ah it 's snowing I can't get to work I can't do this can't do that yeah I mean I remember last last January the year before last rather yeah year and bit and eh I was I had to go for eh we had we have our monthly like commercial reviews at the regional office and for me I normally I would leave at five and would hget there for seven so I can miss all the traffic on the M25 and eh I 'd left and it was when I mean all the real bad snow and I left at five and I got there at eight l and I sat outside cos waiting for someone to turn up to open it up and everything and it got to half past ten and no one had turned up so I just want oh bummer that I 'm going to go and it took me it only took me two hours to get home because obviously by half past ten all the people that were going to try had tried and just it was done no one else was travelling so it was clear em but I mean there were people that were that lived almost in walking distance of the office and they just hadn't even bothered to come in I 'm like I 've driven a hundred miles and I 've got there where is everybody else? You know people that were really close to the office and didn't even bother to try and go in you know really peed me off but eh I mean I can remember when eh good few years ago when was that? Nine years ago now? Yeah will have been nine years ago when the M eleven ended up in shit because of the snow and they hadn't gritted anything and I was working at Harlow at the time but living out on the M four and eh I 'd left and it was I 'd left at sort of basically said oh we need to get gone otherwise we 're going to get stuck and I 'd left at three o'clock or four o'clock something like that I 'd come out onto the M11 going south and there was nobody I mean there was snow everywhere but it was like where is everybody? What 's going on? And it was cos it was closed further up where it had just been totally whited out and it was so bad that people were stuck in their cars like over like twenty-four hours and they were in their cars and they were running out of fuel where they would have it left of tick over to keep warm and things like that and it was like days before all of them were eh clear but I mean thankfully I was sort of ahead of the storm so to speak so I got home and everything fine but yeah they 've never it 's never been well they 've they 've always been more prepared for it now but then they 'd done absolutely nothing before the snow they knew it was coming but they

'd done nothing cos they didn't think it was really going to be as bad and like suddenly the whole of the M eleven was totally out of it totally gone

Text Sample 72: NEG Dim 1 – human – Score -7.00 – human/t001619_human.txt
I dunno if you wanna was after the American legalised same sex marriage to our fellow Americans just tell me if I 'm getting boring hey there it 's two of your it 's two of your brothers who are writing to you about the Supreme Court decision to legalise gay marriage the good news is that a whopping forty-two percent of you muslims support marriage equality as do both of our Muslim elected officials in the United States Congress one even serves as vice chair of the LGBT equality caucus there are many faithful gay and lesbian Muslims in the US and we love and support all of them at the same time many of you are scandalised by the ruling we know because you keep tweeting about it many e more of you are equally perturbed but have chosen to keep it to yourself with all the rainbow flag waving and self congratulatory pats on the back this country is giving itself right now you don't need another reason for Americans to dislike you sure Rick Santorum and Mike Huckabee ccalled the Supreme Court decision the precursor to the end of days and final battle of Armageddon but if you try saying something like that on TV you may end up in Guantanamo so you 're staying quiet you may not like the Supreme Court 's decision but you 're dealing choosing to tolerate it we understand when you 're where you 're coming from being a Muslim in America is not easy on the one hand you 're a part of a mainstream con culture you 're a Warriors fan you listen to Kanye you watch Game Of Thrones you even went to the office Christmas party and sang Silent Night on the other hand you want to stay true to the faith and traditions you go to the mosque and send your kids to Islamic school fast during ramanam and swap turkey bacon on your BLT all in an attempt to establish a firm Muslim identity in a non Muslim country but now that s now but now but now that same sex marriage is legal in America it 's shaking up your faith you 're afraid of the future and what this could mean for your kids you recognise this growing acceptance of gay rights but personally you just can't bring yourself to embrace the shift you may feel okay with having gay acquaintances or coworkers you may even agree that being gay doesn't qua disqualify you from being a Muslim but privately you still feel like the LGB community is a living contradiction to what you were brought up to d believe but here 's the thing when you are an under represented minority where the Muslim African American female er democracy is an all or nothing business you fight for everyone 's right and the operative word here is fight while you get none for yourself democracy isn't a buffet you can't pick and choose which civil liberties apply to which people either we are all equal or the whole thing is just a sham we Muslims are already a deeply marginalised people in mainstream American culture more than half or us Americans have a negative view of us one third of Americans that 's one hundred million people want us to carry special IDs so that we can easily identify us as a Muslim we shouldn't be per we shouldn't be perpetuating our marginalisation by marginalising others rejecting the s right to same sex marriage but then expecting empathy for our community struggle is hypocritical think about the way er people look at your hijabi sisters what I said earlier or your bearded brother when they walk through the mall think about the grumbles and stares you get at airports think about the vitriol that that 's spur spewed on you by your own elected political leaders that 's how LGBT brothers and sisters feel every day of their lives are you okay with that? we don't know about you but our faith teaches us to care for the weak and the marginalised the poor the dispossessed those who are trampled under foot those who are persecuted no matter who they are no matter what they choose to believe no matter who they choose to love there 's a Quran quote doesn't get any clear than clearer than that you may think LGBT rights is a new conversation something that 's only recently come into contact with modern Islamic thought but er trust us it 's not challenging the status quo for the betterment of society is one of the very foundations on which Islam was built no one is asking you to change beliefs if you still if your faith still tells you that homosexuality is haram fine we disagree with your interpretation but you 're entitled to it erm yeah bottom line is standing up for marginalised communities even when you disagree with them is not just the right thing to do it 's the Muslim thing to do remember that whole god is merciful and compassionate thing that extends to all people not just those who are straight celebrate don't tolerate love really does win yours truly Reza Aslan and Hasan Minhaj

Text Sample 73: NEG Dim 1 - human - Score -5.00 - human/t001651_human.txt during which time I I went to the doctor and I said look I 've got this persistent spotting and erm and she s and she sort of said oh I think it 's probably going to be your thyroid that 's out of whack cos I also said well I 've put on a lot of weight over the last year or two and erm I don't think I 'm doing anything particularly different but I just keep on seem to get fatter and fatter all the time so she said oh I think it 's probably your thyroid because the bleeding will be consistent with thyroid problem so she sent me for tests and indeed I did have underactive thyroid so she put me on Levothyroxine and then erm and then I sort of on a hunch sort of said to her oh and I haven't had my blood pressure taken for ages and it turned out I had absolutely sky high blood pressure as well so they put me on drugs for that and then as I went back to the doctor for checkups cos when they put you on Levothyroxine they have to keep doing blood tests to work out if you 're on the right level of of drugs and to control your and bring your body up to the right level of kind of mmmetabolism and then also erm with my blood pressure I was going cos I didn't get on with the drugs so I was being tested for different drugs to contr try and control my blood pressure and every time I went back I said to her you know I 'm still bleeding? and she would say oh that 's really really strange that that should have been sorted out by now so she was really definitely pinning my bleeding onto my thyroid problem and it was only after about eighteen months that she said I think you 'd better see a gynaecologist and then I I got and sent up to and they did er er a scrape so just erm stuck a a oh a d a a kind of swab I suppose through my cervix and into my womb and just took a swab of the lining of my womb and then erm about a week later I got a call saying you 'd better come to the hospital this afternoon please so th it was it was a very very simple test for endometriosis and actually it can't cost that much because it 's just as long as they can get their little dibber through your cervix

Text Sample 74: NEG Dim 1 - human - Score -5.00 - human/t001641_human.txt if you feel like no I 'm going to tell you everything okay just wait and so I so I did that so then I got the washing out as you can see can you see the pile there? I dried that washing I done yesterday I put the other stuff in the washing machine put the deter and put that in put the other stuff in the dryer put that in had to get out the erm small organise all the swimming costumes and everything for all of us so I went round doing that asked you where yours was and then erm er erm got them all into bags and that kind of thing and then I got back I got him his breakfast before then too and juice erm and then I then I sorted out some things in the fridge that erm were off so I had to put them into the food bin scraped them out and I had to put them into the dishwasher and then I had to get er bags of rubbish I had to put like some smaller bags into the rubbish bin and then that was before we went swimming and then after I after we went swimming even was being nice took out and get him in the pool that kind of thing never a time like even like trying to dress myself was ridiculously you know I having to sort him out d so then I got the bus he 's crying crying give him biscuit let 's go to town let 's do the shopping and then I had to get some other stuff and then I had to go round and get the bus it was ages to the bus again so I I knew so I had to walk we were on the bus it was full I had to stand up for ages then I got the bus walked here got out erm and then the shop was away and I cooked all the dinner and I sat down that 's how much normally chores are

Text Sample 75: NEG Dim 1 - human - Score -5.00 - human/t001193_human.txt
we get it 's the recorded delivery the recorded messages now that we get and it there 's one that we seem to be stuck on and they ring the fax number first and then literally about four minutes later it rings ours so you know to ignore it the fax nothing happens but then the main phone one goes and I just leave it and it always cuts into the same sort of point government scheme which says you can borrow on PPI not PPI government scheme for new boiler and and you can't get hold of it you can't do anything and find out who it is or try and block it because it just comes up it 's international or withheld

Text Sample 76: NEG Dim 1 - human - Score -5.00 - human/t001017_human.txt
what the fuck is the matter with this kid? Look I 'm not kidding I just got money and saw neighbour he invited me in and I thought what the hell? Five minutes we sat down and he offered me a smoke on some herbal weed legal high well I had a bad one and had a bad trip for ages and couldn't talk or stand up four people watched me by the way as I ended up looking like I need sectioning so when so so when I got home I was going to text you and threw up a lot I 've been back and told him that that shit is dangerous I 'm so sorry for this I 'm so pissed off for trying it I thought it would do nothing at all yes I would like to as soon as I sort myself out a bit if that 's okay all of the above is the truth this kid is fucked in the head genuinely genuinely fucked in the head so he 's gone next door had a bit of pot it 's affected him really badly so he 's gone home been sick hasn't thought to text me during any of this it fucks me off cos I 'm not his girlfriend I 'm not his wife I 'm not gonna sit around making him dinner

Text Sample 77: NEG Dim 1 - human - Score -5.00 - human/t000145_human.txt
and you then you can't fucking park I was so pissed off and then like as soon as I got in my manager sent me this email about punctuality and I wanted to hit the wall I was gonna kick off I was so angry she 's like like and then she did apologise later because she sort of said like it wasn't appropriate to do it like when I was quite clearly still fuming like I come in and I was so like I was already upset and then she sent me that email and I was just like it 's not like I 'm not trying she 's like oh is there anything I can do to help? and I 'm like no like I will just have to set off even earlier like there 's nothing we can do I have to leave two hours to get to work which is just ridiculous two hours two hours to get to work

Text Sample 78: NEG Dim 1 - human - Score -5.00 - human/t000980_human.txt
keeper misses it keeper looks like but like a neo Nazi version covered in tattoos like all down his neck all over his body he looks so scary he misses the ball I dunno what he was trying to kick but he missed the ball then he went through scored two more goals pretty much exactly the same me and are looking at each other in centre mid we 're in centre mid cos they put we had a five men midfield and they just put the best five players in midfield basically cos me and were playing upfront but he played really well in centre mid and I think they just wanted a strong s a strong midfield and erm we were playing well like we were doing really well but every five seconds they went and attacked it was like they were gonna score and they scored four managed to score one we made quite a few chances he could 've had he could 've a hat-trick he could 've have had four maybe but we 're in a situation where we literally if we don't take every chance we get we 'll lose cos the defence are so bad we 'd benefit loads I think if went at centre back cos he heads a ball like no one 's business and he 's a f he 's a good footballer so he can judge a ball he 's quick like he 's everything you would want at this level in a centre back but he 's wasted at centre back cos he scores goals and yeah sets up attack and stuff it is it 's just minging hate it so much knowing that there 's nothing nothing I can do no matter how well I play or me and someone else plays we 're gonna lose we haven't got a game for two weeks now but

Text Sample 79: NEG Dim 1 - human - Score -5.00 - human/t000334_human.txt
well I think most of what you 've said is absolutely true it 's erm we seem to have our er as as you said it 's erm all of our natural born freedoms are gradually being eroded are being controlled more and more I mean look at the society we in we 're in we 're lucky in many respects to be in the society we 're living in look at the amount of people trying to get here er illegally so they can benefit from it but er it 's thinking er when you think this is one of the best places to live and all the things that are wrong with it the things we can't do more and more control over us more and more spying on us that have er come to light in the last few years the whistle blowers you see I America the er the time limit on the erm on the er er American government 's er legal right to snoop on people 's private emails has now expired so and like they now can't do do that unless they they get apply for a specific permission but I saw an on a programme not long ago in the UK when er the police or government erm apply for the the the legal right to do this to its citizens it 's it 's mm almost automatically granted in ninety-six percent of the cases and they 've never been more er surveillance you know the CCTVs and er I 'm sure there 's lots of things that are gonna come to light sooner or later that they 're doing now mm spying on us but we 've still got the right to a certain degree of to go out on the street get up on your soapbox and say what you like more or less I think in China that erm they 're not allowed to have meetings of more than six people or something like that at er in any one place unless they 've got polipolice permission but that 's gonna be an interesting case sooner or later because the the generation that 's now starting to reproduce and er they 've grown up in a in a society although strictly controlled by the government erm they 're expecting more and more freedoms so that 's it 's a lot of people think that sooner or later there 's gonna be a revolution there but er I don't know it 's er they 've got such a tight control on everything on everybody

Text Sample 80: NEG Dim 1 – human – Score -5.00 – human/t000806_human.txt
I think that blokes are like that though like when you 're in a relationship with them they 're nothing but as sweet as pie and then as soon as it 's over they 're like right well I can just be totally selfish which in their head means act like a twat which is unfortunate I mean not all blokes let 's not all generalise but I think in his head he 's like right well that 's it now you told me that I 'm single and that I just s that you don't want to be with me anymore and so I can just do what I like

3 POS Dim 2

Text Sample 81: POS Dim 2 – profiled_gpt – Score 11.00 – profiled_gpt/t001501_gpt.txt
well when the children were about six and seven we moved again, and that was when I went to another university and settled into what became quite a long stretch there. By that stage I 'd done a few different institutions, so I had a fairly clear sense of how a careers service could be organised, and I went back into a more standard careers adviser role before I ended up managing the whole thing. In that set-up, each of us as advisers had what we called a portfolio of academic departments. So you didn't just sit in a central office waiting for random students to turn up ; you were linked to, say, engineering or history or whatever it might be, and you were expected to get to know that world. You built relationships with the academic staff in those departments, talked to them about what their students were like, what employers tended to be interested in them, and what particular issues cropped up. Over time you became " their " careers person, which made it easier for students to see you as part of their course rather than some bolt-on. In some departments that relationship went quite a long way. They would actually fund us to deliver taught careers modules that were formally assessed as part of the degree. So you might have a second-year module on employability or professional development, timetabled like any other class, with assignments and marks that counted. In other departments it didn't go that far, but we were still expected to provide a programme of support. Whatever the arrangement, there were always two main strands to what we did. One was individual guidance – one-to-one appointments where a student could come and talk about their plans, get feedback on applications, practise interviews and so on. The other was group sessions, which we ran within the departments or centrally, covering the core topics that almost everyone needs. Those core topics were things like how to market yourself effectively – so CVs, covering letters, application forms – and how to find employers and opportunities in the first place. We did a lot on interviews and on the various selection tests that employers use, and we spent time on networking, because who you know and how you approach people can make quite a difference. We also tried to encourage what we called creative job hunting, getting students to think beyond the obvious big graduate schemes and to look at smaller organisations or less traditional paths. On top of that core, we were always adding extra sessions in response to what was happening in the job market at the time.

If there was a shift in how employers were recruiting, or new kinds of tests, or a sector that was suddenly expanding or contracting, we 'd put something on to address it. So the work was a mixture of having a standard offer and then tweaking it constantly as the outside world changed.

Text Sample 82: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 9.00 - profiled_gpt/t000532_gpt.txt

I think if you give students really big, knotty historical topics, like the suffragettes or the world wars, you 've got far more chance of actually catching their curiosity. There are so many different angles for them to hook into - the politics, the personalities, the military strategy, the social changes - that almost everyone can find something that genuinely interests them. It 's richer, more three-dimensional, and it invites you to ask questions and make connections. My own experience of history at school was nothing like that. It was all chopped up into these very narrow, self-contained little slices, and we were marched through them one by one. There wasn't that sense of a big picture you could wander around in and explore from different directions. Because of that, it never really lit that spark of curiosity for me ; it just felt like a series of disconnected topics. The way it was taught, I mostly ended up just copying things off the board, rather than actually thinking about them or analysing what they meant. I 've never been particularly good at straight memorisation, and no one ever really taught us how to memorise effectively either - it was just assumed you could do it. Looking back, that feels like a real shame, especially considering how much that education cost.

Text Sample 83: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 9.00 - profiled_gpt/t000938_gpt.txt

well my initial idea, the one I was trying to explain before you went off on the other thing, was to actually build proper, real-life case studies rather than us just chatting and leaving it at that. I was thinking in terms of characters, situations, problems that unfold over time and need to be managed or solved, almost like following people through a process. And instead of it being a dry written case in a textbook, it would be co-created with the people involved, so they 're part of shaping it, and we 're capturing it as moving images. So you 'd have these rich, authentic stories, filmed and structured, that show how issues develop and how people respond, rather than something made up after the fact. The moving image part is really important - not just a video stuck on top of some text, but the core of the case study itself, with all the messiness and detail of real life. Then those could be turned into proper educational resources, rather than just free content floating around, and they 'd have far more value because they 're grounded in actual experience.

Text Sample 84: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 8.00 - profiled_gpt/t000924_gpt.txt

well it is a bit like Chinese whispers, isn't it, but with pictures and people instead of just a sentence going round a circle. I 'm imagining it very simply, Monday to Friday, you start with one person on the Monday, and then on the Tuesday you talk to someone they 're connected to. Then Wednesday 's person is connected to Tuesday 's, and so on through the week. Each step along, you 're only ever one person away from the last interview, so the chain builds quite naturally. Those connections could come through social media - Facebook friends, Twitter followers, LinkedIn contacts - or just people they know in real life and actually meet. As you go, you 'd start to see that they 're not just randomly connected : they 've got shared problems, similar interests, similar concerns that keep popping up in slightly different forms. By the time you 've done all five, the set of videos themselves becomes a kind of narrative. You can watch them back and see this thread that runs from the original Monday person, through each link, right to the Friday person. Each interview doesn't just sit on its own ; it pushes the story forward, adds a bit more to that picture of what connects them all, and in the end everything sort of loops back conceptually to where you began.

Text Sample 85: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 8.00 - profiled_gpt/t000931_gpt.txt

I think what 's really powerful about this idea is that it shows investors a clear journey : here 's the raw starting point, and here 's how it can be developed and improved. It 's not just a finished glossy product, it 's a process they can actually see, which makes the whole project feel more grounded and practical. The Creative Commons side of it is crucial. If we set it up so people can log in to the website and only access the parts of the interview where they themselves appear, they can download and edit those clips for their own digital CVs. That way, they 're not just listing skills, they 're actually showing how they think, how they respond to questions, how they communicate under a bit of pressure. It becomes evidence of their own articulated responses. But the value of those interviews really hangs on two things : the quality of the questioning, and the quality of the answers. The interviewer has to ask sharp, thoughtful questions, and the interviewees need to be coherent, concise and articulate. A lot of academics and teachers say students are losing that ability to articulate themselves clearly. If that concern is even partly true, then this project isn't just a CV tool ; it 's also a way of practising and showcasing precisely those communication skills that people are worried are disappearing.

Text Sample 86: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 7.00 - profiled_gpt/t001628_gpt.txt

well officially I 'm responsible for all the education liaison for the company, so anything that touches schools or universities really comes under my umbrella now. A big driver for it is this whole UK shortage of engineers, so my brief is very much about trying to help address that - getting young people interested in engineering, making sure we 're visible in the right places, that sort of thing. So I spend a lot of time working with schools and colleges, universities, careers events, all those kinds of things, and then also with government where it overlaps - policy stuff, initiatives around STEM, that sort of area. What was happening before was that lots of different bits of the company were doing their own thing in isolation, completely uncoordinated. Every division had its own pet schools, its own little projects, and nobody really knew what anyone else was up to. My job is to pull all of that together so it actually looks like a coherent programme rather than a series of random acts of kindness. So I 'm across the whole group, trying to join the dots between the various silos and make sure we 're not duplicating effort or missing obvious opportunities. It 's quite a new thing for them - this role never existed before I came in. I 've literally built it from scratch, there wasn't a predecessor or a template to follow. So it 's been a case of defining what " education liaison " means for us as a company and then putting the structure and relationships in place to make it work.

Text Sample 87: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 7.00 - profiled_gpt/t001011_gpt.txt
 well when I was out there with them I didn't do this hovering thing, I just tried to get them going and then leave them to it. I set them up with potato printing and leaf printing, showed them how to make patterns with stuff from the kitchen, and in the sandpit I got them to build these long meeting tunnels in the damp sand and then let them carry on. And they really did, once they 'd got the idea they just disappeared into their own little world. Afterwards they apparently went back and said that auntie and uncle were better at playing than granny and grandad, which rather proved my point. If you 're constantly doing everything with children, they never get the chance to use their own imagination or work things out. You give them a few ideas, a bit of a start, and then you should step back and let them do it themselves.

Text Sample 88: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 7.00 - profiled_gpt/t000334_gpt.txt
 well I I think a lot of what you 've been saying is right, really. It does feel as if those natural freedoms we took for granted are being chipped away bit by bit. You see it everywhere now - all this surveillance, all the government snooping, and it 's not just here. The Americans are at it, we 're at it in the UK, and then there 's the whole business with CCTV cameras on every corner. You can't move without feeling you 're being watched or recorded by somebody, somewhere. At the same time, though, for all that, we 're still relatively lucky compared with some parts of the world. If you look at somewhere like China, for instance, the level of control there is on a completely different scale. They don't just watch you, they really clamp down on what people can actually do in public. You can't just have a big public gathering there in the way you could here ; they 're very tightly restricted, monitored, broken up if they 're not approved. The state keeps such a firm grip on people 's movements and on any sign of dissent. What makes it interesting, and a bit unpredictable, is that in China people 's expectations of freedom are starting to rise. As more people see what life is like elsewhere, and as they become more aware, they begin to want more say, more space to speak and to assemble. That sort of rising expectation can't be bottled up forever. It 's the kind of thing that, over time, can lead to real upheaval - even revolution - if it goes on long enough without any outlet. But at the moment, the government there still has extremely tight control. They 've built a whole system designed to keep a lid on those pressures - surveillance, restrictions on gatherings, all of that. So you 've got this tension : on the one hand, a population whose sense of what freedom ought to look like is slowly expanding, and on the other, a state that 's determined to keep everything firmly in hand. How that plays out in the long run is hard to say, but it does underline how, for all our complaints about being watched here, there are places where the screws are turned much harder.

Text Sample 89: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 7.00 - profiled_gpt/t000934_gpt.txt
 So the whole idea is really about breaking relationships down into explicit, visible steps, rather than treating them as this mysterious thing that just " happens ". For example, imagine an ambitious seventeen- or eighteen-year-old who wants to meet Richard Branson. On the face of it, that sounds impossible. But if they can actually see that someone just one year above them already has a connection with Virgin, and that Virgin is connected to Richard Branson, suddenly it becomes a lot more realistic. By mapping that out, you 're showing them : here 's how that meeting could happen, here are the links in the chain. It 's about demonstrating that relationships are built piece by piece, and that even people very close to you in age or experience can be crucial mentors because of the connections they already have.

Text Sample 90: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 6.00 - profiled_gpt/t001563_gpt.txt

Well, there 's the three of us, and we 've kind of become a little team. I do all the texts and the graphics side, and then there 's the one who kicks everything off, has the ideas, and keeps an eye on quality, and then the other one who actually implements it all. It 's quite a neat setup because each of us has a clear role, but we work really closely together. When we first started with the retreats it was tiny, really - basically just one person holding it all together, doing almost everything. Now it 's turned into this much bigger programme, with loads of retreats and a huge amount of administration attached to it. There are far more people involved these days, on all sorts of bits and pieces. Even so, the three of us are still carrying a very large share of the work. It 's just ended up that way because we 're the ones who 've been in it from the beginning and we know how everything fits together. So we 've gone from this little one-person thing to quite a big operation, but our core trio is still doing a lot of the heavy lifting.

Text Sample 91: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 6.00 - profiled_gpt/t000923_gpt.txt

Yeah, exactly, that 's what I was imagining. You 'd literally start with one person on camera and just have quite a relaxed chat with them - how we know each other, what we 've got in common, the sort of stuff we 're both interested in. Then, at the end of that, I 'd ask them to think of someone they 're connected to - a friend, a colleague, someone they know online or in " real life " - who might be up for being filmed next. Then we 'd go and film that next person, and repeat the process : how they know the previous person, what they share, what they 're working on or thinking about. Each time, the person we 've just filmed nominates the next one. So you gradually build up this little cluster of people, almost like following threads in a web, and you can start to see how these networks form, whether they 're online, physical, or some sort of virtual mix. Out of that, you 'd get a main character whose story we follow more closely, and then these secondary characters who are part of their network and help move things along. The story I 've got in my head is that, through these connections, the main person ends up talking to a lecturer who suddenly spots that what they 're doing is actually a fantastic idea for an undergraduate research project. The key bit is that the original person couldn't have got to that point just on their own ; they only reach it because they 've gone through that physical chain of contacts. So the video ends up showing, in a really concrete way, how one conversation leads to another, and how that can open up opportunities you wouldn't otherwise have access to.

Text Sample 92: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 6.00 - profiled_gpt/t000872_gpt.txt

It is lovely talking to you like this, it really is. I actually went to the library and suggested running what I called " art of conversation " classes, where people would simply sit and talk about chosen topics. I do feel a lot of people want real conversation, something a bit more stimulating than you often get, especially after years in a partnership when you 've said everything ten times over. The library told me they already had " knitting and nattering ", but that 's not what I meant at all. I was thinking of proper discussions - what 's going on at the Conservative conference, women priests in the church, anything like that. Of course I 'd have to ask for a bit of money to cover the room. Anyway, they preferred origami and knitting, and my idea rather fell on stony ground.

Text Sample 93: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 6.00 - profiled_gpt/t000942_gpt.txt
so what we 'd actually be giving them isn't just the learning content itself, it 's this whole sense of a really warm, friendly relationship between the students and the lecturers. That 's incredibly marketable for universities, because it taps into that old Oxford-Cambridge tutorial ideal - you know, that image of a small group, close contact, people really being known and talked to rather than just being numbers in a lecture theatre. If we do the case studies properly, that 's exactly what we 're showing : students and academics in conversation, working through things together, and it feels human and approachable. It 's not just " here is a video ", it 's " here is what it looks like to study here, to be part of this little intellectual community ". And the key is that we 're not just handing over random bits of video ; we 're offering a really clear, sustainable process for creating those case studies. A proper structure. So a university can see, step by step, how we go from idea to finished piece : how we choose the topic, how we involve the students, how we frame the interaction with the lecturer, how it 's edited, how it 's presented online. Because it 's clearly formatted, they can understand what they 're buying, and they can see how it can be repeated across different modules and departments. It becomes a model they can plug into their existing teaching rather than a one-off gimmick. And then, on the student side, they 're not just passive consumers. They can go online and preview these case studies, get a feel for the style and the people, and then there 's the possibility of them actually taking part in them as well. That 's quite powerful : you 're selling the idea that you might end up in one of these pieces, talking to a lecturer, being part of the story. So the offer to the universities is : high-quality content, plus this very attractive picture of close student-lecturer relationships, all wrapped up in a robust, repeatable format for making case studies that students can see and maybe join in with.

Text Sample 94: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 6.00 - profiled_gpt/t000415_gpt.txt
and that 's what I mean about the way education 's set up at the moment - it 's a totally different learning mechanism. Instead of you working things out from your own perspective, you 've got lecturers standing there who 've already pre-selected all the examples and the bits they think are interesting. They 've done all the working out and then just feed you the edited highlights. What I 'd really like is for students to push back a bit more and actually question that. Sit there in a lecture and say, " Right, how does this apply to my area? How does this fit with what I 'm interested in? " rather than just passively taking it all in. If more people did that - properly questioned the material and the lecturer - I honestly think it would make the whole lecture better for everyone in the room.

Text Sample 95: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 6.00 - profiled_gpt/t001254_gpt.txt

yeah and the other thing I really liked about it was the way it gives the director of studies this really clear, standard picture of what 's going on in every class. So if a student comes and says, you know, " I don't like this teacher, they 're not doing X or Y, " the DoS can actually look at the system and say, " well, this is what should be happening in every lesson, " and respond properly, rather than it just being one teacher doing their own random thing. The way they set it up originally was all negotiated with the permanent teachers, so everyone had a say in how it would work and what they were willing to do, and then they agreed on it together. I really like that idea in principle, but for a summer school it 's just not realistic to have that kind of long negotiation process with people who are only there for a few weeks. So I was thinking I might just try and implement it more top-down in the summer school context, just say, " this is how we do it here, " and see how it goes. I 'm not totally convinced it 'll actually happen though, especially with the staff who come down from the London school - I can't really see them all suddenly deciding to follow it properly.

Text Sample 96: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 6.00 - profiled_gpt/t000194_gpt.txt

I think there 's also something about the environment that men find themselves in, especially once you get up into those more male-dominated management levels. You 've talked about wanting freedom and wanting to be your own boss, but I 'm looking at the kind of workplaces you 've described in the past, and they sound pretty brutal. Amongst men, you all seem to see very clearly what other men are doing in terms of power plays, who 's trying to be top dog, that whole alpha-male thing. It 's quite explicit, isn't it? The language, the posturing, the way people talk to each other. From the outside, it comes across as quite crude, quite aggressive, and really hostile if you 're not that sort of bloke or you don't want to play that game. So I 'm wondering if that 's actually a big part of the drive to change. Not just a positive pull towards " freedom " and " being your own man ", but also a push away from being in a place where another man can talk down to you, or dominate you, or constantly be asserting himself over you. If every day you 're surrounded by that, and you 're not naturally that way yourself, it must be exhausting. It seems to me that for some men, the key thing about leaving that kind of career and becoming your own boss is precisely that : no other man gets to speak to you like that anymore. You 're not under someone else 's thumb, you 're not having to swallow your pride or fit into that alpha hierarchy. You remove yourself from that whole pecking order. So when I talk about the male psyche here, I 'm thinking that maybe a lot of the drive is about not wanting to be dominated by other men, as much as it is about wanting independence and control over your own working life.

Text Sample 97: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 6.00 - profiled_gpt/t000946_gpt.txt

there 's that famous quote, right, " a language is a dialect with an army and funding. " That 's kind of what I 'm getting at. A lot of what we call different languages are basically just dialects that have been split up by political borders and national pride more than anything else. Take Urdu and, you know, the really closely related one over in India - in Pakistan they 'll call it one thing, in India they 'll call it another, but effectively people are speaking the same language. It 's just been given different names because they 're different countries and they want that separate identity. So, in that sense, they 're really dialects of the same thing rather than totally different languages. Do you know what I 'm talking about?

Text Sample 98: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 6.00 - profiled_gpt/t000418_gpt.txt

so what I was trying to say is you can actually turn it round a bit, rather than just going in and showing everyone what you know. If you get other people to talk about what they don't know, or what they think they know and why, you 're kind of teasing out their misconceptions. That creates this sort of reversed, pushback style of learning, where you 're not just pushing your own ideas at them, you 're drawing theirs out and then examining them together. It means more people are likely to be included, instead of them just sitting there thinking they can't keep up. You build a bit of rapport because you 're treating them as fellow learners rather than an audience. And it gives you an alternative to just performing your own knowledge all the time, which can be quite isolating and, frankly, a bit dull for you and for them.

Text Sample 99: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 6.00 - profiled_gpt/t000124_gpt.txt

well I know they 're going to have a go at me about it, that 's a given, but I 'm not really bothered in that sense, because I can just sit them down and say look, this is why I 'm changing direction. I can explain that I 'm in this sort of in-between phase at the moment, where I 'm moving away from what I was doing and edging towards creating something different. It 's not that I 'm claiming to have invented something totally original, it 's that for me it 's new, and I 'm learning a whole load of things I didn't know before. I 'd talk them through that : that I 'm deliberately going out and learning from people who are already doing what I want to be doing. I 'm watching what they do, listening to how they talk about it, and trying to pick up as much as I can from them. That 's a big part of it for me, that sense of actually studying people who are already there rather than just sitting around talking about what I might do one day. And I 'd say to them that in this kind of entrepreneurial stuff there are these common themes that run through everyone 's story - you know, taking a risk, changing tack, learning on the job - but at the same time everyone 's path is quite individual. So I 'm not trying to copy someone else 's life, I 'm trying to understand the patterns and then find my own route through it. Even if they don't really get where I 'm coming from, or they can't see the bigger picture I 've got in my head, there 's still value in what I 'm doing. I 'd stress that. I 'm learning from other people who are doing it already, and that in itself is worthwhile. They might roll their eyes or think I 've gone a bit mad, but I can at least lay out the logic : I 'm changing direction, I 'm in a transition, I 'm learning from people ahead of me, and I 'm trying to build something different for myself. Whether they fully understand it or not, that 's what I 'll be doing.

Text Sample 100: POS Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score 6.00 - profiled_gpt/t001508_gpt.txt

When we first went into the EU there was this great assumption that all these bright young things would simply drift off and get marvellous graduate jobs in Europe. On the back of that, we spent quite a bit of time going out to see European employers, talking to them, trying to understand what they wanted and how our graduates might fit in. In reality it never really took off in the way people imagined. The cultures were often very different, and the education systems didn't line up terribly well either, so there was a fundamental mismatch. You could see it in the conversations with employers - what they expected of a "graduate" wasn't always what a British university was producing, and vice versa. As a result, the ones who did manage to work abroad in any numbers were usually going out to teach English. That became the default route, really. If you looked beyond teaching, the numbers going into proper graduate roles overseas were tiny, despite all the effort. We did a great deal to support it : building up information on overseas graduate jobs, contacts, guidance, all of that. But even with a lot of resource going in, very few students ever managed to secure non-teaching positions abroad. International students were a rather different story. For them, doing a UK master 's could make quite a significant difference. It gave them something that was recognised and valued when they went back home, and it often did improve their prospects in their own labour markets, even if it didn't translate into staying on here or moving into Europe in the way the early EU enthusiasts had imagined.

Text Sample 101: POS Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 9.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001509_gpt.txt

There are a few fairly basic theories in careers guidance, and they 're really all about how people make decisions. One that 's been very influential, and is used a lot in careers services, is psychologically based. It assumes that once you 've reached a certain level academically, you become more independent and can make choices grounded in your own skills, your values, and what genuinely interests you. That 's the ideal model, if you like, and much of our practice is built around helping students clarify those things about themselves. But you also have to be realistic and recognise that not everyone actually makes decisions on that basis. Some students will appear to be going through that reflective, individual process, but in fact their choices are driven by quite different factors, and you have to keep that in mind when you 're working with them.

Text Sample 102: POS Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 8.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000923_gpt.txt

Right, so the way I 'm picturing it is that we literally start with just one person on camera. We sit down with them and talk through how we know each other, what we 've got in common, what we 're interested in - just set up that sense of a real, existing connection. Then, at the end of that chat, we ask them to nominate someone they 're connected to - a friend, a colleague, a lecturer, whoever - that they think we should talk to next. That next person becomes the focus of the following video. We repeat the same pattern : how they know the previous person, what they share, what they 're into, and then they, in turn, nominate the next person. If we keep doing that, we end up with this little cluster of people, all linked in some way, and the whole thing becomes a kind of visual map of how networks actually form - whether that 's online, in physical spaces, or in more virtual communities. There 'd be a main character whose "journey" we loosely follow, and then these secondary characters who branch off but still feed back into the overall story. I 'd like it to build toward a concrete example : say our original person has an idea, and through this chain of contacts they eventually sit down with a lecturer. The lecturer recognises that what they 're talking about is actually a fantastic idea for an undergraduate research project. The key point is that the original person wouldn't have got to that opportunity on their own ; they only reach it through that physical connection, through the network we 've been tracing on camera.

Text Sample 103: POS Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 8.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000318_gpt.txt

I keep coming back to the sense that what we 're living through now really started in that Thatcher-Reagan era, when this particular brand of neoliberal capitalism got unleashed. It feels like they lit the fuse on something that 's just rolled on and on, reshaping everything around markets and profit, and it 's done a lot of damage to the world. Sometimes I find myself almost blaming them personally for setting us on this course. But then I also wonder if there 's a strange kind of necessity in it, you know? That maybe things have to swing so far towards selfishness and greed before people collectively say, hang on, this is intolerable. It 's like you need that extreme to provoke a proper global reaction. And now you 've got people like Corbyn back in the UK and that fella in the States, Bill Sanders, standing up and saying, look, we all have to take responsibility, we have to fight corruption, we can't just leave it to the same old political class. It makes me think of the late eighties, when communism suddenly crumbled. For years it looked immovable, and then almost overnight it was gone. I can't help feeling we might be at a similar kind of turning point with this current system. Maybe it has to get as bad as it possibly can before it just collapses under its own weight and something new emerges. There 's something quite momentous about that idea, that we might be watching the end of a whole way of organising the world, even if we don't yet know what comes next.

Text Sample 104: POS Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 8.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000924_gpt.txt

well yeah what I was thinking was it 's almost like Chinese whispers, but not in a negative way - more that sense of a story passing along a chain of people. So you start on the Monday with one person, and then on the Tuesday you talk to someone they 're connected to, and then Wednesday it 's someone connected to that person, and so on through to Friday. Each new interviewee comes out of the previous one. Those connections could be anything - maybe they know each other on Facebook or Twitter, maybe they 've actually worked together or met at an event - but the point is that there 's a real link, not just a random pick. As you go along, what starts to come out are the things they share : similar problems, overlapping interests, common concerns. You 'd begin to see patterns in what they 're worried about or excited by. And the nice thing is that the videos themselves become the thing that ties it all together. Each one doesn't just sit on its own ; it refers back to the earlier person and sets up the next one, so you get this kind of narrative chain. By the end of the week you 've got a little story arc that leads all the way back to the original person, and at the same time keeps pushing the story forward through each new connection.

Text Sample 105: POS Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 8.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001619_gpt.txt

...so this is from Reza Aslan and Hasan Minhaj, it 's a letter they wrote to American Muslims after the Supreme Court legalised same-sex marriage in the States. They start off by talking about how a lot of Muslims in America actually supported marriage equality, even if they personally believe homosexuality is a sin. They make this distinction between what you think is morally right in your religion and what you think the law in a secular country should be. So they 're basically saying : look, you can think something is haram, but still think the state shouldn't discriminate against people who do it. Then they go into how Muslims themselves are a marginalised minority in America. They talk about Islamophobia, about Muslims being demonised in the media, treated with suspicion, and how people are always questioning whether Muslims really belong there. They remind Muslims that they 're constantly asking for understanding and empathy from wider society – asking people not to judge all Muslims because of extremists, asking people to defend their civil liberties, to stand up against surveillance, hate crimes, all of that. From there they say : if we expect other people to defend our rights, we can't then turn around and say " oh but not their rights " when it comes to LGBT people. They call that out as hypocrisy – like, you can't demand religious freedom and protection from discrimination for Muslims, and then support taking away civil rights from gay people because you don't like what they do. They 're very clear that civil rights aren't something you only extend to people you agree with or people who share your theology. They also talk about the money and energy some Muslims have put into opposing same-sex marriage – campaigning, lobbying, trying to get laws changed to restrict other people 's lives. And they contrast that with the way Muslims complain when laws or policies target them. So if we don't want people voting on our marriages, or our mosques, or our right to dress how we want, why would we be okay with people voting on whether two men or two women can get married? Another thing they bring up is coalition-building. They say Muslims in America are a small minority, so if they want to protect their own civil rights, they need allies. And the most natural allies are other marginalised groups – including LGBT communities – who also know what it feels like to be vilified and excluded. So if Muslims stand with LGBT people now, even when it 's uncomfortable, those communities are more likely to stand with Muslims when Islamophobia flares up, or when there 's another attempt to ban hijabs or spy on mosques. It 's very practical as well as moral. They make a point about empathy too : that it 's not real empathy if it only applies to people who live exactly like you. They 're saying : we know what it 's like to be told our families are " wrong ", our way of loving God is " wrong ", our presence in the country is " wrong ". LGBT people are told similar things all the time. So even if you believe their relationships are sinful, you should still recognise that feeling of being pushed to the margins and fight against it. They 're careful to say they 're not telling Muslims to change their theology or suddenly declare homosexuality halal. The letter is more about behaviour in the public sphere than private belief. You can keep your belief that something is a sin, they say, but you shouldn't support laws that deny people basic civil rights because of that. In other words : your religious beliefs shouldn't be turned into weapons against another minority. They also address this idea that supporting civil marriage equality is the same as " glorifying " homosexuality. They argue it isn't : it 's just accepting that in a pluralistic society, the government doesn't enforce any one group 's religious rules on everyone else. You can teach your kids what you believe, you can practise your faith, but you don't get to use the state to impose your rules on people who don't share your religion. Towards the end they come back to this central message : Muslims know what oppression and marginalisation feel like in America, so they should be the first to stand up when they see another vulnerable group being targeted, even if they disagree with that group 's lifestyle or beliefs. They tie it explicitly to Islamic values – things like justice, standing with the oppressed, and defending people from zulm (injustice) regardless of who they are. And they finish on that point : that defending the civil rights of LGBT people – not because you suddenly think everything they do is religiously fine, but because you believe no one should be treated as a second-class citizen – is both the right thing to do and the Muslim thing to do. They 're basically saying : if we really take our own experience of marginalisation seriously, and if we take our deen 's emphasis on justice seriously, then we can't pick and choose whose dignity we defend.

Text Sample 106: POS Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 7.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000940_gpt.txt
these higher education institutions would actually want to buy these moving image case studies precisely because they can't keep up with that kind of dynamic narrative and storytelling in their own online content. what we 're talking about is something that 's almost like a film in terms of engagement, but crucially it 's better than a film because it 's not fictional and it 's not locked into a rigid script. it 's also different from documentaries - you know, like Louis Theroux 's stuff - which pretend to be about " real life ", but in fact they 're working to a pre-conceived narrative that 's already been written before they even start filming. they 're basically retrofitting reality to a script. what we 're proposing is genuinely real-life material, unfolding as it happens, and that authenticity gives it both educational value and a competitive edge over the typical documentary-style resources universities might currently use.

Text Sample 107: POS Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 7.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000942_gpt.txt
so what we 'd actually be offering the universities is more than just the content itself. It 's the whole feeling that comes with it. The way we 'd set it up, it would look and feel like a really positive, close relationship between students and lecturers - almost like those old Oxford and Cambridge tutorials, you know? Small groups, people really talking to each other, a kind of warm, collegiate vibe rather than some anonymous, giant lecture theatre. That 's part of the value : we 'd be packaging up that sense of intimacy and care in the teaching, and making it visible. The university gets to signal, " look, this is how we work with our students, this is the kind of interaction you can expect. " It 's a sort of branding, but through genuine learning encounters. And we 'd do it in a way that isn't just ad hoc. It would be a structured, sustainable process for creating these case studies. So : clear formats, clear stages, a repeatable way of doing it so we 're not reinventing the wheel every time. The institution can see exactly what they 're buying into - how the stories are developed, how the sessions are filmed, how the material is shaped for teaching. Part of that structure would be putting the case studies online in a way that students can preview them. They can get a sense of what the material is like before they 're in the room, or before they sign up, and that 's attractive in itself. It 's transparent and it 's engaging. And then there 's the participatory side : students could actually be involved in the case studies themselves. Not just passive consumers, but potentially appearing in them, contributing to them, or helping shape the narratives. So the product is both content and process - learning material that showcases a close, tutorial-style relationship, and a clear, ongoing method for making more of it, with students able to see and maybe step into that process.

Text Sample 108: POS Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 7.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000532_gpt.txt
I think if you actually gave children really big, knotty historical subjects, you 'd get far more out of them. Take something like the suffragettes or the world wars - they 're huge, messy stories with politics, strategy, personalities, social change, all tangled together. There are loads of different hooks you can get curious about. You can come at them from different angles, ask why people did what they did, how decisions were made, what might have happened if something had gone differently. Whereas what we had at school felt like everything was sliced up into these very narrow, self-contained topics. You 'd do this tiny little bit of history, in isolation, and it never really went anywhere or connected to anything bigger. It didn't make me wonder about things, it didn't make me ask questions. So I just ended up copying stuff off the board, writing down what we were told, instead of actually thinking about it. I 'm not good at memorisation anyway, and no one ever actually taught us how to memorise, how to work with information so it sticks. So the whole thing became an exercise in short-term cramming and regurgitating, rather than learning to think historically. Which feels like a real shame, given how much my education cost. It ought to have been better at sparking curiosity than that.

Text Sample 109: POS Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 7.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000939_gpt.txt

What I 'm really getting at is that these moving image case studies are valuable precisely because they 're real and co-created, not something we 've just invented on paper. They 're grounded in authentic situations, with actual people collaborating to solve a real problem, and that authenticity gives them weight as learning tools. We can package these as complete case-study units that include the video narrative plus integrated teaching and learning resources—things tutors can pick up and use in tutorials or build into online units. The idea is that, say, if the theme is collaboration, the case offers a concrete, lived example of collaboration in action that both instructors and learners can work with effectively. Higher education institutions are the obvious customers. They struggle to keep up with new themes and emerging practices, and they often don't have the skills or the time to produce this kind of material themselves, especially not at the level of narrative quality we 're talking about. Their online content just doesn't move as fast as the kinds of stories we can generate. Because this is real-life material, co-created with participants and designed from the outset as a learning resource, it 's far more engaging—particularly for online students, who need something vivid to connect with. That 's why we can sell it at a premium : it 's authentic, it 's current, and it fills a gap universities can't easily fill on their own.

Text Sample 110: POS Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 7.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000123_gpt.txt

No, I don't actually want that. I don't want to be in one place, in one job, for life. I 'm much more drawn to the idea of running my own business and being able to move around. Every time I go somewhere new it feels reinvigorating, like I 'm waking up a bit. You learn new things, you 're forced to see things differently, and you get to try out different ways of living and working. Staying in one place, in one role, might build up a strong sense of community and roots, and I can see why that appeals, but it also feels like it would really restrict my freedom to explore other things.

Text Sample 111: POS Dim 2 - human - Score 7.00 - human/t000418_human.txt
because somebody might go no I disagree with you your misconception about this isn't the same idea of my misconception about in a way it 's easier to deal with misconceptions for some really weird reason because yeah I don't quite know why it works like that but it 's kind of almost like saying tell me what you don't know and tell me why you don't know it 's it 's a really different way of learning it 's like a pushback rather normally we tell everybody what we 've learnt and how good we are at learning and what we can intellectually argue this is the completely reverse of that but I bet you anything it includes more people and I think if you wanna actually have lots of people to talk to about things you 're interested in this is the way to build that kind of rapport with your with your fellow learners cos misconceptions are around us

Text Sample 112: POS Dim 2 - human - Score 6.00 - human/t001508_human.txt but eh yes I I think you know when when membership of the EU first took off and erm our visits to employers became European so we all trundled off round and and visiting all these employers cos everybody thought oh they 're all going to get jobs over here well I mean it didn't happen did it? cos the cultures and the education systems don't fit so erm ah you know we were there 's there 's a lot of them who want their first job abroad and by far and away you know if you want to go abroad at all costs then the easiest thing to get into is teaching English because you 've got that 's your skill that you can offer in many countries is you know highly desirable erm or erm it there were students we have a lot of international students as well who 've got you know erm a cross between different nationalities and so on who 've got their own networks and so on erm they also I think benefit by getting a masters level in the UK if they 're wanting to go abroad because that four years would have been in France the minimum four years of HE and if you 've done one of your years is a placement I don't think they really that 's not really counted so just staying on and doing a masters is is the one thing that can help but erm there were I mean we used to have all the you know all the websites and things for getting a graduate job in all these countries but the the record of people actually succeeding in any area other than teaching would be pitiful absolutely pitiful

Text Sample 113: POS Dim 2 - human - Score 6.00 - human/t000190_human.txt and a lot of like publications it 's that thing between quality and content and sometimes the content 's great it doesn't really matter how it 's written hence the tabloid press like they get obviously I mean it doesn't mean how it comes out if there 's a juicy bit of fact or juicy bit of controversial information then you know often it just gets put out regardless of you know the writing but then sometimes you just feel it now cos I read so much more than I used to and I read a lot of different stuff I can really I 'm not like you know I 'm not very critical of it but I know when I 've read something that I don't think is put together very well or I think it 's really weirdly written like that you do become better at it

Text Sample 114: POS Dim 2 - human - Score 5.00 - human/t000124_human.txt and they 'll try and put me to point er well what do you think you 're doing? and I well you know these are the reasons why I 'm going in this direction why I 've left that direction and I 'm in a transition which is working towards this and creating something different you know and if you put it in context of the bigger picture which er could be like you were talking about the idea of of the way the education market is working et cetera that one way to learn about how to do something is to talk to people who have already done it or are doing it and if you come across enough of them you 're gonna pick up little tit-bits of stuff and you 're gonna see a common theme between them and you 're gonna look at it and go well okay I can run with those things I don't like those bits but I 'll run my way this way and that 's the beauty about what entrepreneurialship stuff is that that people all are doing it by themselves they have a common thread that 's why they make it work but the reality is is all of us could be ten of us could be doing all sorts of different stuff going in different directions and we will all meet at the same point at the end and that 's the great thing about it that there 's more one more than one way to skin a cat you know? so if I 'm talking to these guys and they 're like well why are you doing this? well because I admire what you do which is you 're doing it I 'm interested in that and I 'm interested in more than just telling your story I wanna find out from you about the things that matter to you and how you 've gone about it cos I expect to learn something from that and that there 's v always value in learning something from anybody else so they might not get that they might not understand my perception of them or my perception of the bigger picture er that they 're a part of but I certainly think by the time I get there I 'll have a feeling for what that particular moment is about it might not be the bigger picture because one of the questions might be is there a bigger picture? to a certain extent or something like that well my extent will be shorter than what their extent is cos I 've already travelled a longer journey

Text Sample 115: POS Dim 2 - human - Score 5.00 - human/t000123_human.txt
well no not from my point of view cos I 've always kind of thought well well part part of it is if I was doing my own thing my own business like I 've said erm it was about the location thing I always liked the idea of moving around because that kind of reinvigorates you it 's new stuff you learn new stuff it forces you to look at thing differently you try different stuff just because you 're doing that when you 're based in one place sure you get to know the community you become better known in the community you know more people there but you 're there and that 's it you know? erm you don't necessarily get the freedom to go and have a look around and look at other stuff and

Text Sample 116: POS Dim 2 - human - Score 5.00 - human/t001670_human.txt
that 's what I mean the trouble with the erm running at is that it 's it 's outdoors running I mean i like on the grass which is very muddy and it 's a little bit more difficult than running kind of on the roads and things erm but it 's actua it 's lovely cos you get to have a a beautiful view so I think we 'd need different shoes you can get a different type of running shoes for kind of muddy terrain there 's also something called Insane Terrain on er September which is what I was gonna do in September last year but then you were poorly erm which is a running race but lots of fun so they have s er mud and sl water slides and just like fun obstacles to do to make it

Text Sample 117: POS Dim 2 - human - Score 5.00 - human/t001509_human.txt
yes college of higher education was quite common but the the tthe principle of I mean there 's a lot of theories that we work to I s there 's probably three or four different basic theories of careers guidance which is about how you what is the theory behind how people get to a decision erm and erm you know there 's a psychologically based theory which is theoretically what we 'd all work to which is psychological basically which is saying that making the assumption that once you 've got a certain academic achievement then it in effect gives you an independence so you can base a decision on your own skills your own values your own sets of interests and so I mean that was the the sort of core assumption that the majority of the career services would be based on but you had to be aware with students that you would also come across students who were going to be making a decision on another basis erm

Text Sample 118: POS Dim 2 - human - Score 5.00 - human/t000168_human.txt
do you know that 's a totally valid point and in fact one of my friends who is the horror writer who you know of he is desperate to do something erm like that but he is very unfit now in fact it was a really relaxed race today and there were people who were quite old erm and lots of people were just walking it but one of the people erm injured themselves going up the hay bale because it was too difficult so I completely agree with you and I in fact I did say to cos he was like oh it looked like so much fun and I really want to go but I can't cos I 'm so unfit and that 's what I said to him I said take your daughters to the one on that the child-friendly one and cos you have to go around with them so if I if you guys both go then I have to go around with you of course and it 'll be lots of fun erm and that that 's a way of him seeing what he can do and also just seeing what it 's like and then making him less scared cos it was a bit scary driving there on my own this morning obviously I didn't have anyone else to go with and I just thought gosh what is it going to be like? you know I just didn't have any I was I was really nervous but now I 've done one I totally want to do heaps and heaps more and erm ' s dad is doing quite a scary one in September the Spartan Race and that 's really full on and they 've got a fire and stuff in it but I 'm now thinking do you know what? I think I 'm gonna have a go cos at the end of the day it 's gonna be no more than an hour and a half of my life and if I can't do you know all of the obstacles it doesn't really matter but it just made me realise today getting up those hay bales and how easy it was that I 'm actually really quite strong so I can do the running and I can do the pulling up of the arm stuff so I reckon I 've got a good chance of succeeding that so I 'm gonna give it a go what are your thoughts?

Text Sample 119: POS Dim 2 - human - Score 5.00 - human/t000940_human.txt
because their online content won't move as fast as this the narrative in the storytelling of the case study will never match anything that they 're capable of doing themselves and I can tell you that for sure unless the one with the has got that entertainment content concept going the learning o the learning that comes from an entertaining and entertainment 's hard cos it 's so subjective so that 's why a real lives case study is almost as good as watching a film but it 's better because it 's real and it 's not a documentary cos the documentary comes from a different documentary filmmaking comes from a different perspective it will have most times it 's got preconceived ideas of what the story 's gonna be so like when you watch Louis Theroux for example the narrative has already been written before they 've even gone to America to interview the people so that 's not really fair we 're projecting it as real life but it 's been written by

Text Sample 120: POS Dim 2 - human - Score 5.00 - human/t000319_human.txt
 yeah I guess so I suppose there 's sort of peaks of activity I just can't help but feel that there 's a sort of a you know a world regime that 's geared towards economic outcomes with the environment and society being sacrificed and that seems to be the theme of the moment and the theme of the last thirty years or more but when that collapses and that shifts I don't know it just seems like a momentous thing I do see humanity becoming more loving and more open and I wonder in a way if the refugee issue is getting people to address their own prejudices and to start thinking in terms of human as humans rather than religion

4 NEG Dim 2

Text Sample 121: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -3.00 - human/t001327_human.txt
 and it started it it star it he he was getting into it was like a life story you know and and then after I don't know about ten or fifteen minutes he said oh do you want a coffee or something? yeah thank you very much so I thought oh well I know it 's a nice sunny day and I 'm missing the sunshine but I 've got nothing else to do so you know I 'll chat with him and he was telling me about all what he used to do how he used to be a colonel in the army

Text Sample 122: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -3.00 - human/t001230_human.txt
he has said as a result of all of this he 's come to a new way of thinking so three weeks three Fridays ago I met him for a cup of tea at marina and erm because he 's he 'd got some stuff to discuss and I just thought you know I haven't been responding to him and in fairness I need to just hear him out he 'd sent this letters to me and I have just ignored them not responded to them or anything erm I 've started going swimming ten minutes later so I don't have to come

Text Sample 123: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -3.00 - human/t000625_human.txt
 yeah just not sure that anybody else is going to try and but I was saying to today at work the way the way he 's being now I mean I don't believe for one minute that he 's being malicious you know he just doesn't know me better and he just needs to grow up and learn that when he 's got somebody to lean on who is going to come back in the pecking order and and say okay we 'll do this and he 's always going to have someone to do it for him and right now that someone has got to be me

Text Sample 124: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -3.00 - human/t000292_human.txt
 so erm we did we all went out we went up to the Co-op erm and he 'd just started to fall asleep as we got to the Co-op so I took and carried on walking then he woke up again on the way back and then the heavens opened and it threw it down so we were running back to the house and he went to sleep so we got him in the house and he was asleep and nobody moved and nobody said anything so I said well I 'll leave now but she sent me a photo of him in his bouncer forty minutes later so it was only a quick nap so he 's gonna be ready for bed tonight because this morning he

Text Sample 125: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -3.00 - human/t000172_human.txt

she 'd be like that 's but it mean yeah but never seriously if you when we you have never ask him a question because you ask him a especially if you 're trying to get something done because if you ask him a question he will literally go on for about five minutes not even joking five minutes just chatting on about nothing literally in geography last year I 'd asked him one thing I 'd be like oh is the erm does A match up with four and he 'd be like yeah so can you tell me why A matches up with four? and why the AlasAlas why Alaska is suffering from the? blah blah blah blah blah blah blah blah I really like

Text Sample 126: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -3.00 - human/t000548_human.txt

probably I don't know because basically I finish my antibiotics tomorrow like lunchtime and so I think it 's alright to go out because there would have been like a whole like half day but then erm I haven't seen in in a while and he said he has news for me and so he asked if I wanted to go out with him on Wednesday and I don't really wanna do both days so I don't know which one to do at the minute or whether to just try it cos can't do tomorrow cos he 's got cheerleading and then

Text Sample 127: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t000009_human.txt

and I said well he he 's up at half five when he 's on mornings he 's on shifts it 's only once every three weeks so and he said you know if it gets if it is loud and if anybody 's bothered by it he 'll park it up the road a bit or round the corner a bit and so it 'll only be an odd night an odd morning and I just said to him you need to get the thing stuck in the exhaust and only take it out when you 're going off doing other stuff in the day

Text Sample 128: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t000552_human.txt

so then erm and stopped talking to me and then every time they were in kitchen why why and like every time I see them and smile at them and say hi they ignore me what 've I done? oh I 've said something and anyway it was about three months later that I found out and it were were hammered then one of the hockey lads dropped him off at my door and said you need to look after him cos we 're going cos he 's been sick so I looked after him put him to sleep got him some water and like all that sorta shit

Text Sample 129: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t000551_human.txt

well he probably didn't want to teach either I know I know he was he was a wicked teacher I mean if anything went wrong his lesson he 'd have you in front of him and he used to have what they this great big slipper like that it was a massive one and this boy who er he was he was a bit well he was sort of on the feminine side but he wasn't fe feminine at all he was you know he he 'd do himself up and er he grabbed this boy and he tried to get him the in this cupboard where he could get his slipper and he woah that was it cos was like a dad

Text Sample 130: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001383_human.txt

so I took her to the cinema and we we got erm the bus back into town cos you had to go like twenty minutes out of town to the something called the where all the cinema complex were and stuff like that and I took her out we came back and we got dropped off in the middle of town and it were like a Friday night and we were walking up this street and my ex boyfriend came up to me and like swung for me cos er he were a violent shit and I 'd

Text Sample 131: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001379_human.txt

it 's the one mm d er 's been playing for so I wrote back and said sorry 's doing the tennis tournament can't do it erm and I said has only played matches lately we wondered if he 's sort of been dropped from the teams erm I said sends the emails to so I may not always get them and just left it like that so he came back with oh I 'm really sorry has certainly not been dropped from the teams at a meeting we had I told the other captains that it 's it would be better for us if and played in the same match so in effect giving a promotion to 's team so they didn't realise he hadn't been playing so I replied he said I 'll apologise to him later so I replied and I 've said so well actually hasn't played in ages because of his tennis commitments I 've even asked to tell that he can't be relied on as a member of the team sai when sees at school then asks him to play in the matches and he always says yes so erm so that 's where the misunderstanding has come I said but next season oh said if they want to play next season he 'd be very happy to have them both said next season we don't know what 's doing but he may not play at all but definitely wants to and he wants to progress as much as he can because he wants to use it as one of his gCSE sports so that 's where he 's got that from he 's obviously read that email I said there 's no need to apologise to we could always have emailed you

Text Sample 132: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001269_human.txt

like an old because no no no too good to be true and it couldn't come off that 's not right that 's not true somebody 's just turned up to him and said we 're running an employment project erm it needs to start in April they 'll be paid the whole gr the whole year in advance in November probably space so they could hold it for them till November till they get their money and I 'm so I told him you know what? that 's not true he said no no she said it to me I said no er you 'll find I think that that 's not true oh no no no she 's no she 's very convinced but I 'm sorry but I 'll go for what

Text Sample 133: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001264_human.txt

erm every time like Moriarty threatened him it was like your friend Lestrade you 're friends with obviously erm Watson and your brother Mycroft but they never never threatened him with her because h obviously he never regarded her as a friend even though she like really liked him so that 's he went to her and was like can you do me a favour? cos you 're not under threat because clearly he doesn't know that we 're friends and so and so that was like halfway through the episode he goes can you do me a favour? and then you don't get to see the re you don't get to see like the conversation he had

Text Sample 134: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001263_human.txt

but see he didn't say anything like that to me I would 've thought that 'd be something that he 'd say cos when I asked him like I was meeting er see he told me just before er like I got in llast night from going to Next and then he told me and then you knocked on the door see you 're always why are you always disturbing me? and erm and so I couldn't speak to him right then and he was d he was like on Ebay on Amazon at that point he was going I 'm looking for stuff to buy and so then and then so then she started so she was obviously like she texted me like fuming mate I 'm fuming and I 'm like oh god I know what this is gonna be about now and erm and so she was like yeah yyou won't y like can't see him Boxing Day cos of his mum or something and I was like I was like oh alright okay and then er and then a little while later she 's like oh you know you know he said I couldn't see him Boxing Day? apparently he 's he 's he did that cos he wants to surprise me on Boxing Day and come round to my house and I was like oh that 's good then at least you 're seeing him and then a a couple of days later she was like pretty sure he just said that to shut me up and I was like what? I was like what?

Text Sample 135: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001261_human.txt

Text Sample 136: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001260_human.txt

has said that sh he spends too much time talking to and now and that he can he can only talk to her for a certain amount of time a day at certain times and she texted me she went had to get up at half seven to facetime him and like I was like I was like that 's weird she went I was like that 's weird and then she she was like yeah I know I really hate his mum and I was like I was like not not being funny but is he not doing anything about this?

Text Sample 137: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001257_human.txt

it 's because he 's somewhere new and em he seems to be quite like oh what 's that what 's that? And he gets excited but when I was with Camilla and em the lady and he just he was sitting like this and he just went bumm he he 'd stopped himself sleeping for so long he fight he 'd fought it for so long then he em he was just bumm but he doesn't do that very much usually I have to feed him to sleep or rock him to sleep or something but he 'll get tired he 'll just go

Text Sample 138: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001256_human.txt

that 's great That 's why I 'm thinking my my other half will love it in Granada you just you order a drink and gain food my dad actually got to the point where he said eh how do you ask he phoned me up not bring Cos he my dad was great like that he 'd just go off and go to places by himself and try and speak a little bit of the language cos I went to uni and em I phoned him oh dad I 've finished where are you? I 'm in the hairdresser

Text Sample 139: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t000053_human.txt

yes erm but so I just don't know we 'll s oh I sort of left it as well the other thing was he said I could fly to Rome but Perugia is nearer only of course that 's a small airport and there are flights from Stansted well I don't want the you know Ryanair of something I don't want to drive down to Stansted in order to fly to Perugia but otherwise he would drive to Rome to pick me up and it 's a something like a hundred and fifty kilometres well I don't really want to land him with doing that now so in er I didn't say much but at the time I was thinking oh that 's making me feel awkward

Text Sample 140: NEG Dim 2 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t000049_human.txt

and there 's a bit of a lake there and he suddenly with the minibus ran off in the dark saying I 'm not ready to go home he ran off so they all went looking for him in the dark and they were worried about this lake anyway at the end erm his er his partner 's she said no I 'm going home so they all had to get in the minibus and off they went so at three AM er his mother is looking after the child back at the house and er at three AM the partner says I 'm a little bit worried about him so his mother goes off looking for him and an uncle had found him and and he was in a minibus he 'd broken into a minibus or a or something there and was asleep in the morph suit and at three half past three in the morning he 'd found himself with his feet in the lake absolutely frozen so he went to he nearly went in the lake clearly so er he broke into

Text Sample 141: NEG Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001327_gpt.txt
so he just started telling me his whole life story really, went on for about ten, fifteen minutes, you know, and he was so friendly he even offered me a coffee. we ended up deciding to stay and chat with him instead of going back out in the sunshine. he was saying how he used to be a colonel in the Jordanian army, then later on he got transferred to the air force, and at one point he actually had thirty-two thousand men under him.

Text Sample 142: NEG Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000292_gpt.txt
yeah in the end we all went up to the Co-op with him, and he did nod off in the pram for a bit, but then he woke up again on the way back. And then of course it absolutely poured down, so we were running back to the house with him, and as soon as we got in he went off to sleep again. We all just kept really quiet while he was asleep. I decided I 'd better go then, leave them to it. She sent me a photo later and he 'd only slept about forty minutes in total. He 'll be ready for bed tonight, that one.

Text Sample 143: NEG Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001221_gpt.txt
I 've been swimming on Monday nights for years, nine till ten, straight after the triathlon club, and for ages I never even saw him there. Now he 's started coming back, and in this letter or text he sent he basically said I must be coming to see him, because I 'm always there waiting to get in when they finish. I told him I 've swum on Mondays for years, it 's just what I do. Then, because he said I could easily have come five minutes later, I deliberately went later the following week, just to make the point and to avoid feeding into what he seems to be imagining.

Text Sample 144: NEG Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001623_gpt.txt
This bloke just turned up on the doorstep, said he 'd been sent by Eon to change our meter. It wasn't even booked or anything, he just said he often does extra ones if he 's nearby and it 's convenient, and that it 'd only take him about fifteen minutes. So I 'm stood there thinking about what I 'm in the middle of, but he 's very matter-of-fact, like, " If it suits you I can just do it now, won't take long. " The whole thing was completely unannounced, but he clearly makes a habit of squeezing in these extra jobs when he can.

Text Sample 145: NEG Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000982_gpt.txt
yeah he still does yeah he had a game the other week actually, playing against some school kids, cos obviously he 's teaching now so it was like a teachers versus pupils thing I think. He 's still captain of the reserves, so he hasn't played for the first team this season, they 've kept him there. Every now and then, if he 's free, he 'll turn out for that other side as well, just to get a game in. But at the minute he 's in Wales, that 's where he is now, so he 's not around for our games.

Text Sample 146: NEG Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001698_gpt.txt
she was just really emotionally broken at the time, you know, it was a really bad time for everybody, but it 's sort of been repaired now, largely. things are okay between them these days. and his dad was always this very hard-working, high-profile doctor, so he did see them all the time, but he just wasn't really present in that way. like, I remember asking him what was like as a child, and he just couldn't answer, he kind of dodged it. and later on said, well, that 's because he just wasn't there, really, when he was little. it 's that kind of thing, not some big dramatic explanation, just that his work and everything meant he wasn't actually around enough to know.

Text Sample 147: NEG Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001348_gpt.txt
and he rang up one day about a hospital appointment, and of course we shared the phone at that stage, so I answered it. I 'd never actually heard his voice before, and it was so hoarse and strange that for a moment I honestly thought someone was putting on a funny voice and having a joke. Then I realised it really was him, and that something must be very wrong. It all went so fast after that. They 'd just been on holiday, and it started off as what they thought was just a sore throat while they were away. From that point it was incredibly quick - about three months, I think, from that first sore throat to when he died. In that time he just wasted away, absolutely skeletal in the end, because he simply couldn't swallow anything. It was that rapid, really, from an apparently minor throat problem on holiday to him being desperately ill and then gone in such a short space of time.

Text Sample 148: NEG Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001015_gpt.txt
he was still really grouchy, you know, just sat in his pushchair in the kitchen while we were faffing about with the dishwasher, trying to get it sorted. I could see them coming up the drive - her as well - so I went and let them in and brought them through. I said straightaway, like, " he 's really grouchy, he hasn't slept much, " just to warn them what he was like. Then I handed him over anyway and was like, " go on, have a cuddle, " trying to make it nice for them even though he was tired and a bit fed up.

Text Sample 149: NEG Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001012_gpt.txt
Well, in Australia at that flat, there was a back gate that opened onto an alleyway. One day he decided he wanted to see where the gate went, so he opened it. Of course, the dog shot straight out, and he went running after it. He lost the dog, and I had to wake your dad up, even though he was jetlagged, so that I could take the car and drive around looking. I was going up and down the streets, and eventually I found him walking along, absolutely in tears, saying he couldn't get the dog back.

Text Sample 150: NEG Dim 2 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001136_gpt.txt
so yeah his ex was actually Hungarian, one of the girls who worked there, and they 'd only broken up like two weeks before. One night when we were finishing our shift he literally followed me out as I was leaving work and asked if I wanted to go for a drink, just the two of us. I was like, um, I 'm leaving in a month, I really don't want to get involved in anything now, so I tried to put him off a bit. But I still kind of agreed, so we texted to arrange something for a Tuesday. And I thought, right, I 'll make it really clear this isn't a big date, so I properly dressed down on purpose - no makeup at all, hair not done, and I wore my glasses, the whole " don't fancy me " look. I was really not keen on getting into a relationship so close to leaving, but I still went along with it.

Text Sample 151: NEG Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t001327_gpt.txt
he he just sort of launched into his life story really you know we were only going to pop in for a moment and next thing you know he 'd been talking ten fifteen minutes. he offered me a coffee and i thought oh well never mind the sunshine we 'll stay and have a chat. and then he starts telling me he 'd been a colonel in the jordanian army, then got transferred to the air force, and at one point he had thirty-two thousand men under him.

Text Sample 152: NEG Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t001647_gpt.txt
Well it absolutely opened his eyes. He was quite shocked, really, seeing what actually happens - the stirrups, the speculum, fingers up your bum, all of that. It suddenly dawned on him what women routinely put up with, all the smears and gynae stuff we just accept as normal. For him it was extraordinary that you could meet someone and five minutes later they 're poking about like that. And he 's the complete opposite - he won't go near a doctor if he can help it, and the thought of anyone doing a rectal examination on him is just beyond the pale.

Text Sample 153: NEG Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t001221_gpt.txt
I 've been going to that Monday night swim for years, straight after the triathlon club, and for ages I never even saw him there. Now he 's started coming back, and in this letter or text he 's sent he 's saying I must be coming to see him, because I 'm always waiting to get in when they finish. So I told him, no, I 've swum on Mondays for years, this is just what I do. And then, because he said I could easily have come five minutes later if I wanted, I actually did go later the following week, deliberately, just to make the point.

Text Sample 154: NEG Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000502_gpt.txt
I said to him, what are you going to do for forty-five minutes after school, because there 's no point in you coming all the way home and then going straight back again. And he said that a couple of the others in his year are doing it, so he 'll just hang around with them. Apparently they only announced it quite recently in PE, so that 's why it 's all been a bit last minute. It sounds like they 're still trying to get enough numbers together to make it run properly.

Text Sample 155: NEG Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000218_gpt.txt
they 're literally on the phone all the time, like every night, and it goes on for ages. even when it 's really late and I 'm trying to sleep, I can hear him through the wall, just this constant monotone drone. his voice is so irritating, it just does my head in. and the worst bit is I 'm lying there thinking, are they talking dirty or something, and I really don't wanna know but I can't not hear it. it makes it a hundred times worse, just imagining what they 're saying. I honestly just wish he 'd shut up for five minutes. I don't get how they have that much to talk about, like every single night. what can you possibly be saying for that long?

Text Sample 156: NEG Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000292_gpt.txt
so in the end we all went up to the Co-op together with him in the pushchair, and he did actually nod off on the way there. But then he woke up again on the way back, and of course that 's when it started absolutely throwing it down, so we were running back to the house with him. As soon as we got in he went off to sleep again, so we were all creeping about, keeping really quiet while he was asleep. I said, well I 'll go then, and I left them to it. Later she sent me a photo of him - he 'd only done about forty minutes. I said he 'll be ready for bed tonight.

Text Sample 157: NEG Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000172_gpt.txt
honestly he just goes on and on about stuff that no one even asked about. Like if you ask him a really simple question, he turns it into this massive explanation. In geography we literally just had to match things up, and someone asked something tiny, and he turned it into like a five minute lecture. He started going on about why Alaska is suffering and all this random stuff that had nothing to do with what we were actually doing. It 's so annoying because you just want a quick answer and instead you get this whole story that 's completely irrelevant to the question.

Text Sample 158: NEG Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t001442_gpt.txt
so after the friendship properly ended I didn't hear anything for months and then out of the blue I got this drunken series of apologetic texts from him. I did accept the apology, and I texted back saying he 'd been a bit of a twat but that I still loved him. and then again, nothing for months, complete silence. then today I suddenly get this very casual message from him : " sorry to hear Terry Wogan 's died I thought of you kiss kiss kiss, " as if absolutely nothing had happened between us.

Text Sample 159: NEG Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t001440_gpt.txt
he did really badly at school, just messed around, and then carried on in the same vein for a couple of years afterwards, not really settling to anything. then he decided to go down the apprenticeship route in engineering, which was a bit of a turnaround for him. he stuck at that, did his apprenticeship properly, and then went on and did a fourth year so he could get a higher qualification on top of it. once he 'd got that under his belt he went off travelling for a while, really made the most of it, and eventually ended up in australia. he 's out there now and it looks like he 's probably going to settle there.

Text Sample 160: NEG Dim 2 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t001438_gpt.txt

I was just standing there yesterday, opposite the X-ray department, in my little booth, and this family came past after a scan. The bloke had a shaved head and tattoos, and his wife and little boy were with him, she was pushing him along. He glanced over and I saw him reading the words on my booth, and you could just see something change in his face. Then I heard something about him having a CT scan next, and it just hit me. I thought, he 's probably just been told he 's got cancer. It was all in that moment, the look on his face and the way they were together. It really brought home how fragile everything is, just like that.

5 POS Dim 3

Text Sample 161: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 9.00 - human/t000031_human.txt

like it 's awkward it 's really awkward and I 'm like stuck in the middle of it because they always ask me about like even last night like she hadn't bothered telling anybody else that she wasn't coming so like I basically said on the girl 's group like oh erm dinner at for my birthday let me know if you can make it and everybody else said yes and like just like rather than cos she doesn't wanna look bad she wo n't say like oh I can't make it so she just wo n't say anything but then it 's even more noticeable so like erm today was just like question mark like asking like cos she said like oh what are you doing for your birthday? and then nobody replied and then she put question mark like to say like oh she 's away and apparently had to like like text her to say like are you coming tonight? do I need to play like lay an extra place? because she just doesn't say anything and then it just makes yourself it I dunno that 's what makes her a target do you know what I mean? it 's really bad

Text Sample 162: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 9.00 - human/t001192_human.txt

we put in but then wi somebody was er saying actually you know you ought to put in cos if they find out and you er okay yeah we 'll put in if we do need to so we put in for planning permission and then the woman came round to look at the garden look at the area and I 'm thinking this was half-built do you know what I mean? and we 're still putting in for planning permission so I was saying ah yes erm and she said I 'll meet you round the back and she started walking round the bungalow I 'm going through the house thinking what do I do what do I do? and I can't ring cos there 's nothing he can do he 's away and er er er

Text Sample 163: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 8.00 - human/t001628_human.txt

so I am responsible for all the education liaison that the company does so at the moment there is an enormous erm shortage of engineers in the UK so my role is to work with schools universities put events on and increasingly work with er at government level on this issue around shortage of of erm engineers so it 's sort of divided into quarters really erm in those four areas so it 's because realise that they had to do something there was always bits that went on but nobody was coordinating it and nobody was actually giving a strategy to it nobody just knows what the other person was doing cos it 's a company that works very much in silos you know they 've got these fifteen sixteen divisions that all work in silos and don't very often cross fertilise so er all the education stuff that they were doing nobody knew what was happening either so it was a bit ridiculous so you 'd be in contact with and have a conversation and somebody 'd say oh yes somebody from your company rang last week and we 've done this this and this and you think oh well I want you to do this this and this and nobody does repeat so you know so they were all getting irritated and there 's no particular cucohesion and strategy with erm with schools either so that 's sort of really what I do and I 've just built I started absolutely nothing completely blank nobody had ever done the job before

Text Sample 164: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 8.00 - human/t000942_human.txt
erm no not only are you going to be able to provide some learning to fill some stuff that 's gonna be difficult for you to fill otherwise but certainly it 's also giving you that warm touchy friendly feeling because everybody wants to say oh we are a lovely university and we are so friendly with our students and they love us so you 're trying to warm warm up the bed so to speak by giving people this expectation that okay this case study may not come university but the fact that you 've putting it in your online course at university by association means that students might expect that they can do something similar themselves they cou they too could go to a lecturer and say well you know what I 've had this great idea how about we go for a coffee and have a chat about it? and the lecturer was like oh my god somebody 's come and asked me to go and have a coffee with them and they 're an undergrad student I don't even talk to undergrads the you know what I mean? so there 's this kind of like you 're selling on a a feeling you 're not selling just a product you 're selling a feeling of the product too like a warmth to it bringing in this idea of like Oxford and Cambridge where you used to go round for a cup of tea with your you know your personal tutor and your personal tutor would ask you all sorts of questions about your life and what you want to do with your life and give you biscuits that idea you know? friendly warm helpful and the good thing about it is is that what you 're what you 're proving to others is that it 's sustainable cos what they 're saying is you can come if you want to you can come to our website you can have a look and preview at some of our case studies if you want to make a case study with us about something we are happy to do that but it needs to be done in a formatted way meaning we need you to come and do Monday and then get a person to come and do Tuesday and then Wednesday and Thursday it 's not just come and ring on our door on our door and say hey and have got this fantastic idea for a case study you 're like great but it 's a format that we have to put that into

Text Sample 165: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 8.00 - human/t000108_human.txt
but chances are that somebody else will catch it from me and when we found out it was on a Friday afternoon we thought oh god okay I need to tell everybody there 's going to be panic so I sent out an email to say we 've had at that point here instances of this this is what it is this is a link to the NHS website about it have a look at it look out for symptoms I 'm coming round with antibacterial wipes and we wiped every single surface in that building well in those two buildings entrance doors light bulbs taps the kettle handles every single thing fridge handles everything we could think of erm so we didn't have sick pay at that point but I I sat down with the finance director on Friday and I said look these people have had this you know we said to one of them that 's fine we don't want you in we 're telling you not to come in cos you 're contagious so we 'll pay you and she said now it 'll be exactly the same for all four of them so yeah something like that like you say about passing things on and so then and then so then she started so she was obviously like she texted me like fuming mate I 'm fuming and I 'm like oh god I know what this is gonna be about now and erm and so she was like yeah yyou wo n't y like can't see him Boxing Day cos of his mum or something and I was like I was like oh alright okay and then er and then a little while later she 's like oh you know you know he said I couldn't see him Boxing Day? apparently he 's he 's he did that cos he wants to surprise me on Boxing Day and come round to my house and I was like oh that 's good then at least you 're seeing him and then a a couple of days later she was like pretty sure he just said that to shut me up and I was like what? I was like what?

Text Sample 166: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 8.00 - human/t001261_human.txt

Text Sample 167: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 8.00 - human/t000923_human.txt
yeah so you could like you could the first ever video you can video somebody and then you go right how do we know each other? we know each other because this is our connection point then you explore common interests and then somebody says oh and then my friend or my lecturer or my mum or my dad or something like this right? and then you go okay would you ask your friend person whoever if we can erm if they wanna be videoed and you go yeah alright okay so straight on yes or no then the person agrees or not and they come along and they 're videoed and then they 're talking about their connection points and then you 've got this kind of little cluster which is about how people are actually forming networks either over the internet or in physical world or in a virtual world or whatever so when it comes to it the person who you originally started talking to was the person you were genuinely interested in their story but the backdrop story is how people actually help each other and what they 're trying to achieve and how you 've got this common interests with people so it 's kind of like you 've got the main character in a film but you 've got these secondary characters and they are actually driving the story forward so it 's kinda like you can have a little bubble thing where you 've got this world of this is about 's social networks are these people and the way that these people are operating within this 's world is what 's important to and that 's how things get done okay? so what 's the outcome of talking to his lecturer is his lecturer said you 've got a fantastic idea I think this should be an undergraduate research project and then says oh if I hadn't had that lecturer and been able to talk to him physically I wouldn't have been able to get to the point that I needed to be at

Text Sample 168: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 8.00 - human/t001204_human.txt
and even if he turns around and says oh I can't offer you more at this point you say right okay well I wanna know that if I do X Y and Z I will get more money cos otherwise there 's no incentive and they know that they can't say right this is what this is how we think you 've fared over the last year your goals for the next twelve months are this and expect you to do it for no extra money that 's not how it works yes? fighting face but yeah all the

Text Sample 169: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 8.00 - human/t001191_human.txt
yes yes labels yes well on the other side they say outward bound but on the other side they say outward bound yes yes yes oh right so it 's just right ah yeah that 's yeah that 's right actually and I 've already got the cabin number which is which I know is a is a berth that is yes yes but there 's no letter with it? no letter sort of saying we are pleased to upgrade you? no letter saying we are pleased to upgrade you et cetera et cetera? yeah yes interesting yes good good right so just put them on the suitcase and then I 'll have them all all ready actually I was sort of looking forward to a letter which did confirm that we are not expected to pay extra but I mean no way you know they would have said there and then that this this you know an upgrade is going to cost you X pounds but as says if they 've got s cabins left they are more likely to sell an ordinary cabin which they can sell at a cheaper rate you know than a top quality cabin which they wouldn't want to drop the price so they 're it 's a sort of double gain er you know they are benefitting from two very pleased passengers of you and I and they might well manage to sell our old cabin er no unbelievably good the roads were qui yes really? yeah well then I 'm I arrived just minutes after that in that case cos I 'd actually said to them I would probably arrive at about two yeah and I got there at one I mean London was as clear as a bell yeah I mean if you 'd been a pedestrian quite a different matter they must the world and his wife was in erm Parliament square and Downing street but has it? well you know it it 's not very good at the minute now but in fact during the day it was absolutely fine not gloriously sunny but it rained until I got onto the M3 and then it actually stopped raining and it 's only just started to rain really heavily now I mean it there 's obviously a bit of a storm coming across well obviously coming across from the west and from where you are yeah yes right okay darling well just put the tabs I know what nu oh god yes I I know what number of cabin we 've got to put on it erm so I 'll fill I 'll fill all that in when we come right dear? right we 've erm we did a we did a little shop in Lidl and amazi you know those enormous great er l oh oh

Text Sample 170: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 8.00 - human/t001417_human.txt
can't wait yeah do you know I bought erm my brother-in-law who is coming with us a voucher for the for his birthday September and another one for Christmas so and I you know with a note in his birthday one in September we 'll go together to the in January and we 'll get a a refresher lesson you know cos I was just a disaster on the slopes and I 'd like to go to the and and have a lesson oh yes yes he said yeah great and then I said to the boys do you wanna go? and they said yes and we 'll do something I said but theirs 'll just be a cheaper version and it 'll have to be at weekend whereas I could go in the week as could anyway so I 'm all set looking at what there was on the internet he came after Christmas and it oh I 've had a look on the internet at the I said yes said perfect he said there 's an over-fifties erm morning three hours and it comes with a cup of tea

Text Sample 171: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 8.00 - human/t001113_human.txt
 erm yes another thing we were talking about last night we were talking about erm I can't remember it was something to do with sort of not rape culture exactly but it was sort of erm er sort of like victim shaming or educating gi oh no we were talking about having children and then we said I were so worried about erm if I had a daughter cos I 'd just feel so protective all the time if she ever left the house I 'd be worrying like what would happen to her er and you know well I sort of said but you know it 's not her responsibility to learn how to sort of er protect herself it should be sort of the responsibility of or the education of young men saying

Text Sample 172: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 8.00 - human/t001187_human.txt
 nobody I knew so I just said to a man that had a clipboard you know he 's here to to to run what year? year nine oh no I 'm year seven boys erm try him over there so I went to him he 's here to run year nine boys what 's his name? duh duh duh oh he 's not on my list oh what school is he at? I said the oh that 's strange he 's not on my list doesn't matter that 's fine what 's his name? wrote it down and put a tick next to it right it 's er one o'clock as instructed he said I said well what time do we need to be back here? he said well quarter past two he said do you want to walk the route? I said well we can see it it 's er up that hill and down and then up that hill and down you know it didn't look very nice and there was pplenty of people walking it I said to do you wanna walk the route? pouring with rain he said no I said er I said no nor me come on we 'll go back to the car so we moved the car cos once we knew where we were we could see a space closer so we moved the car quarter past two we went back over there it was so wet the mud was unbelievable cos there 'd already been three races and erm we found the man that we 'd s been speaking to and we awe asked for the bib and he said er what school did you say he was at? I said the oh he said I thought you said the the ' s not one of ours where 's that? I said he went that 's I said I know he said this is

Text Sample 173: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 7.00 - human/t001665_human.txt
erm and I said just say thank you and let me pay for just one thing out of everything please and he was like okay then and that 's only because erm we 'd left the antiques place and I 'd chosen this erm and I was going to buy it for myself and he said oh I 'll get it for your birthday and I said oh you know I think do you not think sixty pound is a bit excessive for a birthday present really? I said but why don't we go halves then because I would have bought it for myself anyway? no no no I 'll pay for it and I said well I I feel a bit uncomfortable actually if you pay pay that much for a birthday gift I I would really appreciate it you 'd just let me pay half cos I just think that 's a bit

Text Sample 174: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 7.00 - human/t000139_human.txt
 I rang a guy I rang well I er I emailed a guy from that I found online and he rang me at the beginning of the week and he was just like oh like can I come and have a look? and I wa like oh I 'll make sure you 've got all the bits that you need and I 'll give you like a a price depending on like you know how big the job looks et cetera et cetera I was like yeah yeah that 's absolutely fine he 's like so like you know when when would be best? I 'm like well boboth me and my partner we 're at work all day so it will have to be in the evening he 's like oh yeah evening 's fine erm half expecting him to say like oh I 'll come by on like X evening or whatever and he was like okay well I 'll give you a ring at some point in the week before I head over just to make sure you 're in cos that 's convenient

Text Sample 175: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 7.00 - human/t000665_human.txt
I said oh how i you know how is she? oh she 's great yeah she 's really really lovely and I said oh okay how 's er how 's getting on? yeah yeah she 's okay she had she had the erm she kind of had the baby blues last weekend I said oh okay sh s but like she 's fine now and erm I was just thinking to myself like erm cos I 'd seen on Facebook that she 'd been posting all these like you can share posts from five years ago so you can share a memory

Text Sample 176: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 7.00 - human/t000863_human.txt
yeah oh it 's just the used car phone that 's this here it 's just notorious they 're not very professional as you can tell they don't answer phone calls they don't get back to you she 's had to I I don't think they 're gonna get anywhere and I think but I think they will need to go to the ombudsman er almost as a way of registering their erm negligence so it 's probably wo n't get very far because they offered three hundred quid and she 's turned it down she hasn't you know three hundred quid for the inconvenience and the anxiety cos she came back and thought she 'd been burgled

Text Sample 177: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 7.00 - human/t001269_human.txt
like an old because no no no too good to be true and it couldn't come off that 's not right that 's not true somebody 's just turned up to him and said we 're running an employment project erm it needs to start in April they 'll be paid the whole gr the whole year in advance in November probably space so they could hold it for them till November till they get their money and I 'm so I told him you know what? that 's not true he said no no she said it to me I said no er you 'll find I think that that 's not true oh no no no she 's no she 's very convinced but I 'm sorry but I 'll go for what

Text Sample 178: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 7.00 - human/t001258_human.txt
so funny right? I went so er I went way too far right we were in shopping and erm oh my god and erm so we were in shopping and sh the the dad was looking for a Christmas er pudding Christmas cake and he said to mum oh you know I 'm not gonna get it from here cos it 's too expensive and then he went wandering off and she was like they 'd already been it 's not like arguing it was just bickering do you know what I mean? so they were a bit fed up with each other

Text Sample 179: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 7.00 - human/t000956_human.txt
thank you very much and he was like yeah okay I get that erm and then and he said well she just doesn't really want us to talk very much anymore and I was like okay that 's fine you know she 's compl she 's come over from Australia to be with you I don't wanna ruin that you know if she 's if she doesn't like me talking to you let 's just you know stop talking then so that carried on and then a week later on my birthday he sent me a message at half past ten at night er you know I 'd just got back from Barcelona I was really happy got a message from him saying erm happy birthday I hope you had the most amazing day just wanted to message you even though we 're not supposed to be talking but I just want you to know that I still really care and I was like oh great thanks just ruined my bir and then the cheek of it the end of it was like please don't reply to this message

Text Sample 180: POS Dim 3 - human - Score 7.00 - human/t000924_human.txt
 yeah it 's like a Chinese whispers like you could do say you know Monday to Friday or or whatever so you start out with on Monday and you end up with by Friday and then you interview on Friday and you go okay so you 're coming here through a connections of other people who 's your connection? well my connection is okay right well we met on Wednesday so we know a little bit about him so tell me okay what 's going on there? oh right well we 're trying to solve a problem okay this is the problem right good so let 's talk about it and then it 's like okay er not have you erm met from Monday? no but I can do now because I know how this works I know that we 're connected through the social media or we are connected because we were introduced physically at a café whatever so what you 're doing is this you 're reflecting back on the initial person who started off the here 's a problem and then you 've actually shown how people are coming on board sharing their common interests and sharing their common concerns and that they 're showing that they can go back to that person and have the connection that they didn't originally have had the videos not been made cos the videos in a way this is the narrative it 's pushing the story forward

Text Sample 181: POS Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - profiled_gpt/t001234_gpt.txt
 so I 'd said to him I 'd got a meeting on the Friday, and then he started firing all these texts back at me, asking if I could change it, sort of pushing, you know, " what, you 've arranged a meeting for a Friday afternoon? " and questioning whether it was even a real meeting. I just left most of them, didn't answer, because I didn't want to get drawn in. In the end I replied once, quite firmly, and said no, I wasn't moving it, because somebody was coming up from Birmingham and it was potentially really important. Then he texted back saying it sounded too good to be true to be work, which I just thought, oh here we go, and I ignored that as well.

Text Sample 182: POS Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - profiled_gpt/t001038_gpt.txt
 I see you as someone who 's evolving, you know. You 're not stuck ; you 're in motion. People aren't fixed objects - we 're dynamic, changing all the time on so many levels : physically, psychologically, spiritually, emotionally. Who you were ten years ago isn't who you are now, and who you are now wo n't be who you are in ten years. That 's natural, and it 's actually really positive. This feels like a major crossroads for you, a real life junction. On one side there 's " business as usual ” – the old patterns, the familiar routes, the people and habits that don’t quite fit anymore. On the other side there ’s this new, wider path opening up, with more space, more possibility, more alignment with who you are becoming. You need to be assertive about that. Own it. Going to bed at ten, being sober, choosing health – these aren’t things to apologise for, they ’re things to be proud of. Stop putting yourself down for it, or framing it like some kind of limitation. It ’s not a defect, it ’s a decision. Be proud of the choices you ’re making now. Stand in them. Say, “ This is who I am at the moment, and that ’s okay. ” The more you do that, the more solid you ’ll feel in yourself, and the easier it ’ll be to keep walking that wider path instead of slipping back into “ business as usual. ”

Text Sample 183: POS Dim 3 – profiled_gpt – Score 5.00 – profiled_gpt/t001619_gpt.txt

...so this is like a letter yeah, from Reza Aslan and Hasan Minhaj, and it ’s to American Muslims after they legalised same-sex marriage in the States. I ’ll just read it out. They ’re basically talking straight to Muslims in America, and they ’re saying, look, loads of Muslims actually supported marriage equality, even though nobody really talks about that. They point out that Muslims themselves are a marginalised group over there, and they get treated badly, and because of that they should understand what it feels like to be pushed to the side and discriminated against. They go on about how, if you know what it ’s like to be a minority, then you can’t just pick and choose whose rights you care about. They say Muslims should be fighting for everyone ’s civil rights, and that includes LGBT people. It ’s not just like, “ oh, we want our own rights and that ’s it. ” They ’re saying you have to stand up for other groups too, even if you don’t personally agree with everything they do. They talk about marriage equality specifically, and how some Muslims are against same-sex marriage while at the same time asking other people to feel sorry for Muslims and to understand them when Muslims get treated unfairly. They say that ’s hypocritical – you can’t be asking for empathy and protection for your own community, and then turn around and try to deny another group the same thing. They also mention that Muslims in America are already marginalised, and because of that, Muslims should know better than to join in with campaigns that try to take away other people ’s rights. They ’re basically saying : you know what it feels like when people try to strip away your freedoms, so why would you do that to someone else? They talk about civil rights in general – like, not just legal stuff but the whole idea that everyone should be treated fairly in society. They say that if Muslims want their civil rights to be respected, they have to stand up for the civil rights of other groups as well, including LGBT communities. It ’s like they ’re saying rights aren’t something you only defend when it ’s about your own group. They also bring up this idea that you don’t have to agree with someone ’s life or beliefs to still defend their rights. So they ’re not saying every Muslim has to suddenly think same-sex marriage is religiously correct or anything like that. They ’re saying even if, on a religious level, you disagree, you should still defend people ’s right to live how they choose and to have the same legal protections. They point out the contradiction in Muslims wanting other people to understand Islam properly, to not stereotype Muslims, and to recognise Muslims as full citizens, but then some of those same Muslims are happy to support laws or campaigns that push LGBT people out or treat them as second-class. They ’re calling that out as a double standard. They talk about how Muslims are often talked about like they ’re a problem, or like they don’t belong, and how painful that is. Then they say LGBT people get treated in a very similar way - like they 're some kind of threat, or something to be fixed or kept out of society. So they 're drawing a parallel between the experiences of Muslims and LGBT people as marginalised groups. They make the point that if Muslims join in with, or support, efforts to block same-sex marriage or to roll back LGBT rights, they 're basically helping the same kind of system that marginalises Muslims. It 's like, by supporting discrimination against another group, you 're strengthening the whole idea that it 's okay to discriminate against minorities in general. They also say that fighting for the rights of people you disagree with is actually part of what it means to be Muslim. So they 're not just framing it as a general " human rights " thing, they 're saying this is also the Muslim thing to do. Defending marginalised communities, even if you don't share their beliefs or lifestyle, is both the right thing and the religious thing. They stress that Muslims should be on the side of any group that 's being pushed down or treated unfairly, because that lines up with the values Muslims claim to have about justice and compassion. So if you 're serious about those values, you don't limit them only to Muslims - you extend them to LGBT people as well. They 're basically warning against that attitude where you say, " Well, I want freedom and safety for me and my community, but I 'm okay with someone else not having it. " They call that out as selfish and against the core principles Muslims are supposed to follow. Towards the end, they sum it up by saying : defending marginalised communities - including LGBT people - even when you disagree with them, is both morally right and, in their view, genuinely Islamic. They 're saying you can hold on to your beliefs about what 's religiously allowed, but at the same time you should still stand up for other people 's civil rights, and not support efforts to take those rights away. So that 's basically the whole message of the letter : Muslim support for marriage equality, recognising how Muslims are marginalised, and then saying that Muslims should fight for everyone 's civil rights, including LGBT people, because anything else is hypocritical. And in the end, they say clearly that standing with other marginalised communities is not just the decent human thing to do, it 's the Muslim thing to do as well.

Text Sample 184: POS Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - profiled_gpt/t001297_gpt.txt

I was watching that " Britain 's Horror Homes " the other night, you know, and there was this one house that was absolutely crawling with dust mites. They had all these horrible close-up pictures, really magnified, and I was saying to Mum, " They 're everywhere, you know, you 've got them as well, it 's just they 've zoomed them in on the telly. " And of course that set her off, didn't it. Then she 's all, " Oh I don't know if I can sleep now, " and getting herself into a state about being " infested ". Yet when it comes to actually stripping her own bed, she wo n't do it. I even said, " Well you might be infested, you know, " trying to prod her into it, but she just laughs and leaves it to me. And then, in the next breath, she 's talking about putting a deposit down on a B&B in Iceland.

Text Sample 185: POS Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - profiled_gpt/t000166_gpt.txt

if they haven't got somebody on-site signing for the deliveries the company at the other end can turn round and say they never had them or they didn't get a certain number on the delivery note and then they just wo n't pay the last bit they owe you. they always keep twenty per cent back, that 's the way it works, and that last twenty per cent is only due thirty days after delivery anyway. so if nobody 's there checking and signing off each numbered pipe, they can just mess you about and say, oh we never had number so-and-so, and drag it out. that 's why they need someone there, really, just to stop that.

Text Sample 186: POS Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - profiled_gpt/t000378_gpt.txt
I asked him, " Do people actually come back to see the body then? " because I honestly wasn't sure if that really happened. And he said, " Oh yes, they do, " and explained that that 's why the body has to be kept presentable all the time. He said you never know when a family member might suddenly arrive, even from far away, and only have a very short window to say goodbye. That idea, that someone might rush in like that, really surprised me ; I hadn't realised they had to think like that.

Text Sample 187: POS Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - profiled_gpt/t000435_gpt.txt
well they 've been on about doing the A14 for years and years, and every time it gets anywhere near actually happening someone kicks off about it and it all gets pushed back again. And it 's not even in massively built-up bits, it 's little villages and fairly empty stretches where people still manage to mount enough of a protest to stall it. Thing is, you wouldn't need anything that radical to make a big difference. If you just took out all those awful at-grade junctions and turned them into proper grade-separated ones, that alone would sort a lot of the congestion and safety issues. It 's not rocket science, it 's just a case of actually doing it. But I can't see them getting it through without dangling some extra money in front of people somehow, and that 's where I think they 'll end up going down the private route. Some company brought in to pay for it, run it, maintain it, probably on one of those PFI-type deals where they get their money back over twenty, thirty years. That way the government can say, oh look, it 's not coming straight out of the public purse. And knowing my lot, it 'll probably be someone in our office who sits down and works out how to make the numbers stack up, how you structure the contract so it all looks palatable. So we 'll all moan about it over dinner and then go into work on Monday and help them figure out how to do it.

Text Sample 188: POS Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - profiled_gpt/t000438_gpt.txt
yeah it basically meant affordable housing, that was the gist of it, but they had some fancy term for it I just can't remember. When we were doing the river-side bridge, you could really see the difference. The ones right on the river, the proper expensive ones, they 'd clearly thrown good money at them - decent materials, nice finishes, they actually looked quite smart. Then you 'd look over at the cheaper units that were going up as part of the same development and they just looked awful, really shoddy. You could tell they 'd cut corners on all the materials, it was just cheap and nasty. I remember saying to one of the blokes on site, you know, " oh maybe I should look at getting one of these, " and he just went, " no, don't. Seriously, don't even think about buying one of those. "

Text Sample 189: POS Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - profiled_gpt/t000481_gpt.txt

and she said to me, you know, for your birthday I 'll just give you some money, because that 'll help with your car and all that, and I was like, yeah, okay, thanks, because I do need it. But it just makes me feel really rubbish, because I 'm twenty-five and I shouldn't be having to rely on people giving me cash like that. I 've worked hard, I 've studied, I know I 'm capable, and yet I 'm still in this position where I 'm sort of having to accept handouts. It 's just not how I imagined things would be at my age.

Text Sample 190: POS Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - profiled_gpt/t000482_gpt.txt

I was saying to him, you know Red Gate start their new IT sales people on twenty-two grand, and his face was a picture, he was really surprised. He came back with this thing about, oh well, his kind of sales is different so it makes sense he 's only on twenty. And I was like, no, a good salesperson can sell anything, it doesn't matter what it is - I could sell a dead camera if I had to, and I 've only been in sales six years. But he just kept saying twenty grand is good pay.

Text Sample 191: POS Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 6.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001042_gpt.txt

yesterday it just really struck me at school, actually. I had my class in, they 'd been really badly behaved, so I had to keep them in, and it was during the time when I was supposed to be on break duty. So I went to this Year 6 teacher and said, you know, " Can you cover my duty? " and he just straightaway said yes. No complaint, no sighing, nothing, just immediately agreed to do it. And I was thinking, if it had been the other way round, I would 've been really reluctant. I 'd have been thinking, oh for goodness ' sake, I 'm going to miss my coffee, I don't want to go out in the cold, and I 'd probably have been a bit irritated about it. I 'd have done it, but it would 've been with that sort of " fine, okay, I 'll do it, fine, fine, yes, fine, no worries " kind of grumpy attitude running underneath. Whereas he just did it, and it really highlighted to me how much nicer he was about it than I would 've been.

Text Sample 192: POS Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000152_gpt.txt

on Saturday she said somebody came in and borrowed about three grand 's worth of stuff to wear for some conference thing and I was just like that really made me feel a bit uneasy because what if it doesn't come back you know? and she was asking what to do and I just said well at least write it all down make a proper note of exactly what 's gone out and who 's taken it because otherwise you 're stuck if it goes missing and yeah she says they do get some sort of allowance or something but I still don't really know how that 's meant to work or if it 's okay

Text Sample 193: POS Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001038_gpt.txt

I actually see you as someone who is really evolving, you know. People aren't fixed ; we 're dynamic and we change on all sorts of levels as we go through life - physically, psychologically, spiritually, emotionally. You 're not the same person you were a few years ago, and you wo n't be the same a few years from now, and that 's not a problem, that 's kind of the point. It feels like right now you 're at a really major crossroads. On one side there 's " business as usual, " just carrying on the way things have always been. On the other side there 's this much wider, more open path where you get to redefine things, where you 're not just repeating old patterns but really choosing what suits you now. And I think this is exactly the moment to be really assertive about who you are and what you want. If going to bed at ten feels right for you, then own that. Be proud of that choice instead of apologising for it or feeling like you have to justify it. There 's nothing wrong with being the " strange sober person " who likes early nights. Stop putting yourself down for those things. They 're not weaknesses, they 're just part of who you are becoming. The more you stand in that and say, " Yes, this is me, " the more solid you 'll feel in this new phase, and the easier it will be to walk that wider path instead of slipping back into the old one.

Text Sample 194: POS Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000378_gpt.txt
I asked him, " Do people really come back and look at the body? " because I honestly wasn't sure if that actually happened. He said, oh yes, they do, quite a lot, and then he explained why they always have to keep the body really presentable. It 's because you never know when a family member might suddenly turn up, even from far away, and they might only have a very short time to say goodbye. That idea really surprised me, that they 're always prepared for that.

Text Sample 195: POS Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001296_gpt.txt
well I 'm just imagining what someone might say next, you know, like an example. There was that baby who was really lazy with talking and just let the other one do it all for him. So when the mum would say, " does he want something? " the other child would jump in with, " yes he does mummy, " answering for him. And the baby himself would hardly speak at all, just sort of go, " oh, " and let it happen. That 's the kind of thing I 'm thinking about when I worry they might not bother talking.

Text Sample 196: POS Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000381_gpt.txt
so I was lying there having this massage before I flew back, and I said to the masseur, you know, my mum is dying. And she immediately asked, does your mum worry a lot? And I said, oh God, yes, she worries terribly. Then she asked, is it something to do with the spleen, like spleen cancer? And I said, well, no, it 's pancreatic cancer. And then she started talking about how, in her understanding, anger is stored in the spleen. I was already really emotional before the massage, so I was sort of going, really, is that right? And she kept saying, yes, anger is associated with the spleen, that 's where it goes, that 's how they see it.

Text Sample 197: POS Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000307_gpt.txt
and he was saying you know because he was really really good at badminton when he was younger he sort of pushes that a bit and says it 's actually really easy to get a high mark in badminton umpiring so that 's why he 's offering that as an option along with things like hockey and orienteering and all that and then on the inset day we got this email through about what they want for the tennis so we 've got to video all of his tennis strokes and then also sort out a time for them to assess the coaching side of it and there was this whole back and forth about when he 's actually going to come and watch the coaching session and how that 's going to work and he 's gone through it all with him and said yes you can do it and told him what he needs to do and what they 're going to do and all the rest of it and then how stupid is this he 's asked him to get his teacher to send through his CRB form if he 's going to do it which I just think is ridiculous really I mean after all that organising and saying yes you can take it and explaining everything and then suddenly it 's oh we 'll need the CRB form sending through as well which just seems a bit over the top to me

Text Sample 198: POS Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000257_gpt.txt
so like a few weeks ago I actually sent her this really nice message, just saying, you know, sorry if I 'd come across a bit harsh and that I didn't mean it like that, just trying to smooth things over a bit. And then I got absolutely nothing back, no reply at all. Then the other day I was talking to someone else and they were like, oh yeah, she 's just been really busy, that 's why she hasn't replied. And at first I was like, okay, fair enough, people get busy, I 'll give her the benefit of the doubt. But then I started thinking about it, like, hang on, she 's clearly had time to text other people, and she 's almost definitely been on Facebook. So how is she too busy to just send me a quick message back? It just makes me wonder if that whole " too busy " thing is actually true.

Text Sample 199: POS Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001261_gpt.txt
so she texted me like properly fuming, saying she wasn't allowed to see him on Boxing Day because of his mum, and I was just like what? and then later on she said he 'd turned round and told her he was only doing that so he could surprise her by coming round to hers. and I was like oh right okay, that 's actually quite good then, you know, like that sounded dead nice at first. but then a couple of days later she messaged again and was like, no, I 'm pretty sure he just said that to shut me up. and I was just sat there going what? what? what? like I honestly didn't know what to say to her about it after that, it just sounded really off and confusing.

Text Sample 200: POS Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001187_gpt.txt
so I 'm there in this field, absolutely chucking it down, mud everywhere, don't know a soul, and I 've got this Year Nine lad with me that I 'm supposed to get registered. I just kept going from one person with a clipboard to another, saying, you know, " He 's Year Nine, he 's supposed to be running, " and every time they 'd look down the list and his name wasn't there, his school wasn't there, nothing. In the end one of them said, " Well, we 'll put him down for the one o'clock, " so I thought, right, okay, we 're in, and they told us to come back about quarter past two. It was still pouring, we were already soaked, so I thought, I 'm not walking the course in this, and we went off, moved the car a bit closer so at least we weren't miles away. We came back later to get his number, you know, the race bib, and it all started again. They 're looking at the list : " What school? " I tell them, and they say, " No, that school 's not on here at all. " Then somebody points out we 're actually at the wrong tent, wrong team altogether. I 'd been standing there all that time under my umbrella, queuing and apologising, and we weren't even with the right lot. I could just see the bottom of the sign, the " S " at the bottom and " shire " at the top, but the middle bit was hidden by the tent, so I 'd assumed it was ours. I ended up saying, " I 'm so sorry, we 're in the wrong place, " and then being marched across the mud again to the people we should 've been talking to in the first place, still apologising because by then it was about twenty past two.

6 NEG Dim 3

Text Sample 201: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000187_gpt.txt

Like, if I had a massive fry-up as my main meal, I 'd feel so guilty, like I 'd totally overdone it. And then there 's her, just putting away these huge amounts of food and it 's like it doesn't touch her. She 's got completely normal-sized thighs, but she 's absolutely tiny on top, it 's mad. I honestly don't get how she can eat that much and just not get any bigger at all. I 'm so jealous, it just doesn't seem fair that she can do that and stay that size.

Text Sample 202: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001563_gpt.txt

well basically the way it works is there 's the three of us, and we 've kind of got into a rhythm now. He 's the one who kicks things off and keeps an eye on the overall quality, and then I 'm the one who does all the texts and graphics, so all the visual side and the wording, and then the other one actually implements it all. So between us we take things from the first idea right through to the finished thing. It started out really small, almost like a one-man band, with pretty much everything being run by one person and just a few little retreats. But over time it 's grown and grown into this really big programme, with loads of different retreats and a massive amount of administration to keep it all going. Now there are lots of people involved in different bits of it, but even so, the three of us are still doing a huge share of the work. We 're still the ones who carry most of the responsibility for getting things done and keeping it all running smoothly.

Text Sample 203: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000984_gpt.txt

I mean, yeah, those people do still have some money pressures, but if I had that kind of money I wouldn't go mad with it. I 'd just get a really good house, but nothing ridiculous, not some massive mansion just for the sake of it. I 'd sort everything out so I 'd literally never have to worry about money again. And I wouldn't be blowing almost all of a huge weekly wage every week either. I 'd keep a big chunk back every time, so there 's always loads left over.

Text Sample 204: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000220_gpt.txt

It just falls at such a low point in the year for me, when I already feel a bit down and tired, and then on top of that the weather 's cold and miserable. I 'm trying to work out where I 'm supposed to find this extra energy from, because there

's no time off afterwards at all. I 've got this massive deadline looming, a load of really important meetings, and on top of that I 've still got two Bible studies to write. So I 'm fully expecting to come out of the weekend just completely exhausted.

Text Sample 205: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000455_gpt.txt

So I finally got to go to this place I 'd been wanting to go to all summer, right, and I went with my boyfriend. It was just us, something we 'd been meaning to do for ages. Then my mum comes back, hears about it, and instantly kicks off that we should 've waited so we could all go " as a family. " She acted like I 'd somehow wronged her personally by going without her, like she was actually offended that I 'd done something as a couple. It 's like she can't stand the idea that I have my own life with him that doesn't automatically include her. She reacts as if every single thing we do should be opened up into some big family outing. And it makes me think, what exactly does she expect? Is she supposed to be invited along to everything we do together? Even our private, intimate moments? The way she behaves, it 's as if she 'd be put out if we didn't. It just feels completely over the top and suffocating.

Text Sample 206: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000470_gpt.txt

Barr Ellison have actually got an office in the hospital, so I 'm just going to go straight there tomorrow and get it all sorted through them. I 'm so angry that some random, careless person can have such a massive impact on everything, just by not doing their job properly. I 've been desperately trying to find a way around it all, going over it in my head, but it just feels like there 's nothing I can do about it, which is really frustrating.

Text Sample 207: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000399_gpt.txt

when I used to go to work I 'd have to leave the house at about five to seven in the morning, so around six fifty-five, and it was always in the dark and freezing cold, usually with snow about as well. I 'd get the seven o'clock bus, and then after that I 'd be stuck waiting for the next one for about half an hour, just standing there in something like minus eight degrees. once that second bus finally turned up and got me near work, I still had a ten to fifteen minute walk, all uphill, from the bus stop to actually get to the place.

Text Sample 208: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000400_gpt.txt

yeah it did suck it was really hard work because I 'd finish at eight o'clock at night and then I 'd have to walk about three miles from the care home just to get to the bus stop and then once I got there I 'd be standing around for about twenty minutes hoping the bus actually turned up on time and then of course there was the bus journey itself to get home so by the time I finally walked in the door the whole thing had taken about an hour in the evenings

Text Sample 209: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000158_gpt.txt

I really needed that beer after this afternoon ; it 's been so stressful. For the first time I actually didn't want to go to work, which is weird because I usually like it. It 's just so insanely busy at the moment. I feel like it 's basically just me and my boss, and he 's in New York, so I 'm kind of on my own here. I 'm still quite new, and there are just so many projects on the go that I keep worrying something important is going to get missed. It 's not that anyone 's done anything wrong, it 's just that there 's way too much work and not nearly enough people to do it. What makes it worse is that the two people on six-month contracts aren't getting extended. So once they go, we 're going to be even more short-staffed than we already are. It feels like we 're heading into this massive workload with fewer and fewer people, and I 'm stuck in the middle of it, trying not to drop anything.

Text Sample 210: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000560_gpt.txt
when she 's with her friends from uni it 's like she just drinks like a complete fish, really goes for it, and then at other times she 's almost the opposite, really restrained, barely touching anything. it makes her seem like this massive seething ball of nerves and neurosis underneath it all. with them she looks more relaxed, but I can't help thinking she might be pretending a bit, sort of putting on a front. with me she seems less worried than in some situations, but still kind of on edge, and in general she just comes across as tense most of the time.

Text Sample 211: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000145_gpt.txt
I was just absolutely livid yesterday. I 'd already had this horrible, hour-and-a-half slog to work, finally got there bang on ten, and there were literally no parking spaces. I was so angry, just stood there thinking, what am I supposed to do now after that journey? And then, as if that wasn't enough, I get this email from my manager about punctuality. That just really wound me up even more, because I 'd done everything I could to get there and then couldn't even park. She did come back later and apologise, and asked if there was anything she could do to help, but there really isn't. The only option is for me to leave even earlier and basically give myself two hours for the commute, which is just ridiculous.

Text Sample 212: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000024_gpt.txt
they 've booked this massive really posh cottage with a hot tub for the whole weekend, and there 's only about fifteen of us going. it 's totally the sort of thing she 'd love, so I get why they 've done it, but it just makes the whole thing really pricey. it feels a bit awkward, because it 's meant to be this big special hen-do, but with so few people in such a big, expensive place, it kind of puts pressure on everyone and makes the whole arrangement feel a bit over the top.

Text Sample 213: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000603_gpt.txt
It 's actually really nice to see him like this now. For so long he was just quietly plugging away, paying hardly any rent, barely having any outgoings, and managing to save about five hundred quid a month. He got himself up to around fifteen grand as a house deposit, which is a massive thing to do. But especially after going to Manila, he 's kind of realised that buying a house isn't actually what he wants at the moment. And I think that 's a good thing, that he 's figured that out rather than just going through with it because he felt he should.

Text Sample 214: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000637_gpt.txt
stop eating with your hands please, use your fork and knife properly, yeah? So the mum is going to end up teaching this really big woman to do the aerial hoop, and she 's going to get really good at it. Then, in the grand finale of the circus, she 'll do this amazing hoop act, swinging around up in the air, wearing this huge big pink dress that looks a bit like a blancmange, all wobbly-wobbly and ridiculous but brilliant at the same time.

Text Sample 215: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000205_gpt.txt
after Heathcliff finally gets control of Wuthering Heights, he decides he wants the other estate as well, so he basically goes after that too. his wife dies, and their son gets brought back, but Heathcliff really doesn't like him at all. the boy 's really sickly and weak, and Heathcliff just uses him as part of his plan. he forces him to marry Catherine 's daughter, so it 's not romantic or anything, it 's just to secure the property. after that, Heathcliff keeps Catherine and his son at Wuthering Heights like they 're prisoners. they can walk around the house, but they 're basically trapped there and can't really leave or live their own lives.

Text Sample 216: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000488_gpt.txt
yeah so they actually got us all on the plane and everything, and then suddenly they were like, " right, everybody off. " We had to get off and they shoved us into this tiny little waiting room. We were in there for about five hours, no toilets, no water, no food, no information, nothing. And you could still see all these men in orange overalls crawling all over the outside of the plane, just carrying on working. People started getting really fed up, and it turned into this huge mutiny, everyone shouting and demanding basic stuff, like, " we need water, we need to go to the toilet, what 's going on? " We were basically stuck there for about twenty hours in total, just waiting around and being told nothing. Eventually they finally let us out, gave us free food and all that, and then in the end they just cancelled the flight anyway. And I 'm convinced the only reason they did anything at all was because everyone complained so loudly together. If we 'd all just sat there quietly, they would 've just left us.

Text Sample 217: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000319_gpt.txt
I do feel like there 's this whole global system that 's been built almost entirely around economic outcomes, and it 's been at the expense of both the environment and society. That 's been the dominant pattern for the last thirty years or so, this kind of neoliberal model, and when it finally collapses it 's going to be absolutely momentous. But I 'm oddly optimistic about it. I genuinely think humanity is becoming more loving and more open. Even with the refugee situation, as awful as so much of it is, it 's forcing people to confront their own prejudices, to see others as humans first rather than just as “ Muslims ” or whatever religious label.

Text Sample 218: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000368_gpt.txt

When I finally went back after those three years in the shop, it was such a change. I found it really mentally engaging and I absolutely loved it. I was constantly busy, always doing something. I 'd be going to the theatre a lot, and through a friend who worked there I 'd end up meeting people backstage, which made it all feel even more exciting. It really did feel like this incredibly exciting life, always on the go, always something new happening. And then I finished, moved to Cambridge, and it just ... stopped. That whole exciting lifestyle just came to an abrupt end.

Text Sample 219: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000708_gpt.txt

I was sat there, not really concentrating, and I went to make a desktop shortcut to this conference folder we had on the server. It had nine years ' worth of stuff in it, everything piled in there. Instead of creating a shortcut, I actually moved the whole thing, so it just vanished from the server. Cue absolute panic, everyone hunting for it, and me ringing IT in a flap. Then we finally realised I 'd basically “ stolen ” the entire folder by having it sitting on my desktop.

Text Sample 220: NEG Dim 3 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001564_gpt.txt

It 's become this really long-term thing in India, more like a community than just a project, and there 's just a huge amount of admin around it. On top of that, I 've still got all my own stuff - the books, the website, writing texts, sorting out videos, and all the other information materials. It 's all kind of grown very organically over time, so now there are loads of people involved in different ways. But even with that, it 's still really the three of us at the core who carry most of the workload. We 're the ones who keep everything running and hold it all together. That 's why we 're trying now to bring other people in more, so that the work is shared out better and doesn't all land on the same few shoulders.

Text Sample 221: NEG Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000488_gpt.txt

yeah so we 'd all actually got on the plane to come back to Heathrow, and then they suddenly told us to get off, didn't say why, just that there 'd be a delay. They herded everyone into this tiny little waiting room and then basically abandoned us there. No toilets we were allowed to use, no water, no food, and nobody telling us what was happening. We could still see all these men in orange overalls crawling all over the outside of the plane, like Guantanamo jumpsuits, just carrying on working while we sat there. After a few hours people just started to lose patience, and it turned into this huge mutiny. Everyone started demanding water, food, some sort of information, anything really. We were in there something like twenty hours in the end. Only then did the airline finally let us out, and suddenly they were all apologetic, giving us free food and so on - and then they just cancelled the flight anyway. I 'm convinced they only did any of that because we all kicked up such a massive fuss together.

Text Sample 222: NEG Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t001108_gpt.txt
so in the evening we decided to go to this big light and fountain show thing they do by that massive building that used to be something else but is now the national museum. it was really impressive when we finally got there, all lit up and the fountains going, and it felt really grand. the only thing was it was such a long walk to get there, like it just went on and on, and we were all getting a bit tired. at one point we got a bit lost on the way and everyone sort of turned on me like it was my fault because I 'd suggested we go. I was like, hang on, I 've never even been here before, how am I suddenly the tour guide? it felt a bit unfair that I ended up being the default leader just for making the suggestion.

Text Sample 223: NEG Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000925_gpt.txt
I 'm thinking back to those filmmaking projects in the nineties, I 'm pretty sure Ridley Scott was involved, where they got people all over the UK, and then across the world, to film a " day in the life. " Everyone just went off and shot their own everyday stuff and then sent the footage in. Then there was this massive sifting process, going through all that material to pull out the most compelling bits. From that huge pile of ordinary days, they managed to construct a really powerful narrative, just by choosing and arranging what people had submitted. It 's that idea of lots of different lives, all captured separately, then woven together afterwards into something that feels coherent and meaningful, even though none of the contributors were coordinating with each other at the time.

Text Sample 224: NEG Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000769_gpt.txt
it was quite entertaining really, they were absolutely mad. there 's this picture I remember, of one of them in this massive room where the whole back wall was just covered in these huge square storage units. they filled the whole space, stacked up to like ten or twelve feet high, all meant for the kids to stick their clothes and belongings in. they had this big rule that kids weren't allowed to climb them at all. and then at one point, they came back in and there was this one child just sitting alone right on the top, and nobody had any idea how he 'd managed to get up there.

Text Sample 225: NEG Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000455_gpt.txt
So I finally got to go to this place I 'd wanted to go to all summer, right, and I went with my boyfriend. We had a really nice time, just us, and I was actually quite chuffed I 'd managed to fit it in before everything got busy again. Then my mum comes back, hears about it, and immediately starts having a go that we should 've waited so it could be a " family outing. " She acted like I 'd done something properly wrong, like I 'd personally offended her by doing something as a couple without her there. It wasn't even anything massive, just a day out, but she turned it into this big drama about being left out and how we 're supposed to do things together. And I 'm just sat there thinking, what does she actually expect? That every single thing I do with my boyfriend has to involve her somehow? Does she want an invite to absolutely everything, even the private, intimate bits of our relationship? It 's so ridiculous that I end up being sarcastic in my head, like, shall I pencil her in for when we 're in bed as well?

Text Sample 226: NEG Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000399_gpt.txt
when I was going to work I 'd have to be out the house for about five to seven in the morning, in the pitch dark, snow on the ground, absolutely freezing. I 'd rush to catch the seven o'clock bus, then I 'd be stood there for about half an hour in minus eight degrees waiting for the next one to turn up. And once I finally got off that second bus, I still had a ten, sometimes fifteen minute walk, all uphill, from the bus stop to get into work. It was just a horrible start to the day, every day, in that kind of weather.

Text Sample 227: NEG Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000452_gpt.txt
when I did used to bring it up with my mum, about her copying those mannerisms, it would just blow up into this massive argument over something really small. then my dad would always step in as the peacekeeper and tell me I was being out of order and that I needed to apologise to her. it made me feel like I wasn't allowed to have an opinion about it at all. I 'd end up arguing with him instead, basically for her benefit, which just made everything feel even more unfair.

Text Sample 228: NEG Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t001587_gpt.txt
so there 's this woman, I think she 's Mexican or Spanish, and she 's an artist, right. She 'd been with this guy for ten years, they finally got married, and then they decided to just completely change their lives. They sold everything, sold the house, literally packed up their whole life with this plan to move to Mexico together. The idea was that she 'd go out there first, and he 'd stay behind for a week to finish everything off and then join her. But when she got there, after all that, she just decided she wanted a divorce and that she 'd stay there on her own instead of waiting for him.

Text Sample 229: NEG Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t001626_gpt.txt
I remember coming down to milk the goats when we had that really deep snow. We couldn't get the car out at all, so I was on foot every time. I used to meet the doctor regularly, he was walking his rounds as well, and we 'd have a bit of a joke about it each time we passed. Eventually I 'd get along to that stretch of road near the water tower, where there aren't any trees, and that 's where it was worst. The snow had blown right over the road, must have been about fifteen feet deep across it. It was an incredible sight, really, the whole road just buried under this massive wall of snow.

Text Sample 230: NEG Dim 3 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000470_gpt.txt
Barr Ellison have actually got an office in the hospital, so I 'm just going to go straight there tomorrow and get them to take it on. It really winds me up that some random person, who clearly can't even get basic details right, can have such a massive impact on everything. I 've been desperately trying to find some way round it, but it just feels like there 's nothing I can do. I hate that I 'm stuck relying on someone so careless when it matters this much.

Text Sample 231: NEG Dim 3 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t000653_human.txt

and eh yeah it it everyone really enjoyed it and they were still able to em sort of build their own little houses around it well quite massive houses but yeah they were able to em because all of the communal buildings were lined up on this street it it was quite a go do focal point for everyone else to build this stuff em and eh one of the things that em got a lot of attention and a lot of er creative input from people was on December the first I made a huge great naked Christmas tree and just posted the picture of this naked fi Christmas tree up onto Facebook and instantly people were on there sort of decorating and putting presents around the bottom and stuff and em and that was great and there was this eh there was one guy who built a castle a little distance away from it and he was inviting people to come and do a bit of player versus player with him and eh no one really went for it so yeah kind of kind of felt bad for him but then there was a little bit of vandalism and sort of stealing going on em

Text Sample 232: NEG Dim 3 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000652_human.txt

yeah yeah it really was so em I found the most obvious place on the map after the last one had been diluted because eh version one point O came out em so I went to the coordinate zero zero and started building this town and there 's this eh there 's this one guy on the server that was a bit too keen just spent hours and hours and hours playing on it and I just sort of set up the basics and he made it look beautiful we had a communal mine as well which which was really nice and em to to keep the animals as well eh just wanted sort of little fence pens but this guy made a huge huge great barn

Text Sample 233: NEG Dim 3 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000649_human.txt

and close it off so that the sunlight didn't get on it so these monsters would spawn in this arena and you could just go and fight them and there 'd be enough lighting that you 'd see and the light the floor would light up as they were these monsters were walking around on it and em people really got behind that and it was a really simple design it was em it was just a dome so it was quite easy to figure out how to do it and the floor was just a circle of red stone so loads of people were really keen to to help out and help me make this and it was fairly close to where everyone was doing their business and building their things and it also from a distance it just looked bloody huge eh I called it the desert dome because there 's just this massive sandy desert and then in the middle there 's this stone dome just standing there and the group who were televising it were recording everything and stuff em were wearing occupy Minecraft t-shirts and there was a lot of discussion apparently according to one of these journalists who covered it em there was a lot of discussion about how they can bring the occupy movement into Minecraft and sort of enthuse everyone because it 's quite quite a connected community the Minecraft community with the creative projects that go on and em when Steve Jobs passed away the someone put em built a massive eh sign in the main eh the village on one of the maps R I P Steve Jobs and sort of did a iPod thing and and drew made a iPod out of blocks and em so so news does have a way of getting in so that that that 's one part of cyber provincialism that em that one way of looking at it that that I considered em another was eh bringing various communities eh no the getting a community to to look at different cultures

Text Sample 234: NEG Dim 3 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000656_human.txt

Text Sample 235: NEG Dim 3 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t001523_human.txt

so in the end they finally came because it was I reported it within the first week but because huh by the time they actually got round to collecting it it was outside of the first week they had to collect it and then issue a brand new one it was such it took so long but now it works but um things like the Bluetooth setting and stuff don't work for some reason and apparently I 've got it on the wrong setting but I 've got no idea what the right setting is so

Text Sample 236: NEG Dim 3 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000885_human.txt

that 's what they 're pouring their heart and soul into is their job and they 're working all the hours under the sun and they 're making huge sacrifices to be able to do whatever it is that they 're doing and they 're loving it and that 's great that 's that 's fab but they 're sacrificing a hell of a lot to do it they 're they 're not they don't have a lot of personal time they certainly don't get a lot of time to do a lot of stuff in the evening they 're paying a lot for the lifestyle to live in et cetera

Text Sample 237: NEG Dim 3 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000905_human.txt

poorly thought through as well but talking of wearing high heels I forgot to tell you when I went to the Co-op just now for supper guys erm there was a couple of people at the till a man and a woman and the woman was dealing with the thing and the man was standing there and then there was a lady standing behind him and she was dressed quite unusually she had very high sparkly shoes on and a quite a short skirt and not much of a top like just a kind of midriff covering thing

Text Sample 238: NEG Dim 3 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000871_human.txt

and every time anyone asks me about it I brighten up and say it was the best thing I ever did and value for money was key point because if people were coming in to buy art which they did erm I I made sure that the artists didn't ask unrealistic prices for them for two reasons really one that you want the artists to sell and they 're not famous so they 're not gonna get a huge amount for it and secondly the the member of the public can come at the shop and say great I bought a piece of original art and it didn't cost me that much and that 's such a wonderful thing

Text Sample 239: NEG Dim 3 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000866_human.txt

and it 's just on the edge wa the eastern edge of Snowdonia and it 's called er sagriha mihangel is Michael St Mihangel is if you like the Church of St Michael and Glyn is a a valley in waWales in Welsh is pensive or thoughtful and we we went there recently just to check on whether any fafafarms that are in my family 's background and I found there are only four or five farms in the whole area we found them and in the church we went into the church which is a twelfth century church twelve thirteen century church by the river and there was the most extraordinary statement there my great grandfather was born in in eighteen twenty-one

Text Sample 240: NEG Dim 3 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000974_human.txt

the the fact that a teacher a as a teacher you need to be able to lay the foundations of a good class by planning it well and making sure that your resources are quality resources that are going to aid the learning process em and then once you 've got that in place you can then focus on your teaching to help lea um students learn um that what is in front of them or what task that they have been asked to do so you can kind of free up your own time

7 POS Dim 4

Text Sample 241: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 6.00 - human/t000194_human.txt
so can I can I add my two pennies worth? okay with men they clearly I think men are very very good at distinguishing erm what other men are trying to achieve yeah? they 're pretty clear I think in the cut in when you get to be a manager you start to wield some power yeah you either like it or you don't hopefully you do like it yeah otherwise you wouldn't do it but from the guys as as you call it you know the types of words you 'd use when you were talking about engineers with senior engineers or or management in engineering companies swing their dicks around suck my cock you know the way you would actually describe these people you were working with you know or in meetings with it sounded horrendous it sounded really like too fucking much in many ways yeah and what I didn't like about it was it was so male dominated it was so much male talk it was so much like I 'm an alpha male you 're not you 're be you 're a whatever so you 're gonna have to follow me because basically I 've got the power shut up fuck off and you 'll do what I say yeah? and that male dominated world I 'm sorry if you don't fit into it it 's shit it 's crap it 's it 's gotta be one of the worst places to be if you 're if you wanna be your own man yeah like most men want to be their own men who wants to actually just roll over and go yeah fuck off I just wanna be erm dominated by another man no you don't what what man really wants to be dominated by another man? I mean really I don't want to be fucking dominated by another woman so my idea of this psyche the driver is that actually sometimes it gets to the point where I 'm not management I 'm fucking off I 'm gonna be my own fucking boss because no fucking man is going to fucking talk to me like that

Text Sample 242: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 5.00 - human/t001017_human.txt
what the fuck is the matter with this kid? Look I 'm not kidding I just got money and saw neighbour he invited me in and I thought what the hell? Five minutes we sat down and he offered me a smoke on some herbal weed legal high well I had a bad one and had a bad trip for ages and couldn't talk or stand up four people watched me by the way as I ended up looking like I need sectioning so when so so when I got home I was going to text you and threw up a lot I 've been back and told him that that shit is dangerous I 'm so sorry for this I 'm so pissed off for trying it I thought it would do nothing at all yes I would like to as soon as I sort myself out a bit if that 's okay all of the above is the truth this kid is fucked in the head genuinely genuinely fucked in the head so he 's gone next door had a bit of pot it 's affected him really badly so he 's gone home been sick hasn't thought to text me during any of this it fucks me off cos I 'm not his girlfriend I 'm not his wife I 'm not gonna sit around making him dinner

Text Sample 243: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t001663_human.txt
so it 's difficult cos like I can't say to him oh you 're working too much cos he basically pays for the lifestyle that I have in the summer anyway like normally I pay for everything but in the summer he pays for the lifestyle I have and it 's difficult I can't I don't want to shout at him I don't like shouting at anyone like especially my boyfriend or a guy or whoever it doesn't matter who it is I don't like shouting at anyone or making anyone feel bad and I 'm not that sort of person I 'm not one of these girls that like where the fuck were you? who have you been texting? all that sort of shit like if he wants to go out or any guy that I 'm with if they want to go out with some girls or some guys it doesn't matter who it is I don't care okay have a good night I wanna go out with my friends sort of thing that 's the sort of person that I am so er it 's been hard lately

Text Sample 244: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t000147_human.txt
like it 's so frustrating the worst it 's the worst it 's taken me is two it 's taken me two and a half and a half hours to get to work before and annoyingly it happened on the same day I had a really shit journey into work so left at half eight got in at eleven and then they said oh don't worry about working your time back cos that 's the thing then you owe them time you 're already having a fucking shit and they 're like oh you owe us time great so I got in at eleven and they were like oh don't worry about paying back your time today otherwise it 's just gonna be a really long day like head off as normal so then I head off I li left at half five I think and it took me two hours to get home as well eleven hour day and I only had like six hours at work great

Text Sample 245: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t001181_human.txt
you might recognise him if you saw him erm we were gonna go to Paris where does her marathon but she 's decided that well her parents had already booked it 's really weird like her parents had booked a hote two hotel rooms one for them and one for and if he wanted to go but they 'd sort of said oh if you decide you 'd rather go with your friends like you can just take our bookings or whatever so at first was like oh I 'm not really that fussed about my parents coming like if you guys come we can have a trip make a trip of it or whatever and then like things went quiet for a couple of weeks and I was like oh so what
's the situation with Paris? so like oh well my parents have decided to come and you know like I 'm stressing about everything a little bit so like I 'd rather stay in a hotel with them and ' ll probably stay with me but I really want you guys to come but you 'll just have to make your own arrangements and we were just a bit like mm that sounds a bit shit like that 's really awkward then like

Text Sample 246: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t000473_human.txt
like they are rough as fuck I 'm in my killer heels hooker heels people going to work in them you know tottering along the girls with like their boobs hanging out of their work shirts and dr like skirts up here full works for the office I was like holy fuck bleach blond hair like breaking off cos it 's that shit I was like oh my god like you look horrendous but where I grew up it was like that I my friends that I 've left at home would think that was acceptable so I 've moved here and I 've been here for three years now and I 've kind of got a bit got a bit soft in my own age thinking that the people that live here are are general standard no they 're not the farther north you go peterborough is the standard that I should be used to so I think is quite safe and then you hear and you 're like what the fuck because no matter how rough the people are and I mean I 've told you about people sending for fighter from you would never see that never

Text Sample 247: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t001028_human.txt
oh shit I 've done that before oh that was just after New Year when I was back and I walked into town and was waiting for this bus back and it was like minus seventeen or something ridiculous and I had been at this bus stop and I thought oh thank god only five minutes to the bus and I waited and waited and waited and waited and then I realised fuck it 's Saturday and it was more than half an hour oh no I 'm never ever doing that again so I 'm quite yeah remember to look what day it is

Text Sample 248: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t000702_human.txt
um but it was really good fun it was one of those silly drawing on face type sleepovers and brought like midnight feasts round which consisted of like the entire contents of the Spa sweet shelves She just bought so much shit My mum was like fff you 're not gonna have that after you 've brushed your teeth I was like I might do hmm it was very fun and obviously my parents were asleep upstairs so occasionally you know every s few hours they 'd come down and be like can you be quieter? I 'm sorry

Text Sample 249: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t001077_human.txt
and so did you we both lived through it together and let 's face it I didn't fucking help myself when I put that Facebook status like I was just as much to blame as they were when I put that and yet I apologised and yet it went too far after that but before that as soon as I put that status I were inviting this shit I were inviting the fact that I didn't like them and they didn't like me we made it known by me putting that status you know? and it doesn't matter what you said or it didn't say they were always gonna do what they were gonna do whether I put that status or not or whether you said something or if I said something

Text Sample 250: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t000978_human.txt
yeah he joked at me I think what it wa I can't remember what it was he 's we 're in a war we 're er warming up before training of like before Christmas and he said summat about being embarrassed cos I knocked him off balance or something and I started laughing and literally just got me arm and just went like that and threw him and I was like are you having a laugh? cos he weighs nothing and I think he just thought that I was in the same boat as him but I 'm light but I 'm not wweak but erm yeah the I dunno who was right right wing back but yeah these guys the three slowest centre backs I 've ever seen like is probably about as pacey as a regular centre back at this standard but he can't judge a ball and doesn't know what he 's doing so this ball 's coming down it 's dropping I 'm thinking right a proper centre back 's just gonna head that away easy head it away or bring it down do something with it he goes to it and then goes shit no backs off

Text Sample 251: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 3.00 - human/t000699_human.txt
well it 's it 's yeah it 's just that it was more a kind of I 'm not gonna do that rather than I know I said I 'd do this but this other thing 's also come up and you know and and I 'd really like to I 'm sorry and you know rather than being like that I guess I don't mind in principle him seeing fr he hasn't seen for a while in London that 's not the issue it 's just more the how it was phrased like he didn't tell us and he wasn't gonna text me tonight I texted him you know it would just be nice if he was a bit more proactive about the whole thing and er and not taking it for granted that he could just do whatever he wanted slash that we 'd pick him up

Text Sample 252: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 3.00 - human/t000692_human.txt
day like I was like and I felt like going like well like sorry who are who are you to like anyway she now really likes me and I 'm really good for erm so that
's good anyway they 're a bit fucked they 're like proper crazy like 's mum
I dunno why I 'm whispering like 's mum like all I 've ever seen is this blue anorak like I 'm not even joking they live in a really expensive house in like like she just wears black like she like proper looks Italian like do you know what I mean like?

Text Sample 253: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 3.00 - human/t000690_human.txt

like I 'm pissed off I 'm angry ' s he 's not gonna think about it he 's fucking like having sex for the first time he 's gonna be fucking mega-excited like he 's not thought this stuff through I 'm not saying he 's without blame but she 's fucking trapped him and obviously she could have er taken responsibility if she knew that was the case and he 's really angry about it and everyone 's having to go cos does not you you you 've seen this side of as well he like when he 's got something says it like he just got something on his mind that 's it

Text Sample 254: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 3.00 - human/t001351_human.txt
oh my god when we were in I didn't see many couples I was so happy there was a lot of groups of friends in the erm nando 's I went to I was so happy but then we went like it was early so we was like let 's just go cinema and just watch something we are not watching Fifty Shades my sister 's seventeen anyway she can't watch it so we was gonna watch erm the Kingsman right? cos you said it was good and my sister said her friend said it was good too so we are on our way there and had clocked that the movie was starting in was six minutes we was twenty minutes away

Text Sample 255: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 3.00 - human/t000475_human.txt
I saw this guy about a year ago I was stood in H and M and I was looking at this guy 's tattoo and it was like em it was like a landscape really nothing special as in I don't know why the fuck he chose that but looking at it I was proper staring at it and I couldn't make out if it was a real tattoo or not cos it was just flawless it looked like it had been painted there was no outline or anything it had just been I couldn't believe it

Text Sample 256: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 3.00 - human/t000736_human.txt
but anyway the second one is in New York and it 's really funny because this no one will pick up this black guy in Manhattan to go to it 's the nineties and no one 's gonna pick him up to go to Brooklyn this one guy er kind of like this cab like crawls up to him and he gets in it and there 's some crazy guy from Dresden fresh off the boat doesn't really know how to drive and he used to be a clown and so eventually the guy 's like no man I 'm gonna drive

Text Sample 257: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 3.00 - human/t001245_human.txt
there shouldn't be as many problems but there is erm and he 's like speaking he 's like yeah yeah I 've got a lad here and the woman were on the phone she was like so is it up to like do you think er like your housemates or sorry can't remember how she phrased it but like do y are you happy with it? I 'm like yeah well it 's not coming through it still needs like repainting over it though and then like he tried to get the phone off me really really quickly he was like er I was like just talking to and I 'm like er I 'm gonna have to pass you back over now and she was like okay and passed back over and he immediately like takes the phone he was like yeah yeah I 'm gonna like paint it in the next few days and like tried to like cover his tracks again

Text Sample 258: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 3.00 - human/t001246_human.txt
 my friend told this really funny story about like she had to do she 's my partner for and she had to do like a story just like also to do a story for the Metro on like roadkill people who was eating roadkill she was like helping with this article there 's like a group of people and erm was gonna cook it and blah blah blah anyway so she 's like super super super hung-over and like leaves this party and she 's like fuck I forgot that I erm arranged like the roa you know like and basically had to go around and look for like roadkill so like driving around like still drunk like su just feeling terrible and just like hoping to come across like a bird or like a squirrel or something you know but she finds like an entire deer

Text Sample 259: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 3.00 - human/t000955_human.txt
 yeah I was fine and then suddenly it just hit me and I don't actually know how I even got home I don't know very much really erm but I called everybody like I was calling my par like I called everybody on my phone and I called him by accident and he must have picked up so I 'm like he like and then the next day sent me a message like oh he was really worried about you like and I was like shit sorry I I don't remember I I called everybody I my phone it 's ridiculous I had messages from everybody being like where are you? are you in hospital?
like please get i please contact us like it was horrendous and he 's like

Text Sample 260: POS Dim 4 - human - Score 3.00 - human/t000684_human.txt erm see if I can find it so I put the last message I put to erm thingamabobs I told him about the party and he put hi been sorry we 're erm super busy lately this was like erm ten days after I text him super busy erm I will come for a drink at yours but won't be coming out as I 'm really we 're er really tight with money this month plus trying to save how have you been? and then I didn't write anything cos I was pissed off that he 'd taken that long to message me and then I put on the twenty-ninth erm like is is coming is your girlfriend coming question mark cos I thought maybe he 'd bring his girlfriend only cos I said that and he kind of goes I don't know about I 've not seen him and no I don't think she is and I was like right obviously you 've not even told her have you like if you were saying that you 're gonna pop for a drink like

Text Sample 261: POS Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001406_gpt.txt
 I just instinctively feel really sorry for her, though, because her life is nothing like what I 'd want for myself. When I found out she was pregnant I just cried, I was devastated, like, " oh my god, that 's it, you 're never gonna go travelling, you 're never gonna do this or that. " In my head it was like all these doors had just shut for her. But then I have to step back and think, maybe she never wanted any of those things anyway, and it 's just me projecting what I want onto her.

Text Sample 262: POS Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000814_gpt.txt
 Oh my god, sausage club was so good, like ridiculously good, I was raving about it. But the price is such a joke, it totally depends who 's on the till. There 's this guy who clearly fancies any woman under forty, and when he served me it was way cheaper than when his male colleague rang it through. My male friends were fuming, saying it was sexist that women got it cheaper just because he fancied them. Then the next time I went, Michael the manager was on, and he tried to charge me loads more for exactly the same breakfast. When I questioned it, he redid it and suddenly it was the proper price and he apologised, which really makes me think he 's deliberately overcharging people.

Text Sample 263: POS Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001308_gpt.txt
so while we were in Mexico he was like extremely stressed the whole time because of this guy he used to work with who was supposed to be his friend but basically turned out to be totally useless and just a massive problem in the business and then he fired him but after he got fired he kept coming into work anyway and acting like he still had authority and giving people instructions that everyone just ignored and doing all this stupid shit around the place and now he 's trying to sue him for part of the business or to be bought out even though he was already considered dead weight and they 'd been trying to get rid of him for ages

Text Sample 264: POS Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001405_gpt.txt
like there was this girl in our year who got like eleven A stars in her GCSEs and she were in the paper and everything, all over the local news, and everyone were like oh my god she 's amazing and that, and now she just works in a nightclub and she just doesn't give a fuck, like she 's not bothered at all. and then there 's me who left school with no GCSEs ' cause I were getting bullied that much I just stopped going, and now I 'm at a redbrick uni doing really well. it just shows there 's a difference between having qualifications and actually doing well for yourself.

Text Sample 265: POS Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000807_gpt.txt
So after I 'd sent all that stuff - the frying pan in heaven, the ridiculous wedding message, and starting it with " hi duck " - I finally got a reply back. This person texts, " sorry duck, wrong number, " and even apologises about the frying pan, like, " sorry about your frying pan. " For a moment I was like, oh my god, I 've actually got the thief, this is them! Then it slowly dawned on me it wasn't you at all. Turned out it was someone from Plymouth, completely random, and their number was saved in my phone under some other name. No idea how that even happened. So I 'm sat there thinking I 've uncovered this big mystery, and actually it 's just my phone being really weird and mixing up people 's numbers.

Text Sample 266: POS Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000912_gpt.txt
so the guy she 's on a date with just bolts the second her baby father starts attacking her, yeah? And on the show they had all these callers ringing in about it - one woman was saying her kids ' dad actually broke her nose in public and nobody did anything, just watched. And loads of people were like, " well, if it 's not your business, you don't get involved, " or " if it 's only a first date, why should he risk it? " But I just think, even if she was cheating, no one deserves to get beaten like that in public. That 's mad. What would you lot actually do if you saw that happening?

Text Sample 267: POS Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001334_gpt.txt

I used to work with this Muslim guy and he was honestly so, so nice. He 'd go off on his breaks to pray, like five times a day, and I remember wondering why he was getting so many breaks. So I just asked him about it, and he explained everything to me about his religion and his culture. We ended up becoming really good friends after that. He 's kind of my perfect example of someone who 's moved over here to live, you know, working and learning and everything, just fitting in really well.

Text Sample 268: POS Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001017_gpt.txt

so then I get this ridiculously long message from him, right, and he 's going on about how he popped next door, and they 've got this totally legal herbal weed, and he thinks, oh yeah, why not, I 'll have a bit. And then he starts describing this absolutely horrible trip - says he suddenly can't stand up, can't talk, just stuck there while everyone 's basically watching him fall apart. Then, apparently, he somehow stumbles back home, throws up everywhere, has this massive freak-out, and then texts me saying how sorry he is and how angry he is with himself for doing it. And I 'm reading this thinking, well, where the hell was this text when it was actually happening? Like, you 're next door, you know I 'm ready, and instead of just sending a quick message or coming over, you sit there melting into the sofa with your neighbours. Then after all that, he 's acting like I 'm his girlfriend or his wife or something, like I 'm supposed to be sitting around waiting for him, making him dinner while he has his little adventure next door. It really annoys me, being treated like that, when he couldn't even be bothered to text me at the time.

Text Sample 269: POS Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001379_gpt.txt

so anyway I emailed him back and said look, he can't play because he 's got this tennis tournament on, and then I said, has actually been dropped? because he just hasn't played any matches for ages. I thought maybe they 'd taken him out of it and not said anything. Then he sent this really long, very nice email back explaining it all. He said no, he definitely hadn't been dropped at all, the idea was that he was supposed to be moving up and playing in the same team as, so he 'd been kind of in between the two teams. He apologised for the misunderstanding, said he was sorry if it had looked like he 'd been left out. I wrote back and explained that the reason he 'd missed the matches was actually all the tennis - the tournaments and everything - not because they 'd benched him. And I said that next season it 's probably going to be just, because says he might not carry on, but definitely wants to keep playing and use it for his GCSE, so we do want to keep that going. And I told him there really wasn't any need for him to apologise, because to be fair we could have just emailed earlier and asked what was happening instead of assuming he 'd been dropped. It was as much our fault for not checking as anything else.

Text Sample 270: POS Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000736_gpt.txt
the second bit 's in New York, like early-nineties Manhattan, and there 's this Black guy just trying to get a cab to Brooklyn and literally no one will stop for him. he 's standing there ages, and every taxi just passes him by. then finally this one cab pulls over and it 's driven by this total clueless guy who 's just arrived from Dresden and used to be a clown. he barely knows what he 's doing, so in the end the passenger 's like, " right, I 'm driving, " and basically takes over the cab himself.

Text Sample 271: POS Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score 3.00 - profiled_gpt/t001308_gpt.txt
so while we were in Mexico he was like massively stressed out the whole time because of this guy he used to work with. they 'd basically decided ages ago that this bloke was completely useless, like a total liability in the business, so they fired him. but then after getting fired he suddenly starts trying to sue for a chunk of the business, or demanding to be bought out or something along those lines. and even though he 'd been sacked he kept turning up to work anyway, acting like nothing had happened, still giving everyone these instructions that nobody was listening to, and just doing loads of stupid shit around the place, making everything worse.

Text Sample 272: POS Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score 3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000807_gpt.txt
so after I 'd sent all that nonsense - the frying pan in heaven and " hi duck " and asking about the wedding - I finally got a text back, and it just said, " sorry duck, wrong number, " and they even apologised about the frying pan. For a second I was like, oh my god, I 've got the thief, I 've actually got the thief 's number. Then I realised it wasn't you at all, it was someone from Plymouth. Somehow their number 's in my phone under a completely different name, which is just bizarre. I don't even know how that 's happened, or why I 've got a random Plymouth person saved like that. It 's like my phone 's gone a bit mad and started swapping people around or something.

Text Sample 273: POS Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score 2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000736_gpt.txt
the second bit 's in New York, like early nineties Manhattan, and there 's this Black guy trying to get a cab to Brooklyn and literally no taxi will stop for him. he 's just stuck there, no one 'll pick him up at all. then finally this one cab pulls over, and it turns out the driver 's this totally clueless ex-clown who 's just arrived from Dresden and doesn't really know what he 's doing. it gets so ridiculous that in the end the passenger basically insists on driving the cab himself.

Text Sample 274: POS Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score 2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000797_gpt.txt
so I was saying to them that she 'd got with this guy at the party, and I honestly thought everyone already knew because it was really public, like not a secret at all. Then she found out I 'd mentioned it and got really annoyed with me. She was like, I didn't want people to know because I really like this one particular guy, and now he 's going to think I 'm a slut. And I was just thinking, if anything, he 'd probably be happy she 'd got with someone else, not judging her for it.

Text Sample 275: POS Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score 2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000785_gpt.txt
well it 's the one in the hospital right so this bloke 's in hospital and his wife comes in to visit him and she 's asking after all the other patients on the ward you know how 's so and so doing and the doctor 's going round with her explaining and there 's this one chap who 's obviously been very ill and by the time she comes back another day he 's basically just a head on the pillow but he 's all cheerful and smiley and she 's very polite about it she keeps saying hello to him every time she comes in and being very nice and then on one of these visits she comes in again and she says oh hello how are you and the head just suddenly turns round and says fuck off and that was the punchline but of course dad would never have said that he wouldn't have used that phrase at all he 'd have cleaned it up completely dad never said that no he 'd have said something like oh knickers or something daft like that you know clear off you clear off wouldn't he instead of swearing

Text Sample 276: POS Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score 2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000822_gpt.txt
so he did this prank call to Ikea and it was honestly so funny. He put on this really serious voice and said he 'd seen these armchairs on Facebook with special names, and started asking if they had them in stock. The names were completely ridiculous, like " hit me in the face and call me Margaret " and " slap me with a fish and call me Gertrude. " He kept going with it, like it was totally normal to ask for those. The poor guy on the phone was so confused, you could just tell he had no idea what was going on. He even went off to ask the other people who worked there, and you could hear them in the background saying they thought he was being wound up.

Text Sample 277: POS Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score 2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000820_gpt.txt
so there 's this bit in Human Traffic at the start, when one of the main guys is getting ready to go out for this big Friday-night party, and he 's got a Bill Hicks DVD on in the background. And Hicks is doing this whole routine where he 's like, " yeah I do drugs, I drink, I smoke, I do all this stuff, " but the point he makes is he 's not hurting anyone. He says he 's never gone out, got high, and ended up smashing a beer bottle over someone 's head in a pub fight. It 's basically that idea that a bit of weed doesn't usually lead to that kind of violence.

Text Sample 278: POS Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score 2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000816_gpt.txt
It was actually really good, like really, really nice, and they did it with potatoes and this carrot and swede mash on the side. And then when I went to pay, the guy on the till only charged me two quid instead of the usual three ninety-nine. He was like, " Oh, I didn't see your vegetables, " which is obviously rubbish, but I just laughed. The feminist in me is thinking I really shouldn't go along with that kind of thing, but I 'm poor, so I just take it.

Text Sample 279: POS Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score 2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000862_gpt.txt
 we kept trying to sneak into one of the cabins on the ferry, because there was just nowhere to sleep and we were absolutely exhausted. we tried a few times and failed, and then really late at night, just before there was this really long stretch, we finally found one that seemed completely empty. so we were like, brilliant, and I jumped in, had this really quick shower, got into bed and was just settling down when suddenly the door opened. this guy walked in and I just leapt up, grabbed the door and blurted out, " is this your room? " and then I was just standing there, not really knowing what to say.

Text Sample 280: POS Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score 2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000912_gpt.txt
 So the guy she was on a date with literally just ran the second her baby father started attacking her, like he just cut. On the show people were calling in with their opinions, and this one woman said her children 's father actually broke her nose in public and nobody did anything, they all just watched. A lot of people were saying you shouldn't get involved, especially if it 's not your business or it 's just a first date, but I don't agree with that. No one deserves to get beaten like that, even if they were cheating or whatever. So what would you lot actually do in that situation?

8 NEG Dim 4

Text Sample 281: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -4.00 - profiled_gpt/t001686_gpt.txt
 what I 'll do is give her the option of going to the farm, just in case she has changed her mind. But really I ought to spend today chasing people about the Heidelberg trip. First I need to phone the usual organiser and get the contact details for that Italian woman - her email keeps bouncing because her name 's been misspelt. Once I 've got that straight, I 'll email her properly, and then this evening I 'll ring everyone to see if they 're interested in coming. It 's going to be a bit of a slog, and I might get a bit snappy by the end of it.

Text Sample 282: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000072_gpt.txt
Once the headmaster let me in, nobody said a word about me having been left outside. It was as if nothing odd had happened at all. The Asian woman on the help desk just carried on chatting away with this bloke, going on and on about anything and everything, and still didn't even pause to see if I needed help. I was just standing there, feeling increasingly anxious, watching the time and worrying I was going to be late, and then eventually the bell rang and it all kicked off.

Text Sample 283: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000784_gpt.txt
 No, it 's still quite a long way off, so I don't think it 'll be the inauguration of the new space at all. They can't really start borrowing anything until there 's a very clear idea of what the exhibition is actually about, so everything 's a bit on hold in that sense. For the moment I 'm just working on the plan on the computer, trying to get this up properly, maybe change some of the titles, and then open it all in Illustrator so I can lay it out the way I want.

Text Sample 284: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000631_gpt.txt
I 'm planning to do a paid internship over the summer after I graduate, so I can earn and save up some money for a recording project. Once I 've done that, I really want to go travelling for a bit. After the travelling, I 'll decide whether to go straight into a job or go on to do further study, I 'm not totally sure yet. I 'm hoping that if I stay positive about it all, it 'll keep me motivated to save more and actually make the whole plan happen.

Text Sample 285: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t001340_gpt.txt
I went out and bought myself this little recorder because I 'm absolutely hopeless at identifying birdsong. The idea was that I 'd go into the woods, record what I was hearing, then come back home and match the sounds up with this DVD I 've got. In theory it sounded ideal, but in practice it 's been rather a flop. The minute I press " record " they all seem to go quiet, or else three or four of them start up at once and it 's just a muddle of noise. And, to be honest, on the odd occasions I have managed to get something recorded, I 've never actually sat down and listened back to any of it. So the whole plan hasn't quite worked out as I imagined.

Text Sample 286: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t001422_gpt.txt
what he does when he finds a rotten bit, he doesn't just bodge it, he does it properly. He 'll start off by making a pattern out of really heavy card, you know, so it holds its shape. He cuts that to the exact size he needs and then lays it over the rusty section and marks all the way round it. Then he gets his plasma cutter out, and he doesn't freehand it, he clamps a nice straight bit of metal along the line so he can run the cutter against that and get a perfectly straight edge as he takes the rusty section out. Once that 's gone, he uses the card pattern to cut a new piece of metal exactly the same shape, offers it up, rests it in place and then just goes round the holes, tacking it all the way round.

Text Sample 287: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t001097_gpt.txt
Only three of us can really read music properly, but we still have a lot of fun with it. The others manage with their colour-marked notes, but it gets quite tricky once you 've got loads of bells going, up to twelve at a time. All the notes are written in one straight line on a single clef, so when everyone 's ringing away it 's hard to pick out which note is yours. With that many bells sounding together, and everything crowded onto one line, finding your own bit can be a real challenge.

Text Sample 288: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t001191_gpt.txt

well the luggage labels have arrived and they 're quite smart really, they say " outward bound " on one side, so that 's all straightforward enough. there wasn't any letter in with them at all though, no confirmation about the cabin upgrade, and certainly nothing about any extra cost, which is rather interesting. I can't see that they 've charged us anything more for it. as far as I can tell, there 's been no paperwork about it beyond these labels and the tickets. I was saying to him that it actually makes sense from their point of view. they upgrade us, and then they can resell our old cabin to somebody else, so they get the benefit of selling that twice over in effect. it 's no skin off their nose to move us up a grade if they can shift the original one again. but it is slightly odd not to have any kind of letter explaining what they 've done, you 'd think they 'd want it all in writing. anyway, the journey up to London was very good, much better than I 'd expected. the roads were really very clear, and the weather improved as we went along. it started off not so promising, but it got better and better on the way, so by the time we were getting in it was actually quite decent. there were crowds around Parliament and Downing Street, lots of people milling about there, so that bit was a bit busy, but otherwise it was fine, nothing problematic at all. so what I want you to do is just put the labels on the suitcase now, get that done, and then I 'll fill in the cabin number later on once we 're absolutely sure what it is and everything 's settled. no point in guessing and then having to redo it. just stick them on so they 're ready, and we can add the details when we 've got them properly. oh, and I popped into Lidl and did a small shop, just a few bits and pieces, nothing major, but enough to keep us going. so that 's all sorted as well.

Text Sample 289: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000985_gpt.txt
yeah so like you know that lad I know, he 's got that JVC thing coming up, doing the beauty products on the shopping channel. It 's like a grand a session, which is mad money for what it is, just standing there talking about moisturiser or whatever. And that 's just him - I keep thinking what someone properly famous must be on for the same sort of gig, it must be ridiculous, the whole business is just mental when you think about it. Then Thursday I was in with my tutor, chatting through what I 'm doing and what the plan is. We went over my ideas and where I 'm heading, just trying to get it all straight in my head really, working out the next steps and that.

Text Sample 290: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000254_gpt.txt
I did have a proper little chat with her last night when I picked her up. I told her straight I was worried, because she 'd been having a go at people for no reason and upsetting people, and then getting upset herself really quickly. I said she didn't seem to be thinking straight, and that she wasn't enjoying sixth form because of the workload. But I also made sure she knew she 's doing really well, and that what matters to me is her being happy, that 's what I 'm concerned about.

Text Sample 291: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000234_gpt.txt
yeah it was actually a really good catch up, like properly two hours just chatting. He was saying they 'd kind of just outgrown each other, and that they 'd stopped even caring when they argued, which sounded really sad but also like it was definitely over. Then I'll admit I did a bit of Facebook stalking afterwards and noticed she still hadn't changed her relationship status. I told him and he was like, oh yeah, I really should do something about that, that's a bit weird.

Text Sample 292: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000235_gpt.txt

I was saying, I actually asked him a few months ago, when we were in the car, if he thought he'd end up marrying her, and he just went, " yeah, probably. " And now they've literally just broken up, straight after that holiday - I think it was Majorca or something - because he said it just " didn't feel the same " anymore. So it's all changed really quickly. But at least he actually made the decision to end it, rather than just dragging it out when they'd been together that long.

Text Sample 293: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000104_gpt.txt

So when I was organising the Christmas party for head office, I was doing it all from here, at a distance, and there were bits that were supposed to be handled by the PA up there. She just didn't do them. It all started to unravel and I ended up having to apologise and sort the whole lot out myself, chasing everything down and making sure it was all in place. Afterwards I went back to my boss and said, look, this isn't working, she's not doing what she's meant to be doing. He just said, fine, bypass her, go straight to me or to whoever else you need. So that's what I did. Then later I noticed her email signature had changed, and it turned out she'd been replaced in that role. It didn't surprise me after what had happened with the party, to be honest.

Text Sample 294: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000066_gpt.txt

Well the cake decorating side of it, I sort of fell into that really. I do the sugar craft, the sugar flower work, and at first I didn't actually need to do the course at all. But the college turned round and said, " If you do it, we'll pay the fees, " because it would make what I'm doing look a bit more professional on paper. So I thought, well, why not, and I took it up on that basis rather than out of any burning necessity. What's been driving me mad though is the other cake decorating teacher. She's incredibly old-fashioned in how she works. Everything has to be done her way, to the letter, and she just will not bend, even when it's obvious that the students would benefit from a different approach. She doesn't adapt anything to their skills or their circumstances, and she won't sort out resources for them either - it's all very much, " This is how I did it, so this is how you'll do it. " It's completely at odds with how I teach, especially in the classes I do with special needs students. I try to be flexible and student-centred, think about what each group actually needs, and adjust things so they can succeed and enjoy it. Seeing her refuse to move an inch, when a tiny change could make things so much better for them, is really frustrating. It just highlights how differently we see teaching, even though on paper we're in the same area.

Text Sample 295: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000046_gpt.txt

I think this idea could work really well because it changes the whole dynamic of what people bring. Instead of just turning up with problems they want fixed, they 'd be coming with experiences they 're keen to develop by sharing their stories. That feels much more positive and generative. Once those stories are out there, other people—because we 're social creatures—would naturally want to get involved, respond, and add their own layers. It becomes a kind of collaborative storytelling, where development happens organically through that shared process.

Text Sample 296: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000181_gpt.txt

One of my big reservations about you going into tennis coaching is that, at the moment, tennis is something you really enjoy, and once it becomes your job it might not feel the same. I 've seen that happen myself. I used to play rugby at a reasonable level and I loved it, but then I went into fitness work. Training, which had been something I did in my free time for fun, turned into my job instead, and it changed how I felt about it.

Text Sample 297: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000436_gpt.txt

yeah Ely 's on the A10, but it 's not very far up it at all. The thing that kicked off a lot of arguments was when they were talking about sticking ten, twenty thousand new houses up there, and there were absolutely no plans to do anything about the A10 itself. It 's already rammed with people commuting into Cambridge, and then you 've got everyone going further on into London as well, and they were basically just going to pour all these extra cars onto the same road. There was some talk about trying to sort it out in a different way, by putting a new commuter station in somewhere south of Cambridge. The idea was that people wouldn't have to come all the way into Cambridge itself to pick up a train, they could just hop on there instead. But I don't know if that 's actually going to happen, or if it 's just one of those things that was mentioned once and then quietly forgotten about, because I 've not heard anything more about it since.

Text Sample 298: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000336_gpt.txt

we went out for some food with her and it was really noticeable what happened. she ordered sausages and mash, and me and whoever I was with both ordered burgers. once the food came, she just sort of went really quiet, like properly withdrawn, and it went on for a bit. eventually she admitted that she actually wished she 'd ordered a cheeseburger instead of the sausages and mash. but even when she 'd said that, she absolutely refused to swap or share or anything, and she wouldn't let us change it for her. she just kept saying that she 'd eat what she 'd ordered and that she couldn't change her mind.

Text Sample 299: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000510_gpt.txt

I 'd texted her to say I 'd give her a ring the next day, planning to call about half two. Then, about half an hour before that, she rang me instead. She said she 'd literally just got home and had to go straight back out again, so she wouldn't be in at half past two after all. She asked if I was in that night, and I said no, I had Avon or something on, so we 'd have to speak tomorrow instead. That 's when she said, " I 've got loads to tell you. "

Text Sample 300: NEG Dim 4 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000439_gpt.txt
yeah we had it really similar when we went out to Florida, we just sort of turned up with nothing booked at all, no accommodation or anything, just figured we 'd sort it when we got there. We ended up in a TGI Friday 's and got chatting to this Puerto Rican couple, and they were just ridiculously friendly, straight away. Next thing we know they 're like, " oh you haven't got anywhere to stay? Come and stay with us, we 'll take you out, " that sort of thing. And it wasn't just them either, loads of people we met out there were like that, really welcoming, really up for looking after you and showing you around. We hit this massive St Patrick 's Day street party while we were there as well, just huge, everything shut off and everyone out in the street drinking. The booze was insanely cheap, like properly cheap, so of course we just got absolutely hammered. Then later on in Miami, down on South Beach, Radio One were doing some big thing, loads of music and that, and we got really, really drunk there as well. I remember just ending up on the beach and properly projectile vomiting on the sand, it was that bad. One of those nights where you 're having a brilliant time but you 're in a right state by the end of it.

Text Sample 301: NEG Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001449_gpt.txt
she said to me, " we 're not really supposed to do this, " you know, in that sort of conspiratorial voice, but then she said she could reduce it down to twenty-one ninety-nine. That was only after I 'd explained I just couldn't afford forty-odd quid a month and asked her what my options were. I 'd made it clear right from the start of the call that I was ringing in good faith because the friends and family discount was going to be cancelled and I needed to know where I stood. Right at the beginning she did that security bit and warned me, really firmly, to think very carefully about my answers or the call would have to be terminated. She asked me roughly what my last bill had come to, and I just guessed about twenty-four pounds, and she accepted that. Then she asked where the plan had been set up, and I was racking my brains, but eventually I said it was done in store, and that turned out to be right. Once I 'd got through those questions she relaxed and actually talked to me properly about the account and then came up with that twenty-one ninety-nine offer.

Text Sample 302: NEG Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000974_gpt.txt
well for me the whole idea of being a good teacher is that you really think through and plan your lessons properly, you know, so you 're not just turning up and doing it on the fly, and then you make sure you 've got really good, solid materials, reliable resources, that kind of thing, because that 's what lays the foundations of a good class, and once you 've done all that groundwork then when you 're actually in the classroom you can concentrate on helping the students learn or get on with the tasks and it frees you up a bit.

Text Sample 303: NEG Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001452_gpt.txt
what actually happens is you don't just get one massive delivery and that 's it, they come in dribs and drabs, a wagon turns up each day with a small quantity on it, because these pipes are so big you can't really move or store loads of them at once. they 're huge, hundred and twenty mil diameter and thirteen and a half metres long, so they 're offloaded carefully and laid out, and every single pipe has its own number on it. that number goes onto the delivery note as it comes off the wagon, so you 've got a proper record of exactly which pipes arrived, when, and in what quantities. it 's not a complicated job, it 's just standing there, checking the numbers and writing them down properly, but it 's really important because that 's what they use later on for payment and for checking against what the contractor says they 've had. and if, say, ten years down the line a pipe fails, they can dig it up, read that number, and trace it straight back to the production batch and all the paperwork that goes with it, so they know exactly what they 're dealing with.

Text Sample 304: NEG Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001097_gpt.txt

Even though only three of us can properly read music, we still have a lot of fun with it. The others manage with colour-marked notes, but it gets really tricky when there are loads of bells going at once, sometimes up to twelve. All the notes are written in a single straight line on one clef, so when everyone 's ringing together it 's hard to pick out which one is yours. With all that going on, just finding your own note in the middle of the line can be quite a challenge.

Text Sample 305: NEG Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000962_gpt.txt

I decided I was going to crack down and get something done, you know, be properly productive. So I went out into the garage and started working out there, cutting these great big boards for the big Norfolk. That took me a while, but it felt good to be doing something practical. Once I 'd got that done, I thought, right, next thing is to make a banner. Then I went over to the church to pick up the church banner, but when I got there it was just too wet, conditions were no good for what I 'd planned. Still, after all that, I felt absolutely fully alert.

Text Sample 306: NEG Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000990_gpt.txt

Well I was chatting to this lady at the wedding, she came up to me and said, " I don't know anyone here, " so I said, " Well you know me now, " and we got talking. It turned out we both had sons getting married, so of course we started comparing all the arrangements and dates and everything. Then we realised we 'd actually both tried to book the same church date, the fifth of September. She 'd been told she couldn't have it, but I 'd managed to get it, which was a bit awkward really when we worked it out. We were laughing about it though, because it was just one of those odd coincidences you only discover when you start chatting properly.

Text Sample 307: NEG Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000296_gpt.txt

it would be nice if we could find that missing juggling ball, because I really want to start learning to juggle properly. I 'm also planning to work on doing a handstand, and then I 'm aiming for us to try juggling together once we 've both practised a bit. and remember, you need to practise riding your bike again tomorrow. don't forget that you have to ask to have the bike seat adjusted the next time you see him, so it 's the right height for you.

Text Sample 308: NEG Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000784_gpt.txt
no no it 's still a long way off, so I don't think it 'll be the inauguration of the new space at all. They can't really start borrowing anything until we 've got a very clear idea of what the exhibition is actually about, so everything 's a bit hypothetical at the moment. What I 'm really doing now is just working on the plan on the computer, trying to get this up properly, maybe changing some of the titles as I go, and then I want to open it in Illustrator to sort it all out.

Text Sample 309: NEG Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000712_gpt.txt
so he came over in his car to try and get mine going but he couldn't start it at all, it just wouldn't turn over. in the end we had to go to the garage nearby and they came out and jump-started it for me. once it was running, we drove straight down to where he works so he could check everything properly. he got this machine out and tested the alternator, the battery, and something else on the car with it. it turned out the battery itself was fine, it had just completely run down so there wasn't enough power left in it to start the car.

Text Sample 310: NEG Dim 4 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000512_gpt.txt
I think with these family stories there are always these odd gaps, aren't there, where you end up having to imagine the " facts " because nothing was ever properly written down. My uncle once asked how my great-grandmother actually met the man she went off with, and nobody has any idea. It could 've been that her husband introduced them, or that they met when he was there on military training. And then there 's this story about my great-grandfather chasing them through a station, which nobody can verify or even remember where it came from.

Text Sample 311: NEG Dim 4 - human - Score -3.00 - human/t001097_human.txt
it 's such a laugh but so there 's really only three of us that can read music properly but even on some of the ones who just have it marked it 's easier if you mark the colours but you keeping putting it on a different note but if and because you can have a whole load of bells ringing if you can have the whole erm twelve bells all say ringing all at once or something then you can't find your note or ten of them 's ringing y y if they 're all put in one big straight line on one one clef

Text Sample 312: NEG Dim 4 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001684_human.txt
mm when the kids were younger erm two actually two pieces of advice one was childcare don't worry about it only worry a year in advance because in the next the following year they would have thought they would have grown up and need something different cos I used to I must have had a conversation with you where I was planning well once I 've done that and then they can go onto this and I remember turn don't worry about it it 'll work out and actually I didn't after I just took one year and so that was a very valuable piece of advice

Text Sample 313: NEG Dim 4 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t000066_human.txt

and they and I've also been in cake decorating not not really I don't really need it I did it initially because I'd never done any courses and then the college said well they would pay my fees because the lady I'm working with is the only other cake decorating teacher in the college and it means that it's professional really erm but she drives me a bit bit mad with the cakes really she's she's terribly old it's terribly old fashioned and and I and you know as a teacher when I start off at the beginning of the term and I say to my students okay this is what I've got planned but is it's not appropriate to your needs we can change it so whatever happens I want this to be appropriate to to you and erm she has this sort of thing that well no we'll do this and we'll do that and then when they don't bring the re the resources in she she says well I'm not bringing them in cos you know they've got to be independent and I'm thinking well if they don't want to do it if it's not they won't bring the stuff in I haven't had any of that I do have two classes Mondays and Tuesdays where I provide all the ingredients but that's because they're special needs so and I mean actually they they kept coming and they enjoy coming but even then I had particularly with them actually you have to make sure it's appropriate

Text Sample 314: NEG Dim 4 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t000056_human.txt

who honestly who ties a dog this size I'm going to put you outside cos you're just being a pain no come on who ties a dog that size to a table which is movable? It was It was windy and the erm the table and chairs were moving were actually it transpired we'd sort of been going round outside Pret in the high street and the chair fell over and he just took fright when the chair fell over and ran amazingly he didn't take all of the sort of erm surrounding stuff with him there's these sort of canvas sides outside there he went straight through the gap and straight across the high street amazing that he didn't catch anybody en route and came to a standstill with the once the table had smashed the Body Care shop window

Text Sample 315: NEG Dim 4 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001238_human.txt

odd not to and then he said oh are you going to bar? so I said yeah said oh I'll come with you so he came up to the bar with me so I said do you want a drink? so he said oh oh alright then another pint of Peroni so I said oh I've got a few to get so he said oh I'll help you carry them back so I said you'll know all the Shakespeare stuff now cos you've he said well I want to hear it from your perspective cos I trust you so I just said you've been chatting with I said she told you all of the no no no tell me tell me so we're taking drinks back and forward and I was telling him but then our two drinks are last on the bar

Text Sample 316: NEG Dim 4 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t000254_human.txt

I had a little chat with her last night when I and and said to her I'm a little bit worried about you I says because you 're having a go at people for for no reason you you 're upsetting people you 're having a go at I said no you know can says things I says but you get upset with quite quickly you you 're not thinking straight I says I 'm just a little bit conc I 'm concerned about you I 'm worried about you I said I know that you 're not enjoying the sixth form as such

Text Sample 317: NEG Dim 4 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t000974_human.txt

the the fact that a teacher a as a teacher you need to be able to lay the foundations of a good class by planning it well and making sure that your resources are quality resources that are going to aid the learning process em and then once you 've got that in place you can then focus on your teaching to help lea um students learn um that what is in front of them or what task that they have been asked to do so you can kind of free up your own time

Text Sample 318: NEG Dim 4 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t000958_human.txt

with the original erm rails or or the odd erm well some of some of the views had changed cos they 'd built things here and and also erm when I was at school you weren't allowed to go across the joining erm sort of erm er what would you call it? not exactly a bridge cos it was over a corridor but the bit the walkway that was on top of the corridor joining erm the bit erm from the dining hall where the passage went across to the rest of the classrooms with our music in erm you you weren't allowed to go across that because one end was the staff room and the other end was che near the chemistry lab or something

Text Sample 319: NEG Dim 4 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t000009_human.txt

and I said well he he 's up at half five when he 's on mornings he 's on shifts it 's only once every three weeks so and he said you know if it gets if it is loud and if anybody 's bothered by it he 'll park it up the road a bit or round the corner a bit and so it 'll only be an odd night an odd morning and I just said to him you need to get the thing stuck in the exhaust and only take it out when you 're going off doing other stuff in the day

Text Sample 320: NEG Dim 4 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000844_human.txt

no I mean I had a friend who was a civil servant who erm who s I mean er she worked at the department for and she was the first in the loop about everything because even the ministers would go for a fag so she would be in the fa in the smoking room and so would the ministers be or even the secretary of state and some really quite senior people so she got all kinds of gen about things that you know were way outside her pay grade through chatting to people in the smoking room so definitely worth being a smoker sometimes

9 POS Dim 5

Text Sample 321: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 7.00 - human/t001480_human.txt
they 're pink they 're not the same? they literally are the same aren't they? they 're the same value good grief I 'm not going to play with you if you behave like this you have got the same amount of money that you had do you understand that? it is the same amount so could give you five individual things or something representing five it would be the same thing no we can't play until has just sorted herself out of this ridiculous issue right do you understand? you know that a five pound note an actual real one is worth the same as five pounds? so what is the issue? you can't have like loads and loads and loads of notes if you 're not going to sell anything or buy anything or do anything if we need to have them for whenever we all pass go right? now just get on with the game please without having an issue right one two three four five six seven eight nine ten

Text Sample 322: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 6.00 - human/t000849_human.txt
lovely lady and there 's a Polish lass as well there 's two others so they 've got four vets and they 've just put out another bumf about who they are all the new vets are there and I met the two of them and they 're brilliant and they they 're starting a healthy pet club and for nine ninety-nine per that 's the lowest maybe it goes up with the age of the dog nine ninety-nine a month you get everything you get your flea your worm two annual checks erm and a few other things on the list erm and that 'll work out far cheaper cos at the minute you know before lots of just before lots of medicine for Toby over the year every three months you 've got to do him that comes to erm that 's a hundred two hundred pound

Text Sample 323: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 6.00 - human/t000434_human.txt
yeah but unfortunately these days any bit of snow is just used as an excuse now ah it 's snowing I can't get to work I can't do this can't do that yeah I mean I remember last last January the year before last rather yeah year and bit and eh I was I had to go for eh we had we have our monthly like commercial reviews at the regional office and for me I normally I would leave at five and would hget there for seven so I can miss all the traffic on the M25 and eh I 'd left and it was when I mean all the real bad snow and I left at five and I got there at eight l and I sat outside cos waiting for someone to turn up to open it up and everything and it got to half past ten and no one had turned up so I just want oh bummer that I 'm going to go and it took me it only took me two hours to get home because obviously by half past ten all the people that were going to try had tried and just it was done no one else was travelling so it was clear em but I mean there were people that were that lived almost in walking distance of the office and they just hadn't even bothered to come in I 'm like I 've driven a hundred miles and I 've got there where is everybody else? You know people that were really close to the office and didn't even bother to try and go in you know really peed me off but eh I mean I can remember when eh good few years ago when was that? Nine years ago now? Yeah will have been nine years ago when the M eleven ended up in shit because of the snow and they hadn't gritted anything and I was working at Harlow at the time but living out on the M four and eh I 'd left and it was I 'd left at sort of basically said oh we need to get gone otherwise we 're going to get stuck and I 'd left at three o'clock or four o'clock something like that I 'd come out onto the M11 going south and there was nobody I mean there was snow everywhere but it was like where is everybody? What 's going on? And it was cos it was closed further up where it had just been totally whited out and it was so bad that people were stuck in their cars like over like twenty-four hours and they were in their cars and they were running out of fuel where they would have it left of tick over to keep warm and things like that and it was like days before all of them were eh clear but I mean thankfully I was sort of ahead of the storm so to speak so I got home and everything fine but yeah they 've never it 's never been well they 've they 've always been more prepared for it now but then they 'd done absolutely nothing before the snow they knew it was coming but they 'd done nothing cos they didn't think it was really going to be as bad and like suddenly the whole of the M eleven was totally out of it totally gone

Text Sample 324: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 6.00 - human/t001151_human.txt
 ye the grammar 's really bad religions youth and active citizenship EU integration and how joining the EU would be good or not lunch and then in the afternoon meet with volunteers in Zid and walking tour true through old part of Podgorica day two workshop on the freedom of journalism visit one newspaper or TV station in the afternoon interviews with some political analysis and journalists day three a democratic workshop topic on human rights introduction working in small groups planned visit of the guest we will do our best to provide the participants with an opportunity to talk with a guest either an MP or representative of the UK embassy in Montenegro about subtopics covered during the workshop each group will have ten to fifteen minutes to interview the guest or to discuss about subtopic visiting the parliament of Montenegro tour of the building er during the visit participants will have the opportunity to get familiar with the parliamentary democracy in Montenegro through interactive methods then presentation and evaluation free in the afternoon day four visit of the Catholic church discussion with people engaged in Don Bosko centre visit of an orthodox cathedral discussion with priest in cathedral er excursion visit the monastery out of city Ostrog day five visit the Madras Muslim school and cultural centre in Dinosa a village near Albanian border visit the gymnasium in Tuzi and mani municipality with majority of MMuslim and Catholic Albanians workshop with students joint lunch excursion for elderly part of group vine roads dinner on the lake day six excursion visit the seaside beach Budva and Kotor

Text Sample 325: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 5.00 - human/t000367_human.txt
 I think I 've just had such a long run starting with the Norwegian in Cuba after a very quick breaking up with Will so I came back from Cuba so that was Ju May two thousand and eight this is four years ago and so I 've broken up with Will in February I 've gone travelling for three months come back I 'm sort of seeing this Norwegian guy all quite casual he came up to Cambridge like five times I went to Norway and then when I came back he disappeared off the face of the planet so that was a start of the where men are crazy

Text Sample 326: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 5.00 - human/t000164_human.txt

it won't be ten-hour days because for a start it 's too dark to offload at the moment after well say for because it 's still gonna be five o'clock in Scotland they 're not going to offload anything else you get there at eight in the morning and it 's not gonna be any longer than that because you t you tend to have maybe three or four wagons of pipe arriving a day they might have up to six arriving a day with four pipes on each that 's twenty-four pipes maximum you have to right I mean cos it takes two hours generally to offload those four pipes

Text Sample 327: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 5.00 - human/t001668_human.txt
it came from when they they had work done on the bungalow when they first moved in there put a pipe in and it wasn't done properly so about a year ago from now they had to move back out to the Max Mexborough house that 's now While they re-did the work that they botched the insurance for the time that they were out of the house for two months when they said well we would have rented out Mexborough for eight hundred pound a month gave them two or three grand plus compensation for time money blah blah

Text Sample 328: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 5.00 - human/t001202_human.txt
I don't see the point of holding onto it obviously I 've said I wanna take you out in it tonight to listen to it you know when you just I know it 's about to cost me more money? it is about to cost me more money I was I was kind of surprised that they were even willing to offer me like six or seven hundred quid for it because it 's done so many miles and it 's so old and it is battered but I 'm surprised it 's even worth that at the moment my concern is actually if I let it get to a state where it needs more work again not only is it gonna cost me money but actually the value of the car isn't gonna warrant me paying it if the car 's worth six hundred quid now I don't wanna keep spending two or three hundred pound at a time to fix it cos that 's jus ridiculous

Text Sample 329: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 5.00 - human/t001145_human.txt
well I didn't have to pay rent in Peru because it was provided with our internship and when we worked it out we were working ten hours a day five days a week so we were working fifty hours a week and I was getting two hundred pounds the equivalent of getting paid in dollars but they couldn't so it worked out I was being paid a pound an hour but then we have got we have our flat provided and we got health insurance with that that we did actually end up using

Text Sample 330: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 5.00 - human/t000100_human.txt
maybe I was furious at the weekend cos I got my erm renewal for my car insurance and it came up and the cost was six hundred and thirty-two pounds I was like no no no no when I renewed it last year I got it down to four hundred and eighty pounds why has it now gone up by over a hundred and fifty pounds? so I rang them up and I was like erm excuse me this is this is wrong and I 'm not paying it and she was like oh okay they reduced it to four hundred and thirty-five they actually dropped it to two hundred pounds just because I called up and complained about like

Text Sample 331: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t000815_human.txt
and I was like hold the phone Michael what the hell? Two sausages beans and two eggs and he was like three pound twenty-four and I was like are you sure that 's right Michael? And he said are you doubting me? And I said well I w I wouldn't dare Michael I wouldn't dare but it is quite early in the morning I just wonder whether you accidentally slipped on the button for sausage and pressed it ten times rather than two times because that 's a bit obscene Em and I said if you 're gonna recalculate it as more I wanna just have that price please eh and he did it again and it came out at two pounds and I was like right so how did we get the three pounds twenty-four? and he was like yeah I n I 'm so sorry about that such a piss take if he didn't I think he does it on purpose because obviously he 's the manager so he just overcharges everybody

Text Sample 332: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t000591_human.txt
yeah and this was like two or three months later the whole town of like a hundred thousand people were evacuated cos the like and just say oh that 's a bit sketchy the whole ground was made of like this grey silt everywhere it wasn't like proper ground or anything and we take this one corner and it 's a real bend like this and we 're on this crappy little bus and the tyre starts coming off and like we 're trying to go round and like all the locals are like doing this and all this kind of shit and everyone 's like kind of looking out and we 're just sitting there like please get round this corner because it wasn't a big drop but it was maybe you know a hundred metres or something it was enough to kill you

Text Sample 333: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t000479_human.txt
yeah I think so Yeah I think so I think ' s having a bit of a hard time of it with I think she 's coming to the point of there 's always been quite a gap between them intelligence wise and so far they 've kind of dealt with it as in doesn't know and said well actually I I like all the qualities that he has so I 'm just ignoring that but she spent the last three to six months going through his divorce with him and basically doing his accounts and she 's of and shit loads of money like thousands and thousands of pounds that his

Text Sample 334: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t001452_human.txt
so they 'll get they 'll get four of these pipes on a wagon and you 'd probably get between four and six wagons a day turning up because they take two hours to offload these four pipes they 've got this clever device which has got these suction caps on that lift them up and plonk them down and then they they lay them out in a in a line so they are ready to be rolled into the trench and put together erm or they use a crane offload so it just takes a long time to offload this sort of pipe you 've got to take all the ties off holding it on the wagon cos it 's been transported by road so it 's a big job so you 've got maybe twenty to twenty-eight pipes turning up a day erm and all you 've got to do so it 's it 's not high you know it 's not a lot it 's not like your leggings where you 've got hundreds a day you 've got maybe twenty pieces and each one has got a pipe number on the end and you 've just got to write the pipe number down on the delivery note and get somebody in charge to sign it so that they 'll pay for it

Text Sample 335: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t001589_human.txt
all this started spiralling from so I I to be honest I don't really understand it so I 'm just gonna write and say look I don't understand how this has happened I have come in and spoke to you about this before you can see I paid in a cheque of two hundred pounds two months ago to hopefully clear this and it hasn't it 's just been eaten by more charges and I 'm in the same position again I don't understand it can I have a meeting with you please and go through this account cos it 's just gonna get out of control

Text Sample 336: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t000674_human.txt
they get the book out and look all through and then they 'll sso they they don't really know what it is and then they find it now it 's listed in the two thousand and fifteen book so it 's listed and this book comes out every six months but then there 's a great big erm sheet of paper paper that you can print off and erm they print off the computer and it 's also inside my drugs and basically when I went back to Dr and he prescribed it he said I 'm just gonna have to check on these on this drug he said cos I know it 's got a side effect but I can't remember what we know of it so far erm and one in ten people which is quite high one in ten people experience these commonly palpitations nausea panic attacks erm headaches

Text Sample 337: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t000589_human.txt
I can go and do it myself and I will go and do it myself but we had to set off at like it because the clouds come in so early erm the clouds come in at like nine o'clock and it 's a good four or five hour hike up to up to the top erm so we had to set off at like three in the morning to get there it was quite cold so we were already at like two and a half thousand metres elevation we 're gonna hike up to like four and a half thousand metres elevation and erm kind of in twilight as we 're going up I swear I saw like a leopard or something it was like I saw something je we got lost on the path because it wasn't even very clear where we were going wasn't really a clear path at all and I saw this I think to this day it must have been a large dog or something I have no idea what it was but it it just went off in front of us I just saw it go round the corner as I kind of came round the corner and it put me really on edge and I was just like there is no

Text Sample 338: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t001501_human.txt
and then I went to erm I suppose when they were about six and seven so within the sort of erm if you like the the sort of common threads of the job within universities erm a careers adviser would be allocated to certain disciplines so they would have effectively a kind of portfolio of academic departments so erm for example at we had somebody who erm had been a biochemistry academic so he covered all science and engineering disciplines erm and within that element of the role erm you would erm develop good relationships with the head of department and with usually there would be a particular member of academic staff who would be responsible for things like erm erm supporting the student managing more sort of personal tutoring that goes on through which you would be able to get your services sort of advertised erm in some departments this is where the greatest variation is erm in some universities and in some departments within certain universities but not others there might be a careers module so some careers advisers would also be lecturers erm and some of ours did that in certain departments so in managements and in I can't remember the other department but that would be a taught module that they would mark and so on so that 's a quite a different set of responsibilities really because effectively you 're having to design a teaching package and so and the funding as a manager gets quite erm a lot more complicated if you 're getting internal money from departments for buying out certain careers adviser time erm but the what careers advisers in all universities do would be to see students on an individual basis and to see and to see students on in a group basis so whereas you might if you 've got erm a commitment a teaching commitment within the department you 'd be slotted into the timetable we also ran erm a programme of erm group work sessions which students could book into erm completely independent of their department so we would cover erm a whole variety of things and that would be we 'd we 'd sort of debate what was necessary for the forthcoming year and look at movements in the market and what we might need to ensure they know about and erm look at erm how successful they 'd been in previous year as to whether we repeated them but you 'd always get the sort of four or five core bread and butter sort of topics which are about marketing yourself finding out about employers erm performing at interview passing selection tests erm networking creative job hunting all those sort of bout five or six sort of core eh sessions we would we would run anyway but there might be other things which we 'd top it up with depending on perhaps you know if the market had slumped in one particular area or something we might run sessions on erm erm you know alternatives to or

Text Sample 339: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t000092_human.txt
 yeah it so it like er after after thinking and er again with the competitive side of we wanna try and make this this department the best in the country and w we 're still striving for that but it it 's a long a long way down the line I think you need to er be in it for the long haul like I thought twelve months like if I could literally get us on the the with my manager get us on the the point where we where it almost there and then then I could could go off and do my own thing but I 've realized six months in now it 's it 's gonna it 's gonna be like er two or three years and and I 'm not prepared to to

Text Sample 340: POS Dim 5 - human - Score 4.00 - human/t001495_human.txt
 it varied from upper classe upper level classes sort of it could be as few as sort of three or four lower level classes thirty and so for yeah for the show rehearsals you 'd have to pay say for a fiver an hour for three hours a night four or five times a week and there 'd be a hundred people there so that 's not an insignificant amount of money Um and you had to buy all your costumes and and stuff so I think it was sort of taken as reasonable but like yeah I had to get a day off school every time I did a show

Text Sample 341: POS Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score 6.00 - profiled_gpt/t001480_gpt.txt
 look the pink five hundred notes are exactly the same value as lots of the smaller ones, all right? you still have the same amount of money, it 's just in bigger notes. it doesn't change how much you 've got at all. it 's like if I gave you a real five pound note instead of five separate pound coins – you ’d still have five pounds, wouldn’t you? it ’s the same thing. this is a completely ridiculous issue to get stuck on, and we can’t play properly until you get this sorted out. we are not going to sit here arguing about what colour the money is. you ’ve got the same value, that ’s what matters. now come on, just accept the notes you ’ve got and get on with the game. right, I ’m counting it out : one, two, three, four, five – there you are, that makes the right amount. now we can carry on.

Text Sample 342: POS Dim 5 – profiled_gpt – Score 5.00 – profiled_gpt/t001184_gpt.txt
I mean, nan ’s basically running out of money to pay for that care home, and I ’m starting to wonder what happens when her money ’s gone – does it then fall to the next level of family to cover it? The staff there reckon she ’s strong enough to go on to about a hundred and five, but she just can’t afford to stay there that long on her own funds. It ’s eight, nine hundred pounds a week, something like three and a half thousand a month. She does get some kind of nursing grant, but even so, it ’s a huge amount every year.

Text Sample 343: POS Dim 5 – profiled_gpt – Score 5.00 – profiled_gpt/t000849_gpt.txt
they ’ve now got this lovely lady vet there, she ’s Polish, and there are two others as well, so four vets in total. they ’ve sent out all the information about the new vets and what they ’re offering, and they ’re starting this “ healthy pet club ”. it ’s nine ninety-nine a month, though it might be a bit more if the dog ’s older, I ’m not quite sure on that bit. it includes all the flea and worm treatments, and you get two annual checks, plus a whole list of other things they ’ve written down. when you add up what we spend on Toby at the moment – roughly two hundred quid a year, because he ’s done every three months – this works out much cheaper.

Text Sample 344: POS Dim 5 – profiled_gpt – Score 4.00 – profiled_gpt/t001589_gpt.txt
and that ’s where it all started spiralling really, and to be honest I don’t actually understand what ’s gone on with my account now. I ’m going to write to the bank and say I don’t understand it, and that I ’ve already spoken to them about it. I paid in that two hundred pound cheque a couple of months ago to clear it, and instead it ’s just been swallowed up by more charges, so I ’m back where I started. I ’ll ask for a meeting to go through the account, otherwise it ’s just going to get out of control.

Text Sample 345: POS Dim 5 – profiled_gpt – Score 4.00 – profiled_gpt/t001343_gpt.txt
For a couple of months we had absolutely nothing coming to the feeder, and I was really disappointed. I did wonder if it was because there are so many cats passing through the garden. Then this great tit turned up that obviously had babies. It started bringing them to the feeder, which was lovely. The first day it brought two fledglings, the next day there were three, and then the day after that there were four. It was feeding them directly from the feeder, so they were clearly just fledging.

Text Sample 346: POS Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - profiled_gpt/t001294_gpt.txt
it 's it 's almost like welding what they 're doing on those pipes, you know, with the torches and the rubber, it sounds absolutely awful. He said the weather 's really nice up there, which almost makes it worse, because they 're stuck down on the docks instead of actually on site. And now the customer 's saying they want eight pipes next week, but they can't even leave the docks yet. They 're not allowed to move anything until the customer pays the two hundred and thirty thousand in VAT on that first batch. And there 's still six more deliveries due in about ten days ' time, with just this tiny group of them on site trying to sort it all out.

Text Sample 347: POS Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - profiled_gpt/t001668_gpt.txt
it came from the insurance payout when they had all that trouble with the pipes in the bungalow, you know when the pipe work was completely messed up and they couldn't stay there. They had to move back into the Mexborough house for a bit, it was about two months or so they were there. The insurance company paid out on the basis of what the bungalow would have cost to rent, something like eight hundred quid a month, and then there was a bit extra on top of that as well, so they ended up with two or three grand.

Text Sample 348: POS Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - profiled_gpt/t000414_gpt.txt
I think universities get it completely the wrong way round. They tend to put the weakest, narrowest lecturers in front of first-years, when actually those students need the very best, most broad-minded people right from the start. A really good lecturer should be able to walk into a room of any size - ten students or three hundred - and still communicate clearly, generously, and with real energy. It 's a bit like a DJ : if you 're a proper DJ, you give it everything whether there are five people on the dance floor or five hundred. You don't hold back just because the crowd is small or quiet ; you still give. That 's what good teaching should be like - this sense of giving outwards, not hoarding what you know. The trouble is, a lot of lecturers just don't seem able to be generous with their knowledge. It 's as if something in them is blocked. They may be brilliant in their own heads, but that brilliance doesn't flow out to the students, and that 's where it all falls down.

Text Sample 349: POS Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - profiled_gpt/t000092_gpt.txt
When I first took the job on I was dead set on making our department the best in the country. I 'm quite competitive like that, so in my head I had this idea that I 'd turn it all around in about twelve months. But after about six months of actually doing it and really thinking it through, I 've realised it 's nowhere near that simple. To get it where I want it to be, realistically we 're talking two or three years of solid graft, not just one. And that 's the thing - I 've had to admit to myself I 'm just not prepared to tie myself down for that long to this role.

Text Sample 350: POS Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - profiled_gpt/t000061_gpt.txt

She 'll be doing her two foundation years up in Staffordshire, and in each of those years she 'll rotate through three different jobs. In her first year she 's got three months at Burton hospital doing cardiology, then three months doing breast surgery, which she 's really pleased about. After that she 'll be at Tamworth hospital in psychiatry, which she 's not keen on at all. The one consolation is that it 's more of a nine-to-five clinic unit rather than a full-on hospital post, so with a bit of luck she might manage to avoid doing night shifts there.

Text Sample 351: POS Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 8.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001480_gpt.txt
no listen the pink five hundred notes are exactly the same value as lots of the smaller ones, it all adds up to the same amount of money. you haven't lost anything at all, you still have the same total, it 's just in different notes. think about it like this : if I gave you a real five-pound note instead of five one-pound coins, you wouldn't say it 's not the same, would you? it 's just one note instead of several coins, but it 's still five pounds. this is a completely ridiculous issue to get stuck on, and we cannot play until you understand that and stop fussing about it. you need to accept the pink five hundreds, and then we can get on with the game. right, come on, let 's just get on with it now. one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten.

Text Sample 352: POS Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000164_gpt.txt
No, it won't really be a ten-hour day, because you can't offload once it 's dark, so that limits everything straightaway. The way it usually works is you get there for about eight, and you 'll probably only have, what, three wagons in a day? Each wagon 's only got four pipes on it, and it takes about two hours to offload a wagon properly. So you 're talking roughly six hours ' actual offloading, maximum. You just can't stretch it to ten, because the daylight and the number of wagons and pipes set a hard limit on how much you can do.

Text Sample 353: POS Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001495_gpt.txt
well it really varied you know in the upper level classes there 'd only be like three or four of us sometimes but the lower level ones could be huge like thirty people in a class and then for the big show rehearsals they were about five pounds an hour and we 'd be there three hours a night four or five times a week and there were around a hundred people doing it so that 's actually quite a lot of money when you think about it and on top of that we had to buy our own costumes and we had to get a day off school every time we did a show

Text Sample 354: POS Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 5.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001294_gpt.txt
it 's almost like they 're welding really, the way they 're having to work on those pipes, it sounds awful. He said the weather 's lovely up there, really nice, but that doesn't help when they 're stuck at the docks instead of actually being on site. The customer wants eight pipes next week, that 's what they 're asking for, but they can't even leave the docks at the moment. They 're not allowed to move anything until the customer pays the VAT on the first batch, and that 's two hundred and thirty thousand pounds. There are still six more deliveries due in about ten days, and because of all this there are only a few people on site.

Text Sample 355: POS Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000603_gpt.txt
It 's actually really nice to see him like this now. For so long he was just quietly plugging away, paying hardly any rent, barely having any outgoings, and managing to save about five hundred quid a month. He got himself up to around fifteen grand as a house deposit, which is a massive thing to do. But especially after going to Manila, he 's kind of realised that buying a house isn't actually what he wants at the moment. And I think that 's a good thing, that he 's figured that out rather than just going through with it because he felt he should.

Text Sample 356: POS Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000100_gpt.txt
I was absolutely furious at the weekend. My car insurance renewal came through at six hundred and thirty-two quid, when I only paid four hundred and eighty last year. That 's over a hundred and fifty quid more for no reason. I just thought, no way am I paying that, so I rang them up straightaway and told them it was wrong and I wasn't going to pay it. And then, just like that, they dropped it down to four hundred and thirty-five. They basically knocked about two hundred quid off just because I complained.

Text Sample 357: POS Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000591_gpt.txt
it was only like two or three months before they actually evacuated the whole town, about a hundred thousand people, because of the volcano risk, and we 'd already done that bus journey out of there. The whole thing was just horrible - the ground was this unstable grey silt, so the road didn't feel solid at all, and the bus itself was really crappy. Then on this really sharp bend, with about a hundred-metre drop right next to us, one of the tyres actually started to come off. You could see the locals getting properly anxious, and that 's when you really know it 's bad, when they 're scared too. We were all just sitting there thinking, if we go over, that 's it, we 're dead, just hoping we 'd somehow make it round and get off alive.

Text Sample 358: POS Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000369_gpt.txt
I came out of it with about eight thousand pounds of debt, because I took out a career development loan to do my master 's after I 'd been travelling. Altogether I borrowed around ten thousand pounds : about five thousand went straight on the tuition fees, and another three thousand was meant for living costs while I was studying. After that, I basically had to work just to be able to afford food. It wasn't like there was any extra for going out or anything, it was literally just covering the basics so I could get through the course.

Text Sample 359: POS Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000092_gpt.txt
I 've been doing a lot of thinking about the job, especially with how competitive I am and how much I wanted to make our department the best in the country. When I first came in, I honestly thought I could turn everything around in about twelve months. But now I 'm six months into it, and I 've had to be realistic with myself. Looking at how things actually work here, and what it would really take to get the department to that level, I can see it 's more like a two or three year project. And I 've realised I 'm just not prepared to commit myself to it for that long.

Text Sample 360: POS Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 4.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000487_gpt.txt
I got talked into moving my pension into this new superannuation scheme. On paper it looked better than what I already had, so I thought, " Why not? " and went ahead and transferred it all over. Only afterwards did I realise it wasn't one of those things you could just leave alone ; you had to actively manage it, keep an eye on it, make decisions. I really didn't want that, so I tried to move it back to where it was before. By then, though, it was too late. I couldn't reverse it, and I ended up stuck with two frozen pots instead. One of them is projected to pay me something like twelve pounds a year, and the other one about a hundred and twenty pounds a year.

10 NEG Dim 5

Text Sample 361: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000539_gpt.txt
so the story goes that in Woolpit these village children were out and they suddenly came across this brother and sister who had green skin. they brought them back, and the boy was really sad and never settled, and in the end he died. the girl, at first, would only eat green beans, nothing else at all, but gradually she started to eat normal food. as she did that she lost the green colour in her skin, and she began to learn to speak like everyone around her. once she could talk properly she explained that they 'd come from a place that was always dark, and they 'd followed the sound of music and somehow come out into the sunlight. eventually she grew up and even married someone local.

Text Sample 362: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000307_gpt.txt
and he was saying you know because he was really really good at badminton when he was younger he sort of pushes that a bit and says it 's actually really easy to get a high mark in badminton umpiring so that 's why he 's offering that as an option along with things like hockey and orienteering and all that and then on the inset day we got this email through about what they want for the tennis so we 've got to video all of his tennis strokes and then also sort out a time for them to assess the coaching side of it and there was this whole back and forth about when he 's actually going to come and watch the coaching session and how that 's going to work and he 's gone through it all with him and said yes you can do it and told him what he needs to do and what they 're going to do and all the rest of it and then how stupid is this he 's asked him to get his teacher to send through his CRB form if he 's going to do it which I just think is ridiculous really I mean after all that organising and saying yes you can take it and explaining everything and then suddenly it 's oh we 'll need the CRB form sending through as well which just seems a bit over the top to me

Text Sample 363: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000312_gpt.txt

So we get in the car to talk, and he 's clearly nervous, saying he 's probably going to cry, but he still really wants to tell me everything. Then he comes out with it : he doesn't have a driving licence anymore, he 's actually banned from driving. He explains that before, he 'd only ever sort of mentioned something about it in this really vague way, never giving me any real detail. Now he finally admits what actually happened. He tells me he was arrested for reckless driving. He 'd had a drink, and he was just over the legal limit, and that 's what led to everything. It 's the first time he 's properly owned up to it with me, rather than skirting around the issue. I 'm just sitting there in the car, listening, while he 's pushing himself to keep going, even though he 's on the verge of tears, determined to finally be honest about losing his licence and why.

Text Sample 364: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000077_gpt.txt

I went over to her in the car park and said, " You need to listen to her side of the story, " because the poor girl was trying to explain that she was alright and had tried to call. The mother was just totally incapable of listening, absolutely bawling, and I was trying to get her to calm down and actually hear what her daughter was saying. Eventually it all got resolved, but the girl will never be allowed on a school trip again, which is tragic really, because she 's exactly the sort of child who needs to get away. Being brought up in that environment, that kind of behaviour just seems completely normal to her.

Text Sample 365: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001418_gpt.txt

no no actually I 'm telling it in the wrong order it didn't start with the feet at all it started with a neck and back massage while you 're sitting on this little stool and they really work into your shoulders and upper back first and only after that do they move you so you 're lying down and then you get the proper foot massage bit and then right at the end they do this really unusual thing on your lower back sort of loosening everything up there you 'd really like it it 's a completely different feeling from a normal massage

Text Sample 366: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001413_gpt.txt

I was so close to just paying the £24 and getting it over with, because in the grand scheme of things it 's not a lot of money, is it? But I just thought, no, they 're in the wrong here and I 'm not paying it. So I rang Citizens Advice and explained the whole thing, and they said no, under the new Consumer Rights Act they can't do that. They pointed me to some template letters on their website, proper legal-sounding ones, asserting my right to a full refund because the goods were faulty within thirty days. One of them was titled something like " notice before a county court claim " or similar. So I used that, adapted it, and sent it off, and in the letter I also asked them about independent dispute resolution, you know, what their process was for that, because I wanted it all done properly and by the book.

Text Sample 367: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001408_gpt.txt

so she 's like look it 's just a festival, calm down, but he keeps going on and on, saying how much he loves her, how he wants to be with her and all this heavy stuff. she tries to move away from him a bit, like give him the hint, but he 's still right there, proper obsessed. my mate, you know what she 's like, dead protective, steps in and tells him to leave her alone, but he 's insisting he loves her, trying to push past. the girl starts getting scared then, and turns out they were actually lesbians.

Text Sample 368: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001389_gpt.txt
yeah definitely jealousy, like that was a massive part of it. and then at the funeral, after we 'd talked, there was this really weird bit where she just sort of stared at me. we didn't say hi or anything, it wasn't friendly or warm at all, just this cold, silent moment. I honestly can't even explain how strange it felt, it was just indescribably weird. and I always think back to it now, like why didn't I say something? I really regret just standing there and not doing anything.

Text Sample 369: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001382_gpt.txt
At work we had a huge stock transfer, so loads of council properties went over to a housing association. After that, the chief executive really went after one big, very valuable house where a family of eight were living. He just wanted them out so he could sell it off, and he pushed it really hard. I had to step in and say, look, you can't just evict them like that, it 's illegal, and that stopped it. But that 's the point : once those houses are in the hands of a chief executive instead of an elected councillor, it all becomes about the financial bottom line.

Text Sample 370: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001374_gpt.txt
she was literally grumpy the whole weekend, and it felt like the entire trip turned into this weird competition about who knew Paris better. Every time I said something, she had to correct me, like at the Louvre - I 'd say one thing and she 'd jump in with " no actually it 's this, " like she needed to prove she knew more. then at Galeries Lafayette it all kicked off again. I sprayed some perfume, just trying stuff out, and she got all stroppy, saying " you 're not allowed to do that. " I was like, that 's ridiculous, of course you 're allowed to test perfume, and I pushed back a bit because it was such an outdated thing to say. she really didn't like being challenged. later on, we were in this café and she suddenly comes out with, " I 'm really pissed off with you. " apparently she felt I 'd snapped at her earlier. from my point of view I hadn't snapped at all, I 'd just disagreed with her, but she 'd clearly been stewing about it and decided to confront me there. it just put this cloud over everything.

Text Sample 371: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001370_gpt.txt
She was just generally rude on the phone when I told her that we 'd decided to move out at the end of the tenancy. I said that we were going to leave then, and I checked with her that the tenancy definitely ends in January. She confirmed that, but then said we have to put it in writing, that we have to email her to say we 're moving out. I said that was fine and that I 'd email her. So basically I explained our decision, confirmed the January end date, and agreed to follow it up with an email like she asked.

Text Sample 372: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001366_gpt.txt

I just keep coming back to how my parents were by then - they 'd already had enough, really, and they just sort of overlooked it. I could pick up tunes on the piano so easily when I was little, and nobody really clocked that it was a proper talent. Later on, when I finally did get into formal lessons as a teenager, I just lost all motivation. There were too many distractions, and it was hard work, and I didn't push through it. Now it feels like such a deep regret. I get really frustrated with myself about it - it feels almost criminal not to be using that part of my brain. It 's like being illiterate, having this thing and not doing anything with it.

Text Sample 373: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001364_gpt.txt

So this article was by this young Conservative bloke who 'd been invited onto this BBC Three show that was meant to get young people talking about politics, you know, bridge that gap with all the disaffected youth and everything. And he was explaining how those kinds of programmes always have one person there basically as a stooge, whose job is to sit and defend themselves and their views while everyone else piles on for an hour. And he realised, in this really funny way, that that was him. He walked into the studio, looked round the panel thinking, " Who 's the poor sod who has to defend all the unpopular views? " and then went, " Oh ... it 's me. "

Text Sample 374: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000075_gpt.txt

I honestly think now a lot of them would see being on something like Jeremy Kyle as an aspiration in itself - you know, " get on the telly, have a big barney, air all your dirty laundry ", and they 'd be proud of it. It 's that whole thing of, " I 've been on Jeremy Kyle, I 've had a DNA test on telly, " and they think that 's an achievement. And I just find that really shocking, that that 's become something to aim for. I think it 's really irresponsible broadcasting, actually, because it encourages people to think that behaving like that, and exposing your private life like that, is perfectly normal and even glamorous. It ties in with what we see at school. I remember taking this one girl on a school trip - she was a difficult kid, but we 'd laid everything out very clearly beforehand. We 'd told them all : mobiles off, they 'll have set times they can call home, and if there 's an emergency the parents can contact the school or the staff. Everyone knew the rules, it was all in the letters home. But this girl 's mum just would not stop phoning. She kept ringing and ringing, even though she 'd been told exactly how it would work. And then it turned out she didn't even have a landline, because she hadn't paid the bill, so her mobile was the only way to get hold of her - and she still ignored all the instructions. When we got back, she came storming into the car park, absolutely guns blazing, straight away, shouting her head off. She wasn't interested in what had actually happened, or what we 'd said in advance, she just launched into this big public scene. And that 's the sort of thing that gets normalised when you 've got that kind of TV and that kind of behaviour held up as entertainment.

Text Sample 375: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000094_gpt.txt

we 'd finished the business we were there for and gone out to lunch, and over the meal this colleague started telling me about the way the rail companies had to handle their insurance. He explained that every rail company was required to maintain a uniform level of annual insurance cover, and they all had to submit particular bits of information by certain set dates during the year. It was laid down quite clearly what had to be done and when. He then mentioned that one of the companies had actually missed one of these deadlines. That immediately worried me, because if there was some sort of problem with the renewal, it could mean there was a gap in cover. In that situation, if there was an accident, the people who were injured might not receive any compensation at all.

Text Sample 376: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000089_gpt.txt
so yeah at that point I was just working ridiculous hours, trying to juggle the sabbatical cover and my normal freelance stuff, loads of travelling between the two. I ended up being late for two shifts, which I know isn't ideal, but with the schedule I had it was bound to happen at some point. Then they called me in, proper formal, and basically told me they were ending it all - not just the sabbatical cover but the freelance work as well. I was completely shocked, I honestly didn't see it coming. I tried to explain about the hours and the travelling, how much I 'd been doing for them, but they just weren't having any of it.

Text Sample 377: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000108_gpt.txt
so I said to her, look, I know you feel fine, but you 're contagious and other people are going to catch it if you come in. Once we 'd worked out what was going on, it was Friday afternoon, so I just thought, right, we 've got to deal with this properly. I sat down and emailed everybody, explained what we thought it was, what the symptoms were, and I put an NHS link in there so they could read it all for themselves and not just take my word for it. Then we went round both buildings and literally wiped down everything we could think of with antibacterial wipes - door handles, desks, phones, the lot - just to try and stop it spreading any further. And I spoke to the finance director and said, look, I know we don't have a sick pay policy, but I want these people paid, including the one I told not to come in. It wasn't their fault, and I didn't want anyone feeling they had to drag themselves in and pass it on just because they 'd lose money.

Text Sample 378: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000104_gpt.txt
I was sorting out this Christmas party for head office, doing it all from here, and there was this PA who was meant to be handling certain bits at their end. She just didn't do them. It all started coming back to me that things weren't booked or confirmed, and I ended up having to apologise and then jump in and sort it all out myself, remotely. Afterward I went to her boss and explained what had happened, because it reflected badly on me as well. He just said, basically, don't bother going through her next time, come straight to him instead. Later on, I got an email from her and suddenly noticed her signature had changed - she wasn't listed in that PA role anymore. It said she was doing something else instead, so it was clear she 'd been replaced in that position.

Text Sample 379: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000179_gpt.txt
so they all went “ yeah, brilliant, let ’s do it, ” and we set up this whole thing of coming round to ours to play Frankfurt Monopoly, and then the next time we ’d go to theirs, and then to the other couple ’s, and it turned into this regular little rotation of game nights. At first it felt really fun, like, oh wow, proper new friends, this nice little group. But as it went on I started feeling more and more uneasy, especially because she sort of latched onto me and kept pushing for these one-on-one coffee meet-ups.

Text Sample 380: NEG Dim 5 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000174_gpt.txt
So one of her friends who ’s like properly trained in cocktail making has told us exactly what to get in for the hen do cocktails - Drambuie and loads of ginger beers so we can do Rusty Mules. I went out and bought it all, but I ’ve realised I picked up alcoholic ginger beer instead of the normal mixer stuff. So those Rusty Mules are going to be seriously strong. I checked with her and she said it was fine, but she did say they might be a bit lethal.

Text Sample 381: NEG Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000075_gpt.txt
Honestly, you look at something like the Jeremy Kyle show and you just think, that is their absolute aspiration now, isn’t it? To go on telly, sit on that sofa, have their entire private life dragged out in public, all the dirty washing aired, and somehow that ’s seen as success. It ’s not even just that they ’re willing to do it, it ’s that they want to, they think it ’s something to be proud of. And the broadcasters are just as bad, sticking it on in the middle of the day and calling it entertainment. It ’s irresponsible, really, because it feeds that whole “ look at me, look at me ” culture and never mind any sense of dignity or privacy. It all ties in with what we see at school. I remember taking a group on a trip and there was this one girl, real handful at the best of times. Before we went, we ’d been absolutely clear with parents : mobiles off, there ’d be one contact number, and we ’d call if there was a problem. We explained exactly how communication would work while we were away. But her mum just kept ringing and ringing, ignoring everything we ’d said. Half the time she couldn’t be reached properly anyway because she didn’t even have a landline any more - bills hadn’t been paid, so it ’d been cut off. When we got back, she was in the car park, guns blazing, straight away. After all that information in advance, after all the rules laid out, she still came storming up, furious, as if we ’d done something wrong. No attempt to listen, no acknowledgement that we ’d been clear from the start about how things would be handled. Just this aggressive confrontation, right there in front of everyone. And you just think, if that ’s what the kids see day in, day out, no wonder they think that kind of behaviour ’s normal - and no wonder they think being loud and dramatic in public is the way to live.

Text Sample 382: NEG Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t001103_gpt.txt
I was talking to my dad about it once, actually, about whether I should go in as an officer or a rating, and he was very clear about it. He was like, “ You always want to be in a position where you ’re giving the orders, not taking them, ” and he really pushed that side of it. But I just couldn't get my head round it, because what I wanted out of it was that really close-knit friendship thing, that proper camaraderie, and you don't really get that in the same way when you 're the one in charge. For him it was completely different. He always found it really easy to keep that separation, to have that line between him and the people he worked with. He was quite happy with those more distant, acquaintance-type relationships with colleagues. That was just normal for him, and he 's basically done the same job his whole life, so he 's always operated like that, keeping that distance and that clear hierarchy.

Text Sample 383: NEG Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t001588_gpt.txt
So when I applied I thought, right, I 've actually got loads of travel writing and copywriting experience I can push. I made sure I really highlighted my blogs and all the copywriting work I did in Peru, because it felt really relevant to what they were asking for. Anyway, they emailed me back and said they liked my CV, which was such a relief, and then they asked me to do this little test thing - research a specific hotel and write 250 words about it so they could see what my writing style 's like.

Text Sample 384: NEG Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t001576_gpt.txt
yeah like he 's reading to broaden his range for exploring the world, isn't he, and that 's kind of what artists and musicians do as well, they find these creative ways of describing the world. writers just do it with words, that 's their main tool, so they end up really verbally eloquent, able to explain things in this really rich, precise way. I think that 's such a great skill, and it 's something I 'd really like to develop more in myself. it makes me feel that instead of doing these arbitrary tests at work, I should be out there absorbing wisdom from loads of different people, rather than spending time on stuff that doesn't really matter.

Text Sample 385: NEG Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t001599_gpt.txt
No, I 'm glad I don't remember everything I did or said when I was drunk. The bits I do remember are dreadful enough. But I don't just blame myself, I blame the society we were brought up in, the things we were taught were normal. I mean, we actually gave a sadistic man the power to beat a six-year-old child. It 's not so different, in a way, from what Jimmy Savile ended up in prison for, even if it wasn't specifically beating. And now some people still want corporal punishment back, when all it really does is make you hate the institution that dishes it out.

Text Sample 386: NEG Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t001597_gpt.txt
yeah I mean I used to do that thing of drinking on my own, just to get drunk, and it was absolutely miserable really, very insular, you shut yourself off from everyone and everything. I don't do that now, I 've stopped that side of it, and these days I only very rarely get really drunk, you know, properly out of it. I do think there 's something in what you were saying about it being in your DNA - some people clearly are more prone to it than others, you can see that in families and so on. But I don't think it 's just that, I can't believe it 's only genetic.

There are all the psychological reasons wrapped round it as well, why people pick up a drink in the first place and then keep going back to it. So yes, there 's that genetic tendency, but there 's also what 's going on in your head, in your life, the way you feel about yourself. It 's not just one thing, is it, it 's a mixture of things that push you into that pattern of drinking, and keep you there, until you decide you 've had enough of being that miserable, shut-in drunk.

Text Sample 387: NEG Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t001614_gpt.txt
so then he started going on about gay people as well, saying stuff like they 're always shoving it in our faces, and I just couldn't let that go. I was like, how can you say that when straight people shove it in our faces all the time? Everywhere you look it 's just heterosexual stuff, couples everywhere, adverts, films, whatever, but that 's somehow normal and invisible to you. I kept saying to him, over and over, it 's not about you though, is it? Like, these things aren't some personal attack on him.

Text Sample 388: NEG Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t001604_gpt.txt
so like this is exactly why I get so paranoid about people reading my stuff when it pops up, right, because she is just so nosy. There was this massive argument between her and one of my other housemates, and later on I went downstairs to check if the other girl was okay. I was really careful, like I properly avoided saying her name or anything about her, because I could literally hear her at the top of the stairs listening in. I was sat there thinking, I know she 's there, so I 'm not giving her anything. We just talked about how the other girl was feeling about the whole situation, but we didn't say her name, we didn't say anything about her specifically. I was really conscious of it, like " no, I 'm not getting dragged into this, I 'm not talking about you. " Then afterwards she messages me, all " what were you saying about me? " and " just tell me what you said, " like she was so sure we 'd been bitching about her. She even tried to make out she 'd heard something, like she had proof, when I know full well we never mentioned her. She just assumed that if we were talking after the argument it had to be about her. And I kept saying to her, over and over, " we didn't talk about you, your name never came up, " but she just wouldn't let it go. She kept pushing, like if she nagged me enough I 'd suddenly confess to something that hadn't even happened. It really annoyed me, because I 'm not lying, and I don't like that she 's basically accusing me of lying when I was so careful not to say anything about her in the first place.

Text Sample 389: NEG Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t001631_gpt.txt
So I really had to make myself not get involved in his apprenticeship applications. It was probably one of the hardest things I 've done, just stepping back. I said to him, " If you want help with interview practice or want me to look at your CV, I will, " but he wasn't interested, and I didn't push it at all. He just got on with it himself, applied, went through the process, and got the job entirely off his own bat. And he absolutely loves it, he 's really thriving - it 's clearly a role that suits him down to the ground.

Text Sample 390: NEG Dim 5 - profiled_gpt - Score -1.00 - profiled_gpt/t001623_gpt.txt
this chap just turned up on the doorstep one day, said he was from Eon, there to change the meter. No appointment or anything. He explained that once he 'd finished his booked calls he liked to fit in a few extras if people were in and it was convenient, just to get them done. Said it 'd only take him fifteen minutes, which sounded all right to me. I was in the middle of something at the time, so I told him I could spare that, but no more, really. He was quite matter-of-fact about it, very much " if it suits you, I 'll do it now. "

Text Sample 391: NEG Dim 5 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000539_human.txt

er and it 's recorded in a couple of different books and it 's about the story of these the broth this brother and sister that were found by other children in the village and they were completely green in their complexion in their skin and the boy was kind of very sad and died but the girl eventually er she would only eat green beans for a long time but then she did eventually eat other things and then she lost her green ness on her skin and learnt to talk and she then explained to them that they came from a different place erm and where it was always dark all the time and that they heard music so they followed the music and they came out into the sunlight and there they were and then eventually she marries a local person

Text Sample 392: NEG Dim 5 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000580_human.txt

goes in and like does it there 's this nasty where they 're all like tied to a there 's a film when they 're in a pool there 's like all of them are on sunbathing loungers and you see them just getting pulled into the water just like one by one it 's weird it 's like it 's creepy because of like the sounds and the I can't explain there 's another one where the kid 's got a lawn mower and he 's going around the the pet adults are on the ground and he 's just like goes over their faces with the lawn mower

Text Sample 393: NEG Dim 5 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000655_human.txt

and it caused him to just just go completely the other direction as well he just completely just lost it em so when I explained this to my class they were really sort of intrigued by this idea and em and then in the write up I explained that em my my original idea about em eh eh cyber provincialism which was the concept that sort of started the whole building in Minecraft em project em at first it was like em when I first heard about it I was think maybe em the idea is that these people in their game worlds had sort of closed off from the real world but that wasn't so much the case because there were things that enter into the Minecraft universe that are factors in the real world like there was em occupy Wall Street and occupy London and stuff like that

Text Sample 394: NEG Dim 5 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000675_human.txt

and we he 's written a letter which he 's sent me a copy of which is a very nice letter and it says in it you know? has experienced really bad side effects so what I 've done is and he 's explained and he said I wanted to persevere on these drugs because there is some evidence that they are helping however erm he said I don't want her to continue if the side effects continue to this degree and and we may just have to go back to square one erm in the background though there are a lot of other things and I don't know whether this is also adding to it

Text Sample 395: NEG Dim 5 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000328_human.txt

but Noam Chomsky in the sixties turned around and said how is that possible when children can say things that they 've never heard before? they can use constructions that and how is it that a child can hear us say things incorrectly yet doesn't repeat it? they don't there basically they believe that there 's a framework underlying the language and all the child has to do is decide is it head first or is it head last? is it null subject or does it have a so I am gonna explain null subject in English we say I speak we have to say I

Text Sample 396: NEG Dim 5 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000697_human.txt

Yeah You wanna get out of that habit oh it 's really bad someone put a sign on the bike shed door and it 's been corrected by so many people not for proof stuff just like um er s well someone corrected a tense in one of them and then somebody else somebody er they 've put h hold your card in front of of the reader and it will open and they 've put no no you put your har your card in front of the reader and then push it won't open by itself Huh just don't work in a pub don't put up notices in a publishing house

Text Sample 397: NEG Dim 5 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000720_human.txt

to the you know enough it wasn't full it was obviously not being checked someone had not done their job erm but I think it never made her happy she just she bought houses and put rooms in the roof or put extensions on and loads spent loads of money and then moved on to the next one she never settled never settled erm until basically the money had gone and then she got back down to normal to to reality and you know had to work and but she had a lot of money when she was young but it just couldn't buy her happiness and it couldn't what she was trying to do always was holiday and trying to compensate for what she 'd lost really and it you know you can't and er yeah it was very very sad and now twenty-six the same age as just moved in on the twenty-third moved in to his first flat on his own well with his girlfriend you know left home but but he 's been living with for a number of years and this woman was in the car park absolute guns blazing and the first thing I knew she didn't shout at me she shouted across the car park at this poor kid

Text Sample 398: NEG Dim 5 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000076_human.txt

she was hollering across the car park david had just got out of the car to come and meet me he was like what 's going on? And you could see why this kid thought it was alright to shout at other people cos she always did shout she always raised she couldn't talk in normal voice cos this woman was just bawling at her

Text Sample 399: NEG Dim 5 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000069_human.txt

but OFSTED has pushed that though cos we we had we were OFSTED'ed just before we moved schools and they came in and they 'd got a big push on using ICT fine lesson I was interviewed in I was in a hut I had no computer in there that actually worked even there wasn't even a computer that worked and there was no white board so I thought well okay the only way I can get any sort of ICT and maybe I 'll use an overhead projector so I used an overhead projector that was a close as I could get to anything

Text Sample 400: NEG Dim 5 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t000097_human.txt

no I completely agree with you I completely agree with you but what can happen is that erm what you wanna do so you normally have what is in it? so you 've got time here and you 've got act there okay? or if you wanted to do you can do time here which I 'll guess is a bit normal and then here you can have the escalation of and you have to choose if you want to use the character arc about this man as a as the protagonist then you have to choose what really is the kernel of this person? what is the erm the reason why he keeps moving along this trajectory? what 's the common sense of why he 's going here?

11 POS Dim 6

Text Sample 401: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 2.00 - human/t000657_human.txt
he has built these massive projects and it they haven't been as collaborative as they were before so I I went back on recently and sort of joined in for a little bit and I 'm going to build this massive tower but em I really wanted to wait to involve a lot more people so I made a couple of sort of teeny little challenges because when I was trying this this tower thing we got the guy who gave me the resources for the Mario statue em he help bui em dig a massive hole eh so that we 'd have the tower from Bedrock all the way up to the very top so it would be the biggest possible tower so he made loads of channels with dynamite em and we built these walls up so that the water couldn't get through cos it was for some reason we decided to build it on the coast we walled up the eh water and then there 's this guy making channels of dynamite and eh a the guy who was em who I was helping he said it 's alright knows what he 's doing he 's he 's an expert with TNT he know he knows where the is and I trust him and I was sort of getting further and further away going yeah you trust him and lo and behold he completely blew up the walls the whole thing was just completely flooded and em so asked him nicely if we could have creative mode so we got the resources we were able to fly we built up the wall again and eh he it was only supposed to be for one day and em has had creative taken away from him but for whatever reason and none of the other mods have taken it away from me so I've built some sort of puzzle challenges and stuck them up on Facebook for people to have a go at and em sort of built them in eh using creative modes and that's yeah it's just another way of trying to bring people together using Minecraft and creative projects and yeah

Text Sample 402: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 2.00 - human/t001516_human.txt
and and first of all I thought well that is goes back to our common sense cos that's kind of common sense but then I was listening to what people were were ringing in with and there was such misogyny there was this idea that em well you know if you flaunt it what do you expect? And I thought oh I know okay okay so if a woman suggests that she might be em she might be interested in maybe meeting a man then it's alright for any man to just come and take her I mean that's absolutely ridiculous

Text Sample 403: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 2.00 - human/t000157_human.txt
hi Alright well that's fine I've left it out in the hall for you so just come and get it whenever is convenient no she's still at work she working late this week I think she finishes about six but then she goes running after work she is keep fit yeah do you want me to get her to call you? Okay oh yeah okay so it's just whether that's a good day? So so they were going to do it during the day okay mm hm it's strangers okay and how long do you think it will take? Do you think? Half a day okay that's fine I'll let her know and I'll get her to call you I'll get I'm not sure she's got credit on the phone so if not I'll get her to call you on my phone oh okay I'll em I'll speak to her about it then and I'll let you know or she'll let you know alright thanks speak to you later bye

Text Sample 404: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 2.00 - human/t000280_human.txt
but I wouldn't take any crap and eh not I mean you know there was a big like kid a he used to play for Birmingham a big West Indian kid he played for them in the final of the em the Johnson's Plate Trophy at Wembley massive I he was in my class and I I whacked him a few times he played I said right well I probably said bend over and wham you could say it was illegal did it you know? And eh don't hit me don't hit me don't hit me but I wasn't like somebody going around beating people up eh and one teacher said that's illegal and I said alright grass me up so em

Text Sample 405: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 2.00 - human/t000440_human.txt
and the two of us the two guys we'd been drinking like most of the day and we were real bad and the other's had come and met us and eh the guy that was with I can't remember what the hell is his name I can't remember his name now but he'd been alright when I was chucking up but so far gone and he bought em as we were leaving the bar so that I could be sick on the beach he bought a bottle of eh like Don Perignon or something like that it was like a hun it was a hundred and twenty dollars or something and the footage of me vomiting there on the sun lounger then pans across to him with this bottle of Bollinger doing or whatever it was doing this on it and then two minutes later he 's vomiting up this hundred and twenty dollars worth of Champagne or whatever it was on to the beach

Text Sample 406: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000713_human.txt
and erm I said to him well this is where cos I then I thought if he hears that answerphone message come back and hears it he 'll go and look for me down in old village which is where I where I was initially but no fortunately he had only just come in and he said well you don't need me then and I said no it 's alright come to my rescue bless his heart and he was really good he went in got his machine out and just dislodged the battery and er and checked it all and put the machine on and that 's it

Text Sample 407: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000467_human.txt
oh it doesn't look as big as the like but it wasn't as posh but it was it was white an all-white Range Rover it was lovely he came here dropped stuff off here and he was he was only here a fortnight ago he had to go where way down to somewhere down the south right down south it took him three and a half hours to get there then you know so and er he went in that and the same thing they paid for the petrol so he said they 're alright like at Fords if you 've asked them you know?

Text Sample 408: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t001432_human.txt
and I was walking the other day and she was watering some plants and I said oh hello how are you? as you do oh I 'm alright she said well I knew she 'd been in hospital but I didn't know why cos had said when she 'd delivered her Avon she said oh I 'm alright like you know she said I 'm getting there but it 's been a an horrific eighteen months I said well did mention you 'd been in hospital I said but you know you don't like to come and knock on the door do you and say oh well ' s told me you were in hospital

Text Sample 409: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000685_human.txt
and we went out and all the lads were there and they 're like oh hi like they are like oh are you alright how you doing? they tend to talk to me more when I 'm with as well I don't know what that 's about but like er they were like you alright blah blah blah then I see out of the corner of my eye and I 'm like ma like go anywhere but towards and then ' s like like grabs my face like this and like goes to like go like kiss me but I move my cheek and he kisses my cheek ' s speaking to someone but I can see he sees out of the corner of his eye and I 'm like right fucking just get away then I walk out the toil I go to the toilet ' s sort of walking towards me that way ' s walking towards me that way and I 'm coming out of the toilet and ' s like like comes up puts his hand on the side of my face like whispers in my ear and then like puts my er his hand on like my waist and he 's just too tactile like walks up and is like oh are you alright? like who are you sort of thing and then it 's like oh you alright I 'm nice to meet you and and then throws out er oh yeah hope ' s doing this like I know what she 's like like I know what she can be like like throwing out a blatant by the way I fucked do you know what I mean?

Text Sample 410: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t001358_human.txt
and then collect her at eleven oh I don't know how we 're gonna do it actually maybe we 'll t collect her and then go into I don't know how we 'll do it anyway something like that and then erm we 'll do a walk possibly round the t if the weather 's alright we could do a walk round the in the evening and erm there
's some fantastic walks some really brilliant walks through the woods it 's just spectacularly beautiful actually when we went last weekend very wet but it was lovely lovely and then on Sunday we would probably go down to the and have a walk erm and er er well we could go out out and about there 's places to go there 's but actually 's on a Saturday so we 'd have to think about that work out what we do

Text Sample 411: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t001690_human.txt
we went to em we went to Greece a couple of years back and we went in July cos we had to because Lou was going on em placement and I was absolutely wiped out there we were in Greece and it as absolutely gorgeous it was a dry heat but July was was too warm for me and we thought to come back after and the lass behind the lass in the hotel reception said don't come in August she said even the flies are too hot but she said you you I know you need to be there before October because they close everything down in October when we were in Pefkohori I was talking to the lady who ran the one of the souvenir shops and she said they all close up completely at the beginning of October beginning to middle and they all go back to Chalkidiki which is where most of the live but Peph ko is gorgeous little you know very small coastal town really really nice and the best one of the nicest small town squares I 've ever seen in my and lots of mini supermarkets as soon as the kids found the cold beer and they got a they got a free cool band with it so they used to fill it with cans and waft down to down to the beach

Text Sample 412: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t001526_human.txt
I I tell you what I went to see her before after I 'd got back from Ecuador before I did my CELTA to find out about possible work and she said well you need to do your CELTA and I was like alright then then I went back again er possibly before I did my DELTA and then maybe another time I think I 'd been in two or three times no I went in I went in when I was pregnant I was like I 'd like to do the DoS job but erm only if you can wait another year or so?

Text Sample 413: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000691_human.txt
he can't yeah he can't like and when we were standing there and his mum was like you know we you know we can't do anything about it now and he was like no no no it 's alright don't worry I 'll get knocked up and then we 'll lean on you for everything and like she and he was like yeah or no or do you not wanna do that? alright okay no worries so I tell you what er when er erm and like move out and you give them two grand give me two grand too cos we could be in exactly the same situation like and he 's just kind of like pulling out every little bit but obviously it 's not his mum 's fault

Text Sample 414: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000272_human.txt
and the kids were all disturbed there and strangely enough they had Maths there you 're doing alright here? I said yeah I know and then my tutor came in and they didn't like him and then I said and then I haven't got a car so what do they do? It 's a terrible winter where did they send me on my main secondary practice they sent me to Derby I 'm in Nottingham in a bedsit they send me to Derby when other people have got cars can teach in Nottingham so I have to get a bus in the morning to Derby then a bus out in to to Mick Mickleover

Text Sample 415: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000791_human.txt
no nor do I that 's alright let me see if they 're still down there walk over to them yeah okay they 're all nicely lined up keep using your E you 've got you 've got mana free mana remember yeah use your Q cos they 're walk er yeah they 're walking in a line and then use your E on it yeah now keep going up remember you 've got l apart from the cool downs you 've got loads of mana so you can keep expanding your ability good stuff you got another Alistar yeah there he is okay yeah you got your R now wanna use that yeah he 's stuck to the spot good stuff I 'd kill the minions first back away

Text Sample 416: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t001048_human.txt
well I I might shshe drinks it out of the bottle top that 'll do so long as it 's an old bottle top it 's alright we 'll have to get a few little bits like that soon nearly time for her to start eating well let 's just see how this this water has gone down alright she doesn't seem to have any problems with it so because it 's so hot they c if she gets thirsty I told if she gets hiccups she can have a little bit of water but I said just one or two capfuls er she might give more but yeah she 's not gonna give her a whole yeah you 're on water aren't you? isn't it?

Text Sample 417: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000442_human.txt
because everywhere 's air-conditioned you know as soon as you step in a door or somewhere it 's like cold you know so it 's only when you 're out and about and there was just so much I mean there was so much to do I mean there was only I think there was only one night I mean given that it was em spring break you know so there 's loads of people there was only night where we had any trouble at all finding something to somewhere to stay you know and literally we would we would just drive pick somewhere to go and we would drive there do something during the day and then in the evening try and find somewhere to stay I think it as only one night in sort of three weeks where we had any trouble and I think that was the first night down into the quays we ended up staying at this really if if we hadn't have been a a group of of youngsters probably pissed at the time it was one of the places it 's a lot of em like holiday camp you know trailer park kind of place you would never have thought to stay there and it was eh but it was hilarious the the two guys that ran the place and all this and it was hilarious but eh we were convinced that we 'd got carbon monoxide poisoning from the blooming eh the air conditioning unit that was just going in the room all night sort of thing but eh but no I mean it was really good but I mean the only I always say the only trouble with eh America was the Americans but they were in honesty really good

Text Sample 418: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000881_human.txt
and I 'm next door to for for a while and she 's an expert she can play so well she she can stop put the bell down and point to where I am and carry on going when I get lost and and and and then she 's saying right you want your flat alright then and bong and then we get we get it so that 's good and then we go ra da da da da she she she 's very she 's she clcalls herself bossy which in a way she is but she 's very good because she knows when I 'm gonna go wrong and she

Text Sample 419: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000240_human.txt
so if you consider what I 'm trying to do at the moment and I have this idea in my head that I want to have a certain amount of things done I want to outsource them one thing I need to know is how f how the fuck do you do outsourcing? alright? I don't know but what I can do when I 'm away is I can meet up with two or three different people who actually do it and talk to them and find out in a short period of time a gut feel for how it works right?

Text Sample 420: POS Dim 6 - human - Score 1.00 - human/t000398_human.txt
I mean said to me on the phone when she phoned up she phoned me up and she said oh I 'm she said hello well she never rings me on my mobile and I said oh hello are you alright? she said oh well she said erm just ringing you to let you know we 're not going tonight cos I 'd offered to pick them but she said erm she has to sort out with his football so but thank you for the offer type thing er we 're not going tonight and I said why? she said well she said we 're having a few problems with I said oh dear and she you know said a few things and she said erm it it 's probably our own fault but she said she 's done things in the past and we 've allowed her to get away with it so she said it 's probably our fault and I said to her I said well I said I don't want to interfere don't get me wrong but I said but why are you not going?

Text Sample 421: POS Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000575_gpt.txt
she totally conned me though that girl in Korea, like she 'd obviously down-tuned the guitar by about half a step so when I tried it really quickly on my last day it felt fine, the action seemed alright, and I was rushing so I just went yeah okay and bought it. then when I got home and tuned it properly I realised the action was absolutely terrible, completely unplayable. and the worst bit was finding out she 'd actually got the guitar for free off someone else in the first place

Text Sample 422: POS Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000077_gpt.txt
I went over to her in the car park and said, " You need to listen to her side of the story, " because the poor girl was trying to explain that she was alright and had tried to call. The mother was just totally incapable of listening, absolutely bawling, and I was trying to get her to calm down and actually hear what her daughter was saying. Eventually it all got resolved, but the girl will never be allowed on a school trip again, which is tragic really, because she 's exactly the sort of child who needs to get away. Being brought up in that environment, that kind of behaviour just seems completely normal to her.

Text Sample 423: POS Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000707_gpt.txt
hello? Yeah, hi Dad. Right, so you want to refresh the page, yeah? Okay, on the keyboard try pressing F5 ... no? Nothing happening? Okay, look at the top of the screen, where the web address is. Can you see a little circular arrow at the end of the address bar? Yeah, that one. Click on that. Has the page changed now? Yeah? That 's it, that 's refreshing it. So any time it gets stuck or doesn't look right, just press F5 or click that little circle. Got it now? Okay, brilliant. Alright then, talk to you later, bye.

Text Sample 424: POS Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001400_gpt.txt
they just don't care though do they? I mean, when we had that sixteenth in Brighton at the hotel, we were all underage and we did sneak a bit of alcohol, but they shut the bar, no one was really drunk or anything. And her mum and dad kept coming down from upstairs to check on us, making sure everything was alright. That 's how it should be, really. If there are gonna be people there under eighteen, ultimately the parents have gotta be responsible.

Text Sample 425: POS Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001213_gpt.txt
like we have stuff we do every week, like sorting the food and whatever, and I just can't afford to lose a day to being wiped out. I only ever sleep about seven hours, no matter what time I go to bed, so if we 're out stupidly late I just feel absolutely terrible the next day. That 's why I hate it when nights run on till three or four in the morning. And there 's this thing now they call " ghosting ", where you just leave a party without saying goodbye to anyone. That 's what she does. She 'll just disappear, and sometimes she even goes without telling me she 's going. It really winds me up, because I 'm suddenly standing there thinking, where have you gone, are you alright, what 's happening. I 'm angry, but I 'm also just worried, and it ends up cutting my evening short.

Text Sample 426: POS Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001410_gpt.txt
It was one hundred and sixty pounds, which is a lot, but it was what he really wanted. He 'd done all this careful searching online, looking at different ones, and that was the one he chose. So in the end I said alright then, and I ordered it from the Watch Shop for him. We arranged it so he could collect it from Goldsmiths, so they could adjust the strap for him there. It was all properly done, all arranged and recorded by email and everything, so we had a clear trail. And then, in less than three weeks, the clasp just broke on it.

Text Sample 427: POS Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000865_gpt.txt
It went alright, actually, but it was quite tiring. I have to admit I kind of blagged it this afternoon because I hadn't properly read through my slides. They were based on the ones I 've been using for years, just tweaked a bit, so it wasn't like I was totally unprepared, but I wasn't always sure what was coming next. Still, it seemed to go fine in the end. It might even have been better that way, weirdly – being less prepared meant I was quicker and more to the point, rather than rambling on.

Text Sample 428: POS Dim 6 – unprofiled_gpt – Score 1.00 – unprofiled_gpt/t000791_gpt.txt
I don't know what you were aiming at either, but it 's alright. Head down this way, keep walking forward a bit. Now use your E here, then move up a little and hit Q. You 've got plenty of mana and your cooldowns are fine, so don't worry, just keep casting. Nice, that was good. Now walk towards them again and press R, then back off a little. Yeah, that was really good, well done. Just focus on killing the minions first, clear those out before you go for the champions, and then back away to a safer distance.

Text Sample 429: POS Dim 6 – unprofiled_gpt – Score 1.00 – unprofiled_gpt/t001617_gpt.txt
it actually wasn't bad at all in the end you know we 'd sort of meant to go to the butcher and get some proper steaks but we never got round to it so we just ended up with steak from the supermarket and some veg instead and I was thinking oh this is a bit rubbish really but it turned out alright we did roast new potatoes with peppers and onions all bunged in together and then we did mushrooms as well and deep-fried those so it felt like a bit of a treat even though it was just a Tesco kind of dinner really

Text Sample 430: POS Dim 6 – unprofiled_gpt – Score 1.00 – unprofiled_gpt/t000952_gpt.txt
Cold weather always seems to drive the mice indoors, doesn't it? Anyway, thank you so much for that second night away, it was really, really good. We managed to do everything we 'd hoped to do the first night. I 've always wanted to visit the Brontës ' house ; it was closed in January, but at least we could find it on-line and see where it was in relation to the village. We got to the parsonage just as the church service next door was starting. You 're looking a bit off, actually—are you feeling alright?

Text Sample 431: POS Dim 6 – profiled_gpt – Score 1.00 – profiled_gpt/t000236_gpt.txt
I am really interested in what you 're talking about and I want to find a way to connect with it in terms of what I actually do. The way I see my role is either being the person operating the visual tools that create the outputs, or being the one who manages that work so that we get the output we want. At the same time, I 'm also involved in running a business as part of that whole process. You know? So that 's kind of the digital producer side of things, but also you 're running the business part that goes with it, alright?

Text Sample 432: POS Dim 6 – profiled_gpt – Score 1.00 – profiled_gpt/t001309_gpt.txt
nah not really, it just means I won't get to play for that area team this time, but I 'm not too fussed ' cause I can still play for clubs and school and that, so it 's alright. anyway, when we went to get the violin off that lady, her husband 'd died and she was really attached to this fiddle he had. I 'd talked to her about how good it was, then we had to go collect it ' cause she was giving it to us. we invited her to the summer concert as well. when she came round we offered her strawberries and then raspberries and cream, but it turned out she was allergic to strawberries and cream, so we just decided to give her raspberries on their own. she gave us loads of other stuff too, and now I 've got to sort through it all, including the fiddle.

Text Sample 433: POS Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000511_gpt.txt

So the idea was they 'd all go out and I 'd just stay here, have a pizza delivered and a bit of quiet. I 'd literally just finished work, so I was thinking, lovely, ten minutes ' peace before they turn up. Someone said, " Will she be alright on her own in the house? " and I was like, " Yeah, I 'll be fine, as long as you don't start lighting any more candles, " you know, joking. But afterwards I thought, actually, I don't like the idea of pizzas being delivered when she 's in here on her own. What if the delivery bloke asked to use the loo and realised there 's nobody else in the house?

Text Sample 434: POS Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000685_gpt.txt

yeah so we were out this one night, me and my mate, and we ended up bumping into this group of lads. It was really weird ' cause they were way more like " alright, alright " with me when I was with her, like proper making a fuss, whereas normally they 're not that bothered. You could just tell the dynamic changed ' cause I was stood with her. Then at one point, this one lad just suddenly grabbed my face and tried to kiss me. I turned my head so he only got my cheek, like made it into a sort of cheek kiss instead, ' cause I wasn't having that. Another bloke clocked the whole thing, saw exactly what happened. Later on, that same lad came back over to me and he was being really tactile - touching my face, leaning in and whispering in my ear, putting his hand on my waist and all that. And then, out of nowhere, he starts going on about this other girl, you know, saying he " knows what she 's like " in this really pointed way. It was so obvious he was basically saying he 'd slept with her, like he wanted everyone to know. It was like he was wearing it as a badge of honour or something, bragging about it rather than just quietly saying, " oh by the way, I 've been with your girlfriend " or whatever. It wasn't even subtle, it was just really blatant and made the whole thing feel even more awkward.

Text Sample 435: POS Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000865_gpt.txt

Yeah, it went alright, actually, just quite tiring. I have to admit I sort of blagged it a bit this afternoon because I hadn't properly read through my slides beforehand. They were basically the same ones I 've been using for years, just tweaked, so it wasn't a disaster or anything, but I wasn't always entirely sure what was coming up next. Still, it seemed to go fine in the end. In a funny way it might even have been better - because I was less prepared I was a bit quicker and more to the point, rather than rambling on.

Text Sample 436: POS Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - profiled_gpt/t001696_gpt.txt

well this little lad he only trapped his finger in the conservatory door didn't he, another little girl just shut it without realising, and it ripped all the skin and the nail off, it was really nasty to look at, so I had to take him off and get it all bandaged up proper, you know, sorted out so it was clean and covered and that, and in the end he was alright, healed up and everything, and what struck me was he was fine about it really, brave as anything, and his mum was fine as well, she didn't kick off or start shouting or anything like that, just took it in her stride, because some mothers would 've been very, very upset over something like that, you know, making a real fuss, but she wasn't, she was quite calm about the whole business, understood it was just one of those accidents that happen with kids running about and doors and that, nothing malicious, just bad luck really.

Text Sample 437: POS Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000552_gpt.txt
So after she suddenly decided she didn't like me, she just stopped talking to me completely. I 'd walk into the kitchen and be like " you alright? " and she 'd literally blank me, just ignore me, and I was sat there thinking, what have I actually done? I didn't have a clue. And it carried on like that for about three months. It wasn't until this one night, when I 'd been looking after this really drunk lad mate who a hockey player had dumped at my door, that I finally found out what the problem was.

Text Sample 438: POS Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - profiled_gpt/t001261_gpt.txt
she texted me and she was like absolutely fuming, proper angry, saying she wasn't allowed to see him on Boxing Day cos of his mum. And I was sat there like what? what? what? Then later on she turns round and says, oh no, he 's said he 's not seeing me on Boxing Day because he wants to surprise me and come round to mine instead. And at first I was like oh right, that 's actually quite good then, that sounds alright. But then a couple of days later she messages again and she 's like, I 'm pretty sure he only said that to shut me up. And I 'm just there going, what? what? what? like I don't even know what to say to her about it.

Text Sample 439: POS Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000575_gpt.txt
yeah that reminds me of when I properly got conned in Korea by that girl with the guitar. It was my last day there, so I was in a bit of a rush, and she let me try it out quickly. I 'm pretty sure she 'd tuned it down by about half a step so the action felt alright when I tested it. When I got it home and tuned it properly, the action was absolutely awful. Later I found out she 'd actually got the guitar for free from someone else.

Text Sample 440: POS Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score 1.00 - profiled_gpt/t000656_gpt.txt
so em the people who were televising MineCon in Las Vegas they were all wearing these T-shirts that said " occupy Minecraft " and they were actually talking about how you could bring the whole Occupy movement into Minecraft itself. So that kind of showed that the Minecraft community isn't cut off from the real world at all, it 's actually really connected to what 's going on. Like, you had Occupy Wall Street and Occupy London outside, and then in-game you 've got people responding to that, and other stuff as well. When Steve Jobs died there was this massive " RIP Steve Jobs " sign someone built, and they did this big iPod in Minecraft too. So all that made me realise that news can come into the Minecraft world quite easily. That was one of the ways we were thinking about cyber provincialism, not just as people shutting themselves off, but also as using Minecraft to get a community to look at different cultures and real-world events.

12 NEG Dim 6

Text Sample 441: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -4.00 - profiled_gpt/t001607_gpt.txt

So the author I was on about is Matt Haig - he randomly followed me on Twitter, so I just followed him back. I 've not actually read any of his books yet, but I do want to at some point, especially because I see his tweets pop up quite a lot. Sometimes he tweets about dealing with depression, and lately he 's been talking loads about all the abuse he gets on Twitter. What really got me was him saying some of it comes from people he actually knows in real life, which is just awful. It 's not just random trolls, it 's like people from his own life piling on as well. He 's been really open about how horrible it is, and it just makes you think about how intense it must be when everything you say online gets picked apart. It must be horrible for people who 've got that level of attention, where every tweet is scrutinised and twisted and thrown back at them. You can't just say something offhand without worrying how it 's going to be received or who 's going to attack you for it. I honestly can't imagine dealing with that kind of constant pressure on something as daft as Twitter.

Text Sample 442: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000198_gpt.txt

There 's this group of people and their beliefs are honestly terrifying. They say that if their own child was instantly killed by a car, they would rejoice. They actually think every single event is a decision made by God, and because of that, everything has to be celebrated, even something as horrible as that. On top of that, they completely banish anyone who leaves their church, even if it 's their own daughter. If she decides to leave, they cut off all contact with her. They insist they 're not sad about it at all, because in their minds she 's now a sinner who 's going to hell, and they don't want someone like that anywhere near their church or their community.

Text Sample 443: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000199_gpt.txt

It was honestly so bad it took us three hours just to fix her referencing. I basically said, we 're using my version in the report because otherwise there 's nothing that clearly shows what I 've actually done. I made her sit with me and we went through every single reference one by one, fixing them all. For the end-of-text ones I just got her to copy and paste mine because they were actually right. One of hers was literally formatted as " add to alerts list " in italics as the reference - I just stared at it like, how can that even make sense to anyone?

Text Sample 444: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000455_gpt.txt
So I finally got to go to this place I 'd wanted to go to all summer, right, and I went with my boyfriend. We had a really nice time, just us, and I was actually quite chuffed I 'd managed to fit it in before everything got busy again. Then my mum comes back, hears about it, and immediately starts having a go that we should 've waited so it could be a " family outing. " She acted like I 'd done something properly wrong, like I 'd personally offended her by doing something as a couple without her there. It wasn't even anything massive, just a day out, but she turned it into this big drama about being left out and how we 're supposed to do things together. And I 'm just sat there thinking, what does she actually expect? That every single thing I do with my boyfriend has to involve her somehow? Does she want an invite to absolutely everything, even the private, intimate bits of our relationship? It 's so ridiculous that I end up being sarcastic in my head, like, shall I pencil her in for when we 're in bed as well?

Text Sample 445: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000589_gpt.txt
so in the end we just said forget the guide and decided to go up the mountain on our own instead. we had to set off at something like three in the morning, when it was absolutely freezing, and we were already starting from about two and a half thousand metres, going up to around four and a half thousand. it was that horrible cold where you can see your breath and your fingers don't really work properly, and it 's still basically night. as we were going up in that sort of twilight - you know, where you can't quite see properly and everything looks a bit dodgy - we were following this really indistinct path. you could just about make it out, but not clearly, and then we saw this animal on the trail ahead of us. we couldn't tell exactly what it was, just this shape moving in the half-light. it might 've been a leopard, or maybe just a really big dog, but we honestly didn't know. the not knowing was the worst bit. from that moment I was completely on edge. every little sound put me on alert, and I just had that feeling that something was out there watching us while we were trying to get up this mountain in the dark.

Text Sample 446: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000043_gpt.txt
my old car was so clearly on its last legs, like the axle was definitely going or something, because every time I turned a corner it would make these horrible noises. I knew it was in a really bad state, so I wasn't expecting much for it at all. that 's why I was genuinely really pleased when he somehow still managed to get nine hundred quid for it. after that he basically handed me over to another guy who dealt with all the final bits, like sorting the actual deal and doing the payment stuff.

Text Sample 447: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t001598_gpt.txt
well I I think it 's a whole load of things going on with alcoholism you know it 's never just one simple cause there was that woman who stayed with that bloke who was horrible to women and you just think why on earth would you do that? but she clearly didn't have much self-respect and somehow she clung on to him anyway and I can see a kind of parallel with drinking really because I know for myself I sometimes drank in this odd hope that it would make me feel better about myself, give me some sort of self-respect or confidence and of course it 's completely back to front because the more you drink the less respect you have for yourself in the end it strips it away from you doesn't it?

Text Sample 448: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t001030_gpt.txt
I 've been absolutely binging on " Sounds of the Seventies " on BBC iPlayer lately. I suddenly realised I 'd somehow missed three weeks of it, so I 've been catching up properly. I had it on while I was tidying up and cooking the other day and it was just perfect, really enjoyable. There was a Bowie special in there as well, which I loved. Music just moves me so much, especially all that seventies stuff - the rock, the disco, the ska, the reggae. It does something to me physically, I can feel it. If I 've got that kind of music on while I 'm walking for exercise, it almost doesn't feel like effort at all, it 's like my body just goes with it and the time disappears. What 's funny is, I 've noticed that when I put my iPod on random, I hardly ever get anything from the eighties. It 's all seventies, then a little bit of nineties, loads of noughties, and a bit of sixties. Somehow the eighties have almost vanished from it, which is strange because I do actually like eighties music. I keep thinking, where 's it all gone then? It 's as if my iPod 's decided I 'm a seventies person and that 's that.

Text Sample 449: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t001608_gpt.txt
I honestly don't get how he copes with all those interviews. I 've seen him loads of times where he 's getting what I 'd say are really sexist questions, and you can just tell he 's getting fed up. And then he gets slagged off online for reacting, which just seems really unfair when he 's clearly had enough. It 's like people are just waiting for him to slip so they can jump on him. I just think they should leave him alone a bit, especially when it 's obvious he 's getting properly fed up.

Text Sample 450: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - profiled_gpt/t000980_gpt.txt
our keeper right he looks terrifying like properly scary, covered in tattoos, big bloke, you 'd look at him and think no one 's getting near his goal. Ball comes in and he just completely misses it, like goes to get it and somehow doesn't, and they score again. And it 's the same sort of goal over and over, just balls in behind, our defence is that bad they just keep doing it and it keeps working. What makes it worse is me and one of the lads in midfield actually had good games. We 'd gone with a proper five-man midfield, really solid, keeping the ball, doing what we 're meant to do, but if every time they go forward they look like they 're gonna score it doesn't matter. We lost four one in the end and we had to take every single chance we got, and we didn't. There 's this one lad in our team who would be the perfect centre back, like exactly what we need, strong, can read the game, everything. But they won't stick him there because he 's " too good going forward " so they want him up the pitch. And I 'm just stood there thinking what 's the point? However well I play, or we play in midfield, we 're always gonna lose if the back lot are that bad. It 's just this horrible feeling of knowing before you even start that you 're probably gonna lose no matter what you do. Proper frustrating and you just feel helpless with it. At least we 've got a two-week break now before the next game, so maybe everyone 'll calm down a bit and we can figure something out.

Text Sample 451: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000089_gpt.txt

I was absolutely killing myself doing it, you know, loads of hours between the two jobs and all the travelling back and forth. In the middle of all that I ended up being late for a couple of shifts. Next thing I know, they 've called me in for this meeting. I honestly didn't think it was going to be anything major, I just thought we 'd have a chat and I 'd explain what 'd been going on. Instead they just turned round and said they were ending it all - the sabbatical cover and the freelance stuff as well. I was totally shocked, tried to explain about the hours and the travelling, but they 'd clearly made their mind up already.

Text Sample 452: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000012_gpt.txt

They were just incredible, honestly. They came in and completely reassessed everything, looked at what was going on and what we needed. They gave us all the contact numbers and clear instructions, so we knew exactly who to ring and when. Then they arranged for carers to come in several times a day, and the Macmillan nurses and district nurses as well, so there was always someone around or due. On top of that, they actually phoned every single day just to check how we were, how he was, and whether we had any worries or questions. It felt like they 'd thought of everything and put it all in place for us.

Text Sample 453: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000033_gpt.txt

so what actually happened was her best friend 's ex rang me and told me this whole story about a night out he 'd had. he said he 'd gone out drinking with this other girl, then she gave him a lift home, and when they got back he was trying to get her to stay over. apparently they kissed as well. it wasn't like he was drunk and rambling either - it all sounded quite clear, like this is what he 'd done. the thing is, the friend who told me about it, she wasn't being horrible or trying to stir anything. she literally just said it because she thought I should know, and then I could decide what to do with it. it wasn't malicious at all, it was more like, " look, this is what I 've heard, you do what you think is right. " I really struggled with it because I didn't want to ruin Christmas or New Year for her. it just felt like such a horrible thing to drop on someone right before all that, especially when she 'd been looking forward to it. so I sat on it for a bit, and I didn't actually tell her until about the middle of January. when I did finally tell her, I kind of expected more of a reaction, but all she really said was that she 'd have to talk to him about it. that was it. no big drama, no asking loads of questions, just " I 'll have to talk to him. " and then she didn't really say much else about it at that point.

Text Sample 454: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000150_gpt.txt

Sometimes when I 'm sat there in traffic having this really stressful internal monologue, I 'm like, if I had something really important to do, if my job really mattered, then I could sort of justify it. Like, if I had loads of responsibility, proper meetings to get to, people relying on me, then yeah, maybe the horrible commute would feel worth it. But instead I 'm just sat there thinking, realistically, it probably doesn't even really matter if I get to work that day or not, and that just makes the whole thing feel even more pointless.

Text Sample 455: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000128_gpt.txt
and it just got to this really horrible point where her low moods weren't just feeling down, they were like properly extreme. She started doing all this really destructive stuff, like actually hurting herself and then, about a year ago, she set up this blog that was just completely out of order. It wasn't like a private diary or anything, it was very much for attention, really public, and she was naming and shaming people she said were her friends. She 'd write these outrageous stories about them, putting everything out there with their names attached, and it was just really nasty. She even went as far as saying that her ex-boyfriend used to beat her. I can't say whether that 's true or not, I honestly don't know, so I 'm not going to say it didn't happen. But the way she put it all online, in that context with everything else, it just felt like part of this really destructive pattern she was in. The whole thing just showed how far gone she was with it, because it wasn't just being sad or a bit depressed, it was like she 'd flipped into this really extreme place where she was willing to do almost anything, even hurt herself and drag other people through the mud, just to get some kind of reaction or attention.

Text Sample 456: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000240_gpt.txt
Right now I know I want to outsource certain bits of the work, but I actually don't know how outsourcing really works in practice. I don't have that gut-level feel for it yet. So what I 'm thinking is to use our upcoming travel as a chance to sort that out. While we 're away, I want to line up meetings with, say, two or three people who 've already done a lot of outsourcing. I just want to sit down with them, talk it through properly, and very quickly build that intuitive understanding of how the whole thing works.

Text Sample 457: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000265_gpt.txt
Like, for me, it 's actually different now to how it was in the summer. In the summer I just couldn't do anything, I 'd put stuff off and it just felt impossible. But now, when work gets set, I can actually sit down and do it. Not all of it perfectly or anything, but I can get it done when it 's given to me, which I just couldn't before. But that only started changing when I properly decided I wanted to get better at it. You can't just sort of sit there and wait for it to magically feel different one day. You have to actually want to push yourself forward, even when you really don't feel like it, and that 's the horrible bit. It is really, really hard and it is exhausting, and I 'm not saying it isn't. But you can fight it. It 's not completely out of your control, even though it feels like that. I honestly do believe you can do it, even if you don't believe that right now. I really, genuinely believe in you.

Text Sample 458: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000218_gpt.txt
they 're literally on the phone all the time, like every night, and it goes on for ages. even when it 's really late and I 'm trying to sleep, I can hear him through the wall, just this constant monotone drone. his voice is so irritating, it just does my head in. and the worst bit is I 'm lying there thinking, are they talking dirty or something, and I really don't wanna know but I can't not hear it. it makes it a hundred times worse, just imagining what they 're saying. I honestly just wish he 'd shut up for five minutes. I don't get how they have that much to talk about, like every single night. what can you possibly be saying for that long?

Text Sample 459: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000343_gpt.txt

So my boss sent this email round saying that after talking to the controller, apparently this new process and system are working really well, everyone 's on board, all that. And I 'm just sitting there thinking, how? Because since they changed the roles we 've ended up doing loads of extra admin, picking up bits that used to be someone else 's job. It doesn't feel streamlined at all, it 's just more work. I honestly doubt she 's actually asked anyone if they 're happy with it, because I can't think of a single person who is. It just feels completely out of touch.

Text Sample 460: NEG Dim 6 - profiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - profiled_gpt/t000269_gpt.txt

I finally sat down earlier to wrap everything and it was like going shopping all over again, I 'd forgotten half the stuff I 'd bought. For my brother I 've made this silly little " hamper of joy " with random bits in it - a fart whistle, fun snaps, a Lego digger, a bouncy frog, bouncing balls, edible floss and some socks. And for my sister I secretly bought Busted reunion tour tickets for the two of us months ago. It 's getting so hard not to tell her now, especially when she keeps asking what she 's got and I 'm pretending I haven't bought it yet.

Text Sample 461: NEG Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -4.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001549_gpt.txt

In Korea and especially in China there are just phenomenal numbers of vacant high-rise properties. Wealthy Chinese, because they can't take large sums of money out of the country, end up investing in these new tower blocks, and they just stand there empty. When we were in Mokpo we only ever saw one homeless person, and somehow that felt even sadder, because he was just alone, there wasn't that kind of homeless community you sometimes see elsewhere. It really made me wonder why he couldn't just be given one of those many empty flats. There 's all this unused space, and then this one man just wandering around with nowhere to go. After a while we stopped seeing him around town, and I started to suspect he must have died that winter. It stuck with me, that contrast between all those empty apartments and this one person who clearly needed somewhere to live, and yet there was no way for him to get inside.

Text Sample 462: NEG Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001607_gpt.txt

yeah Matt Haig followed me on Twitter, which is the only reason I followed him back really, because I haven't actually read any of his books yet, but I really want to. I keep meaning to pick one up. He tweets quite a bit about dealing with depression and stuff, and lately he 's been talking a lot about all the abuse he gets on Twitter. some of it 's from people he actually knows, which is just awful. it 's one thing getting random trolls having a go, but when it 's people you know in real life, that must feel so much worse. he 'll tweet something quite normal and then suddenly there 's this pile-on in the replies, and you can tell it really gets to him sometimes. it just makes me think how horrible it must be for people who are properly in the public eye, where everything they tweet is scrutinised and picked apart. like, every single word you put out there is analysed and judged and people are just waiting to jump on you. I can't even imagine having to think that hard about every tweet, knowing it might blow up and get you loads of abuse. it must be exhausting and really, really grim.

Text Sample 463: NEG Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000043_gpt.txt
yeah like I knew it was in a really bad way, you could just tell something was wrong with the axle because every time I turned a corner it was making these horrible noises, like clearly not right at all. I was honestly expecting them to say it was worth basically nothing, so when he turned round and said they could give me nine hundred for it I was really pleased, like genuinely chuffed. and then after that he handed me over to this other guy who does all the final bits, you know, sorting the deal and taking the payment and everything.

Text Sample 464: NEG Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000128_gpt.txt
and it wasn't just that she was low, it got really extreme. She was doing really destructive things, including self-harming, and then about a year ago she started this blog that was just totally out there. It was all really attention-seeking, like she literally named and shamed people she said were her friends, and wrote these outrageous stories about them. She even wrote that her ex-boyfriend used to beat her. I can't say whether that 's true or not, so I 'm not going to say it didn't happen, but the way she did it, in public like that, was just horrible. The whole thing was for public consumption, you know, not like a private diary, but something she clearly wanted people to see and react to. And everyone who was actually around her at the time she said all this supposedly happened just turned round and said they 'd be devastated if it were true, but they honestly couldn't see how it could be. It was that kind of situation where her moods were so low and so intense that it pushed her into these really damaging behaviours, not just to herself but to everyone around her. It went way beyond being a bit down or disappointed with how life 's turned out - it was all at such an extreme level that nobody really knew what to do with it, other than just watch it unfold.

Text Sample 465: NEG Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001226_gpt.txt
I told him as clearly as I could that there was absolutely no hope of a relationship, but he just wouldn't take it on board. He kept saying I must be unhappy, pointing out that I 'm always out and doing plays, as if that somehow proved something. When I was ill, some anonymous flowers turned up, and at first I honestly thought they were from other people. Then later there were more flowers, and a Valentine 's card delivered to work with a Shakespeare sonnet in it about unwavering love. I just assumed that had to be from him, and I decided to ignore it. I didn't respond at all, because I didn't want to encourage him or give him any sense that there was still a chance.

Text Sample 466: NEG Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000373_gpt.txt

I did actually go to that Wednesday morning lecture every single week, but every week she 'd send this email out saying, " Oh, lecture hall was nearly empty, there were like ten people there, " and all this. And I 'm just sat there thinking, well, I was there every week, so clearly not everyone 's bunking it. But honestly, who thinks it 's a good idea to put a lecture at ten a.m. the morning after student night? Yeah, we 're there to learn, but people are still going to go out drinking.

Text Sample 467: NEG Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001017_gpt.txt

so then I get this ridiculously long message from him, right, and he 's going on about how he popped next door, and they 've got this totally legal herbal weed, and he thinks, oh yeah, why not, I 'll have a bit. And then he starts describing this absolutely horrible trip - says he suddenly can't stand up, can't talk, just stuck there while everyone 's basically watching him fall apart. Then, apparently, he somehow stumbles back home, throws up everywhere, has this massive freak-out, and then texts me saying how sorry he is and how angry he is with himself for doing it. And I 'm reading this thinking, well, where the hell was this text when it was actually happening? Like, you 're next door, you know I 'm ready, and instead of just sending a quick message or coming over, you sit there melting into the sofa with your neighbours. Then after all that, he 's acting like I 'm his girlfriend or his wife or something, like I 'm supposed to be sitting around waiting for him, making him dinner while he has his little adventure next door. It really annoys me, being treated like that, when he couldn't even be bothered to text me at the time.

Text Sample 468: NEG Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000769_gpt.txt

It was quite entertaining, honestly, they were mad. I remember this one picture so clearly : the entire outdoor area was just covered in these big square storage units, filling the whole back room. They went right up, must have been ten, twelve feet high, and they were for the kids to put all their clothes and belongings in. There were strict rules that children were not allowed to climb them at all. And yet at one point, they came back and there was this one child, completely on his own, right on top of the thing. No one had any idea how he 'd managed to get up there.

Text Sample 469: NEG Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -3.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t000392_gpt.txt

I just don't feel like I 've had enough time apart yet, because my judgment is still really clouded by guilt about how I affected you for those two weeks. That guilt is still hanging over everything, and it makes it hard for me to see things clearly. I really don't want you to take my reluctance to come back personally, because it isn't about not wanting to be with you. I actually love being around you. I just honestly believe that if I come back too soon, while I 'm still in this state, the outcome is going to be predictably bad.

Text Sample 470: NEG Dim 6 - unprofiled_gpt - Score -2.00 - unprofiled_gpt/t001555_gpt.txt

Well the theory test bit was just the usual stuff, like questions about road signs and speed limits and that kind of thing. But the hardest part was definitely the hazard perception section. You have to watch this video and then click within one second when a hazard appears. And you 're only actually marked on two hazards per clip, which I didn't realise at first. If you click too late you lose all the points for that hazard. I failed that section in every single practice I did, but somehow I managed to pass it in the actual test.

Text Sample 471: NEG Dim 6 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001376_human.txt

I was probably the only nutcase but the other folk I did see were locals and I did get a few kinda strange looks as if they say like what are you doing up here eh by yourself? eh even you 're not going to work we were just staying in for the day especially the fact that I had my camera bag and my tripod eh they could obviously see why I was there but I think it still the weather was that bad and a single track road where the gritters don't go I think they were kinda like you 'd better get yourself away soon

Text Sample 472: NEG Dim 6 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001317_human.txt

I 'm just saying in the teenage years if you become a bit too fat I suppose basically in your teenage years er then it that must be y that must be horrible for it 's do you know what I mean? it 's so horrib it 's so hard anyway and so self-conscious and especially for girls who wanna be pretty and everything but I think these are the years where it is important to be active even if you don't do it for the rest of your life because it 's apparently as well if you were quite active when you were young then even if you don't do so much in the the rest of your life it still makes you healthier than the usual like what 's this sign mean? What 's this speed limit? The the har the worst part is the hazard perception part which is you watch the video and then you have to click when you see a hazard and it only marks you on two and if you have to click within a second to get the full points so if you click a little bit too late you lose all those points and that 's quite difficult when I did all the practices for that I failed it every single time but somehow in the actual test I passed it

Text Sample 473: NEG Dim 6 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001555_human.txt

Text Sample 474: NEG Dim 6 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001604_human.txt

yeah yeah yeah but I mean it 's nothing and especially she definitely will read it just cos she 'll want to know if it 's about her honestly yeah I don't know it kind of annoyed me right so she when she had her argument with I went down and started chatting to we didn't mention her at all like nothing at all because I cos I knew there cos I know ' s in the house and I heard her come to the top of the stairs to listen to mine and ' s conversation so I made sure not to like mention her at all like not even mention what happened because I want I just wanted to see if was okay just cos it was an argument they 're both gonna be upset like I just wanted to see that but I was like I didn't even ask that because I knew she was like at I could hear her at the top of the stairs and so after we 'd finished like chatting to her I went back to my room and I got a messg I got a message off saying erm er what did say about me? and I was like you were at the top of the stairs man like don't pretend you weren't that 's why that 's why I just I said nothing you know it didn't didn't come up we didn't talk about it genuinely didn't talk about it and erm and then she was like oh no but I heard her say this and I was like she never said that she she 's like I heard her saying something about I don't even know what it was but it was something I was like she never never said that I was never never spoke about you never never mentioned you at all and I thought she dropped it and she 's like just tell me what she said and I was like

Text Sample 475: NEG Dim 6 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001549_human.txt

never a problem in Chi Korea and China is phenomenal how many vacant properties there are I mean they don't build properties like we do there 's a lot of high rise buildings but China especially they can't they 're not allowed to take large sums of money out of the country so rich people within China are investing in property so they 're just building new tower blocks everywhere and it 's crazy you go there 's just literally hundreds and hundreds and hundreds and hundreds of massive tower blocks with nobody in them there 's no one there and it really got to me in Mokpo because when I was living in Korea there 's so few homeless people really are compared to England there 's so few I mean the whole of Mokpo I only ever saw one and it was sadder for me because he 's alone he he didn't have a community of homeless people it was just him and I look around and see all these vacant flats and think why can't he just have one you know? why why is he I think he died that winter to tell you honestly cos I never saw him again after that but

Text Sample 476: NEG Dim 6 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t000133_human.txt

she 's due at the beginning of April so she 's due in two mo two months but she 's I mean you can tell she 's pregnant once you know but I mean like she doesn't wear it 's not like she she doesn't wear tight clothes or anything so it 's not as if she 's got a bump on show erm so people in the office are only kind of starting to trigger on that she 's leaving so like a few people have come up recently to say like congratulations like good luck and all that kind of stuff and one woman came up today I was having this really weird conversation like I couldn't really gauge her age she 's clearly thirties but not had kids yet and like she was talking about the baby and stuff and she was just like oh you know like I 'm convinced I 'll have a girl you know if I have a baby I 'm like that 's a really weird thing to say like I don't think you get much of a choice in it but then I was like oh I dunno I I think I I 'm convinced I 'd have like I I 'd end up having boys and like

Text Sample 477: NEG Dim 6 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t001368_human.txt

he said the only one that I 'm doing work for is PE he said and do you know why I 'm doing that? I said no he said because they 're like they did in the GCSE if you don't hit your target grades at every single thing you 're doing they send a letter home and make you stay to a booster session on a Friday night which is what they used to do for GCSE he said and I didn't want a letter home and I didn't want to have to stay so I said and and you 're hitting your target? yes he said I said so clearly you can do it you just need to put the time in well I can remember when I was a kid being taken round to the kid that had chicken pox or the measles or whoever so that you 'd catch it you know? But now it 's all about you know keeping them all in a little cotton wool cocoon and not exposing them to it and then you see guys when they get into their thirties you know twenties or thirties or forties getting something that when you 're that age it you know like chicken pox and things like measles especially it can do horrible stiff to you when you 're older

Text Sample 478: NEG Dim 6 - human - Score -2.00 - human/t000431_human.txt

Text Sample 479: NEG Dim 6 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t001212_human.txt

if you sleep with one ear on the pillow and one ear in it helps a lot a lot I would recommend getting some because they 're my godsend now and there 's numerous ti I used to be a really light sleeper and like I couldn't believe it I mean the amount of times there 's somebody just beeping or I 've had people in India knocking on my door it 's quite scary like at night people are trying to get in to your door like and I are lying in bed like please you know whoever this is please go away people like clearly turning the door handle 's turning and stuff and we 're like I don't wanna die right now this is please go away so I 've I 've I 've got good with that now I and pretty much it doesn't block all of the sound out but it really distances it it makes it sound like it 's quite far away

Text Sample 480: NEG Dim 6 - human - Score -1.00 - human/t001207_human.txt

it 's possible I 've gone off a few things though because of being sick I tell you one of the worst experiences I 've ever had was being sick on a camel safari in the desert in India and they camped us downwind from these terribly flatulent camels it was horrible I was so ill and like everything tasted bad my own gas was bad the all we had to eat was chapatti and a bit of dal and I just remember these camels kept farting and it was just horrible and we were sleeping out in the open as well you had like a scarab beetle like dung beetles like going around yourself